CHARGE RATE CUTTING

SIX INDICTMENTS RETURNED AGAINST STEAMSHIP COMPANY AND RAILROAD.

WERE BY FEDERAL GRAND JURY

Claim That They Have Been Making Lower Freight Rates Than Those Published in the Tariff Schedule.

San Francisco, Sept. 27.—It is reported today that six indictments were found yesterday by the federal grand jury against the Pacific Mail Steamship company and the Southern Pacific Railway company, and the names of Edward H. Harriman, John C. Stubbs and R. P. Schwerin it is understood are mentioned in the true bills.

The indictments, it is said, embrace 140 counts, and relate particularly to violations of the law on shipments from the Orient through the port of San Francisco to Chicago.

The particular instances in which the law is said to have been violated relate to shipments from Japan to Chicago. It is said that a special agent of the interstate commerce commission has been on the Pacific coast several months, and also in Japan, investigating these shipments, and it is asserted that the Pacific Mail Steamship company and the Southern Pacific Railway company have been making rates lower than the published tariffs.

NOT THE CITIZENS' BANK

That Refused to Pay Express Money Orders Yesterday.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat of this morning had the following dispatch from Sedalia:

"The Sedalia banks today turned down all express money orders presented for payment. The bankers declare the express companies neglected settlement with the banks and that often there were money orders on hand with no cash to take them up. The companies, the bankers say, had been warned of the intended refusal to cash the orders."

Mr. W. H. Powell, cashier of the Citizens' National bank, desires the Democrat-Sentinel to state that there is no truth whatever in the above dispatch, so far as his bank is concerned.

"The Citizens' bank cashed money orders as usual yesterday," said Mr. Powell, "and there was no concerted action upon the part of the banks of the city to refuse payment of such orders as were presented."

HACK DRIVERS MET

Thirty-Five of Them Will Organize Union in Sedalia.

Thirty five Sedalia hack drivers, cab drivers and truck drivers assembled at the city hall last night to organize a local cab drivers' union, under the direction of E. T. Benrens.

Every one present manifested much interest in the undertaking, and another meeting to organize will be held at the same place next Monday night.

It is estimated that there are two hundred men eligible to membership in this city.

ORGANIZER IS HERE

Carpenters Will Reorganize Their Union Tonight.

M. C. Hughes, of Kansas City, national organizer for the Carpenters' Union of America, is in the city, and tonight will reorganize and revive Local Union No. 1792, Carpenters and Joiners of America, at Tillberry's hall in East Sedalia.

Twenty-five carpenters are to be admitted to membership, leaving only six carpenters in the city who do not hold membership in the union.

A Special Church Notice.

On account of the baptismal services Sunday evening at the First Christian church the services will begin at 7:30. The pastor will preach a special discourse on this occasion.

Paid $3 for Wolf Scalp.

J. W. Neal, of this city, today presented to County Clerk Imhoff the scalp of a wolf, killed south of Lutman, Tuesday, for which he was paid $3.00.

A Banquet Sunday Night.

Sedalia council No. 831, Knights of Columbus, held a rousing meeting at the lodge hall last night and decided to hold the banquet Sunday evening in the Royal Tribe of Joseph building, instead of over the Sedalia Printing company's plant. Other matters of a routine nature were transacted.

Flood Disasters in Japan.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 27.—Advices of a terrible disaster due to the floods that are prevailing in Japan have been received here. In a town near Kyote more than six hundred lives have been lost, and the river is still rising.

"BILLY" ROACH TO FIGHT

LIKELY MEET JOHNNIE REGAN IN SEDALIA DURING FAIR WEEK.

OCTOBER 10 PROBABLY THE DATE

"Kid" Trennell Is Also Training for a Match With the Sedalia Boy, but It Will Take Place at a Later Date.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat of this morning had the following of local interest:

The Sedalia Athletic club is hot after a match for "Billy" Roach, a fast little fighter, who makes his residence in that city. Louis Baptiste, a brother of George Baptiste, the local wrestler, recently wrote to St. Louis, endeavoring to land a match between Roach and "Kid" Trennell, of this city.

Now comes a letter to "Brooklyn Tommy" Sullivan, boxing instructor of the Missouri athletic club, asking him what chance there might be for a match between Roach and Johnny Regan on October 10. Tommy has written back that Regan will meet Roach in Sedalia on that date at 120 pounds at 3 o'clock or 122 pounds at 6 o'clock. It is expected that the arrangements for the match will be closed within a few days.

Regan and Roach fought a draw last fall, and the bout between them is expected to be a fast one. "Kid" Trennell is trying to get on with Roach, and these two may get together after the Roach-Regan bout.

HE GOT OFF PRETTY EASY

Fined $50 and Sentenced to Three Months in Jail.

Clarence Taylor, the Windsor negro who attempted an outrage upon Miss Ruby, the 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rideout, was tried in the circuit court at Clinton last Thursday and fined $50 and sentenced to three months in jail, says the Windsor Review.

The attempted outrage occurred in Windsor on July 11th. Ruby Rideout had gone over to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Bell to take some milk, and as the hour was early Mrs. Bell had not arisen.

The negro, who was working for Mr. Bell, tried to push the child into a closet in order to accomplish his hellish design, but her cries and some one coming down the stairs of the Bell residence frightened him away.

It is said that after the trial the negro remarked that he was going home—meaning to jail—and seemed to look upon the fine and his incarceration as a sort of a joke.

THE "W. R. C." MEETING

Arranging for a Convention Here on October 24.

The Women's Relief Corps met at the Royal Tribe of Joseph building yesterday afternoon and made preliminary arrangements to entertain the delegates who will be here on October 24 to attend the convention on the Third district of the Women's Relief Corps.

Mrs. Frank Long, Mrs. M. V. Sweet and Mrs. Catherine Moss were appointed a committee on entertainment.

About twenty delegates are expected here, and the meeting will be held in the Royal Tribe of Joseph building.

Mrs. M Allen, district president of the organization, has the arrangement of the program in hand.

WORK OF SAVING FALLEN

THE REV. MR. J. B. BOLLMAN TELLS SOMETHING IN REGARD TO HIS LABORS.

INMATES IN THE STATE PRISON

There Are 2,100 Men, of Whom 600 Are Under 21 Years—Five Hundred Boys in the Boonville Training School.

Rev. Mr. J. B. Bollman, the prison worker, handed the Democrat-Sentinel the following interesting items in regard to his work today:

There are 2,100 men and 70 women in the Jefferson City prison. About 600 of the men are under 21 years of age.

There are 500 boys at the training school at Boonville. More than 400 of the boys are from bad homes.

Before the Society for the Friendless was organized in Missouri a worthy ex-convict was refused employment nineteen times. Then he said to a business man in Hannibal:

"My money is gone, I have no friends, I don't wan't to steal and I don't want to starve, but I will tell you frankly that I learned my trade in the penitentiary."

The business man replied: "It don't matter where you learned your trade you can go to work in the morning."

The friendless and discouraged man has become a strong and useful member of society.

The Society for the Friendless comes to the rescue of disheartened men and gives them a fair chance to help themselves and to become safe and respectable citizens.

GOT TEN DAYS IN JAIL

W. E. Holland, a Section Laborer, Did for Theft.

W. E. Holland, a section laborer, was arrested by Officer Baley yesterday, charged with stealing $15 worth of property from Prof. Norris, of the Sedalia High school. A ten days sentence in jail was imposed on him by Judge Gresham in police court today.

Holland is the man whose 9 year-old son, James, was taken before Prosecuting Attorney Dow recently, and who exhibited cruel lashes made on his back by his irate parent.

According to the boy, his father whipped and slapped him for every trivial thing, and, in preference to enduring such treatment, he left home.

Later, the father visited Chief of Police Boulit and requested that the child be sent to the reform school. Objection was made by the officers, and Holland then threatened to return the child to his old home at Osceola, where he said the prosecuting attorney would send him to the reform school.

WED TWENTY-ONE YEARS

Dr. and Mrs. Edmund Nasse Are Celebrating the Event Today.

Dr. Edmund Nasse and wife are today celebrating the twenty-first anniversary of their marriage, which was celebrated at Chicago.

The ceremony was solemnized by Justice of the Peace Murphy in the old "Tremont House" at Chicago, then the most fashionable hotel in the Windy City.

Dr. Nasse is 49 years old, while his wife is eight years his junior. Dr. and Mrs. Nasse have three sons and two daughters, and the family have been esteemed residents of this city for nine years.

HIT BY TRAIN ON TRESTLE

An Unknown Man Killed and a Woman Severely Injured.

Aurora, Mo., Sept. 27.—An unknown man and woman, with two children, were walking on a high trestle between Myrtle and Bergman on the White river division of the Missouri Pacific railroad near the Arkansas line Wednesday when they were struck by an engine and the man was killed.

The woman was severely injured. But the children escaped unhurt. There was nothing to identify the persons and the woman is unable to give any information.

Big Fire in China.

Hong Kong, Sept. 27.—Hundreds of houses and many boats and pontoons were destroyed today by fire at Wuchow, and it feared that the loss of life is heavy. The conflagration is said to have been due to incendiarism, as the inhabitants of the city are opposed to the extra taxation recently placed on them.

Be No School Fair Week.

While no official action has been taken in the matter, it is assured that the public schools will be dismissed the week of the state fair, October 7 to 11, inclusive, and the parochial schools will close for the week.

THE ILLINOIS STATE FAIR

IT OPENED THIS MORNING UNDER TRULY AUSPICIOUS CIRCUMSTANCES.

WILL NOT CLOSE UNTIL OCTOBER 5

That Is the Date of the Opening of the Missouri State Fair, and Most of the Stock Will Be Sent Here for Exhibit.

The Illinois state fair opened this morning at Springfield, and a dispatch of last night says:

Tonight preparations for the opening are nearly complete. The exhibits are more numerous than ever, there is not an inch of space left in the buildings, and upon the grounds where the exhibits are shown.

The race entries are overwhelming in number, the purses larger than ever, and fast events are assured. Approximately $75,000 will be awarded in prizes and premiums.

In the cattle, sheep and hog department there is a great rush of exhibits. The wheat exhibit is a wonderful one. Especial pride is taken in the corn exhibit, as Illinois is the buckle on the "Corn Belt."

The fair closes October 5. Secretary W. C. Garrard, who has in recent years been most prominent in the fair management, was yesterday forced to temporarily abandon this position owing to ill health. He has taken a thirty days' vacation. President Martin Madden, of the state board of agriculture, has appointed E. E. McCoy temporary secretary.

Springfield is to make it interesting at night for the thousands of visitors with a big street carnival all next week.

PATRICK CURRAN DEAD

Popular Sedalian Passed Away in Kansas City Today.

Patrick Curran, of Sixth street and Missouri avenue, employed as a caterer at Eddie McGurren's for several years past, who had been at St. Joseph's hospital for several months being treated for tuberculosis of the throat, died there at noon today, as was learned by a telephone message from Mrs. Curran to Mr. Michael McGinley this afternoon.

Mrs. Curran was a native of Ireland, but came to America when a young man, and for a time was engaged in peddling. He was married to Miss Mary Hegerty, a sister of Mr. John Hegerty, but no children were born of the union.

Mr. Curran had been ailing for more than two years past, and underwent two or more operations at the hands of skilled surgeons, but with only temporary relief.

At a last resort he returned to St. Joseph's hospital as a patient of Dr. Griffith, but the disease baffled even so skilled a surgeon, and the end came as stated.

Mr. Curran was 44 years old and was one of the most popular caterers that ever lived in Sedalia. He belonged to Sacred Heart branch No. 157, Catholic Knights and Ladies of America, the Hibernians and was a member of the local Barkeepers' union.

The remains will be brought to Sedalia, and it is expected the Rev. Fr. Neiberg will conduct funeral services at Sacred Heart church Sunday.

Another One Is Sick.

New York, Sept. 27.—Henry M. Flager, vice president of the Standard Oil company, is seriously ill in Bretenwoods, N. H. He is suffering from a general nervous breakdown.

MR. MOWBRAY'S NEW JOB

TO MANAGE THE STEAM HEATING PLANT AT SPRINGFIELD, MISSOURI.

WAS CAUGHT IN RAILWAY WRECK

In a Letter to His Wife, Received by Her Today, He Stated That He Escaped Without a Single Scratch.

Col. Robert Mowbray, formerly manager of the Economy Steam Heating company of this city, has gone to Springfield, Mo., where he will manage the steam heating department of the Springfield Gas and Electric company.

En route to Springfield, Col. Mowbray was in a wreck on the 'Frisco railway, but in a letter to his wife, received today, he stated that he escaped injury. Regarding Col. Mowbray the Springfield Republican of yesterday had the following:

Col. Robert Mowbray, of Sedalia, Mo., arrived in the city on the belated 'Frisco high line train at noon yesterday, and will likely remain for several months in the interest of the steam heating plant of the Springfield Gas and Electric Co. He is stopping at the Metropolitan hotel.

Col. Mowbray was for several years superintendent of the Economy Steam Heating plant at Sedalia, and is one of the best known experts in the country, having been connected with the American District Steam Heating company at different intervals for thirty-three years.

The steam heating plant was installed in Springfield last year, and has proved very successful, but the officials of the company are desirous of obtaining more consumers.

Col. Mowbray has carried on considerable correspondence with General Manager W. A. Bixby in regard to the plant, but sickness has prevented him from coming here sooner.

The services of Col. Mowbray have been obtained with a view of arousing interest in the advantages of steam heating. The plant here was installed by the American District company, and Col. Mowbray comes through their recommendations.

Col. Mowbray was unable to see Mr. Bixby yesterday, but will have a conference with him today in regard to the local system.

STAGE WAS TOO SMALL

For All of "Miss Pocahontas" Ballet Girls at Clinton.

Several of the girls—all good lookers—in the ballet of "Miss Pocahontas," to be seen at the Sedalia theatre tonight, arrived here last evening from Clinton, as the stage of the new opera house there was not sufficiently large to accommodate the entire company.

Manager Olendorf, of the local play house, authorizes the Democrat-Sentinel to state that "Miss Pocahontas" is one of the very best productions that will be seen in Sedalia during the season of 1907-08, and those who favor the management with their patronage will never have occasion to regret it.

The advance sale has been good, but there are still a number of desirable seats to be had, and those who desire to witness a first-class production, in the hands of a thoroughly competent company, should reserve their seats before the supper hour.

A Runaway Mishap.

A horse hitched to a surrey in which were a lady and two children took fright at an M., K. & T freight train at the Sixteenth street crossing just before the supper hour last evening and ran away.

The vehicle was overturned and the occupants whose names were not known by the Democrat-Sentinel's informant, were thrown out, but were not seriously injured.

The surrey was not badly damaged, and the horse was caught before it was hurt.

Retail Merchants, Notice.

The Retail Merchants' association will give a smoker Friday night, September 27, at the Business Men's club rooms, 404 South Ohio street, beginning at 8 o'clock. All retail dealers of the city are cordially invited to be present.

Commission Arrived at St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 27.—The inland waterways commission arrived from Duluth this morning. At the breakfast, which was served speeches were made by J. J. Hill and Archbishop Ireland. Among others present were Tams Bixby. Afterwards the members took a sail on the river.

Will Knight's Baby Girl.

W. A. Knight, a popular former Sedalia printer, but now employed in the "ad" room of the Kansas City Journal, and his good wife, are rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter at their home at the mouth of the Kaw.

FOUND A LEAKING "LID"

EVIDENCE CALLED FOR BY KANSAS CITY POLICE COMMISSIONERS.

EVENING POST WILL FURNISH IT

The Testimony Collected by Post Reporters Strikes at Efficiency of the Entire Police Department.

The police board took the first steps yesterday toward carrying out an investigation of the Post's exposure of illegal sales of intoxicants in Kansas City, says Thursday's Kansas City Post. The evidence that the Post secured was asked for and next Tuesday afternoon set as the time for hearing it. All that the Post has promised will be produced at that time.

Chief of Police Ahern was called before the board and Commissioner Gallagher said to him: "Chief, the law is strict that no intoxicants shall be sold in saloons on Sunday and that none shall be sold at any time in places having no city license. There was an article in the Post last Monday telling of violations of this law in at least a dozen places. Did you see it?"

"Yes, I read it," said the chief, as he shifted from one foot to the other. "I have ordered an investigation, but as yet I have not received a report."

"This charge must be investigated," said Mr. Gallagher.

"I agree with you," said the mayor, who had intended to bring the matter up if Mr. Gallagher had not done so. "Besides these sales in places where no intoxicants should be sold at any time, there were two other statements in the Post's article that demanded investigation. One is that a police officer was seen in a house of ill-fame and the other is that beer was bought at a saloon on Sunday. I want inquiry made into these matters also."

The board asked a Post representative for the name of the officer mentioned and the saloon where men from the Post bought beer last Sunday. The information was given. The police officer is James Hoover and the saloon mentioned is located at 1949 Grand avenue.

On the information furnished, the mayor will prepare charges against the police officer and the saloon keeper and they will be cited to appear and explain next Tuesday.

SAYS HE ISN'T A CANDIDATE

Secretary Root's St. Louis Interviews Were Brief.

St. Louis, Sept. 27.—Secretary of State Root, accompanied by his wife, daughter and private secretary, passed through St. Louis last night on the way to Mexico City. The party arrived over the Pennsylvania railroad at 7:30 o'clock, and departed over the Iron Mountain at 8:20.

Congressmen Bartholdt, Coudrey and Caufield met the secretary at the station. Aside from declaring he is not a candidate for the presidency, Secretary Root was reticent on affairs of the day.

Accident at Gas Plant.

Owing to an accident at the plant, the gas service in Sedalia last night was miserable, as it is also again today.

In consequence, the Democrat-Sentinel's usual quota of reading matter is cut short, the supply of gas not being sufficient to operate the three linotypes used in the office.

Supt. Hamner expects the break to be repaired before night, and the service materially improved.

THE JOPLIN WRECK CASE

A CLEW TO THE VANDAL WHO DAMAGED NEWS-HERALD NEWPAPER OFFICE.

A WATCH CHARM FOUND AT SCENE

Believed That Ex-Convict Who Once Figured in Jasper County Politics May Know Something of the Vandalism.

St. Louis, Sept. 27.—John Keeley, ex-assistant chief of detectives, returned to St. Louis yesterday from Joplin, where he had been called to assist in finding the persons who wrecked the Joplin News-Herald office with dynamite the night of Sept. 13.

Keely says he has a clew to the person who fired the explosive. He found a silver watch charm at the bottom of an elevator shaft through which the fuse was laid.

The suspected man is an ex-convict, who was identified with Jasper county politics, Keely says.

Keely would not say that arrests would follow soon. He is being assisted in the work by the ex-chief of detectives, Mr. Desmond.

A total reward of $3,000 has been offered by the citizens of Joplin for the arrest and conviction of the persons responsible for the wrecking of the newspaper plant.

Fourteen sticks of dynamite were used and the damage to the press and linotypes was about $15,000.

A GOOD CHURCH MEETING

That in Progress at the First Congregational Edifice.

Thirty-five delegates are here to attend the annual meeting of the Kansas City Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers, being held at the First Congregational church.

The principal topic of this morning's session was an address on "Team Work in Missions," by Supt. A. K. Wray, of Carthage. A detailed and complete report from the different churches was also interesting.

This afternoon, Henry L. McCune, superior judge of the juvenile court of Kansas City, delivered a very interesting and instructive talk on "Parental Responsibility."

"How Can We Make the Prayer Meeting an Effective Agency in the Life of the Church" was another interesting number, the address being delivered by J. H. Wheeler, of Kansas City.

The Woman's Hour was in charge of Mrs. I. P. O'Brien, of Kansas City, while during the forenoon, "Pragnatism and the Sunday School" was delivered by Mr. O'Brien.

The convention will close tonight with an interesting lecture by Mrs. Ida Vose Woodbury, one of the best known speakers in the state.

TEXAS FEVER REPORTED

Many Cattle Said to Be Dying of the Disease in Cheyenne County.

Topeka, Sept. 27.—John B. Baker, live stock sanitary commissioner, received a telegram yesterday from the sheriff of Cheyenne county, in the extreme northwestern corner of the state, saying that cattle were dying in that county from some contagious disease which the stockmen believed was Texas fever.

From the reports thus far received it appears that many cattle have succumbed to the disease. The sheriff was ordered to quarantine all cattle believed to be infected and an inspector was sent to the county to make an investigation.

INDICT RAILROAD MEN

Engineer, Conductor and Two Dispatchers Charged With Murder.

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 27.—The grand jury here today returned indictments for manslaughter against the engineer, conductor and two train dispatchers, of the Durham division of the Southern railway, for the deaths of three men killed in the head-on collision near Auburn September 1.

Mr. Honkomp Some Better.

Clemens Honkomp, who has been bedfast for some time with typhoid fever, is slightly improved today, although he was very low yesterday.

CORRUPTION FUNDS AND BENEFITS.

The republican national campaign fund expended by Chairman Cortelyou for the Roosevelt election is reputed to have been a little more than $4,000,000. Where and how did they get it? The official evidence in the life insurance investigation showed that part of it came from the trust funds of policy holders that should have been sacred to widows and orphans; that Harriman, whom the president now charges as being an undesirable citizen, gave $50,000; that the discredited Depew gave $25,000, and his friends in Wall street about $100,000 more. That Mr. Rogers of the Standard Oil trust, and Mr. Stillman, president of the National City—the Rockefeller—bank and a number of other trust and corporation magnates, were also subscribers is charged and not disproven, and where the other millions came from is not certainly known, but large amounts were undoubtedly paid by the protected trusts, which have always been liberal producers of corruption funds to keep their friends in office.

That is the chief reason the tariff has not been revised. The other contributors have had their quid pro quo, for no one seriously believes the Standard Oil trust will ever pay the fine assessed against it. We know that Harriman will get immunity, we know that Depew was elected senator by the administration. We know that the Standard Oil banks have large government deposits without interest, and when the names of the other subscribers are divulged there will probably be no difficulty in tracing favors received. Does not this evidence of the trusts and corporations having paid these large sums to the Roosevelt campaign fund plainly show that the charge made by Judge Parker just before the election of 1904 was true, although President Roosevelt denied it?

Yet the restitution of the widows' and orphans' fund has not been made by the republican national committee, and President Roosevelt has never made the amende honorable to Judge Parker, or even a poor excuse which would be better than none. It is quite probable that the same dastardly tactics will be resorted to in coming elections, and this evidence of corruption and dishonor is produced to prevent voters from being again deceived in the same or in some similar manner. When you see or hear of large amounts of money being expended at some future election, just ask yourself the question, Where and how did they get it?

ROOT'S TRIP TO MEXICO.

The visit of Secretary Root to Mexico will be an important event in pan-American diplomacy. While ostensibly the trip of the secretary of state is purely social in its purposes, and while outwardly it takes only this form, there are political considerations of a real and far-reaching character which will enter into the meeting of the American statesman and President Diaz and his councillors. The relations of Mexico and the United States are highly friendly in character. As Mexico has progressed and developed under the prosperous government of its distinguished executive, it has cast off much of the exclusiveness of Latin-American republics farter south and has attained a dignified and influential position on the American continent.

At the same time interest of our citizens in the affairs and resources of Mexico have increased at a tremendous rate. Today millions upon millions of American capital is invested in Mexican properties and is doing presumably more than any other one factor in promoting the industrial growth and commercial importance of the republic.

Happily, this commingling of American interests with those of Mexico has been attended with mutual understanding and good will. Americans have confidence in the stability and liberality of the Mexican government the same as it has in their integrity and honesty. The result has been to give a wonderful impetus to the commercial intercourse and to strengthen their political relations to the pleasing satisfaction of both.

It is therefore meet that our secretary of state should by a visit to that country emphasize the importance and extent of these friendly relations. There are in addition, however, matters of vital concern to both, dealing with conditions in Central America, which may profitably be discussed. It is necessary for the proper development of this portion of the continent, in which American capital is playing so conspicuous a part, that permanent peave be established within and among the several republics into which it is divided. Both Meixico and the United States have manifested a strong interest in putting to an end for good the disastrous, and yet petty, wars which disturb Central America, retard its progress and are inimical to extensive interests of foreigners.

Several of these conflicts have been stopped by the joint intervention of President Diaz and of our own government, and each, it is known, has under consideration ways and means for bringing about durable peace there and establishing stable government. It will thus be seen that the trip of Secretary Root to Mexico is one of much political importance and likely to lead to results of general benefit to the continent.

A Missouri man has made a somewhat disconcerting discovery in connection with the new 2-cent rate law in this state. He finds that his kinfolks visit him twice as often as they did before it went into effect.

Inquiry has disclosed the fact that good roads in Massachusetts cost less than in New York. But that is simply a difference in the grafting possibilities of the office holders of the two states.

Mr. William Dean Howells thinks it is a crime to take money for poetry. A number of poets think the publishers consider it a crime to even offer it.

Some of the Standard Oil books badly needed by the government in its suit have strangely disappeared. Can not Ida Tarbell throw light on the mystery?

Secretary Root will have a triumphant trip to Mexico, but Taft has got him beaten a good many miles on this kind of advertising.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Brights or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell Injuries to Students at the University of Ohio Caused the Order.

Columbus, O., Sept. 27.—President Thompson, of the Ohio University, has issued a formal notice to the students that hereafter all cane rushes at the university are abolished.

The reason given is that they are contrary to the hazing laws. The real reason is, however, that J. W. Snyder, a freshman from Uniontown, Pa., was so severely injured in the last cane rush that his recovery was despaired of for a time.

CAUSE OF G. IN THE CHURN.

An Explanation of This Peculiar Phenomenon in Handling Cream.

Frequently in churning gas will accumulate after several rounds and create a pressure inside sufficiently great to produce a popping report at the buttermilk outlet when the cork is removed. This delights the children and calls for an explanation such as is requested in the following:

"What causes the compressure of air in a churn? I have often noticed that after several turns of a barrel churn one would find the cream oozing out at the sides of the cover. In taking out the cork at the bottom the gas would escape with force."

The compressure of air is due to the formation of gas produced by certain bacteria. These organisms exist in the cream when it is being soured for churning. The gas is a by-product, simply speaking, and as it forms by fermentation or other processes induced by the germs, it is held in the body of the cream, being unable to rise and escape on account of the density of the same.

The maximum amount of gas is naturally contained in the cream just at churning time. A little is liberated in stirring and pouring. Cream that has been agitated with a paddle during the ripening process will often show bubbles on the surface. This is the same gas as is collected in the churn. The greater the viscosity of the cream the larger will be the bubbles before they break, says Coleman's Rural World. The presence of this phenomenon indicates that more cleanliness could be practiced. The objection to the gas is that it is liable to impart more or less of a strong or undesirable flavor in cream of first-class purity.

Buy a Good Separator.

When a separator is to be purchased, see that it is a good one. There are many cheap and worthless machines on the market that will simply disgust the buyers when they come to use them. The separators advertised in the Farmers' Review are not of this class, but are of the class that will give satisfaction for many years to come. The buyer of a separator should remember that when a separator is offered him at a price far below what the regular companies can make them for, something must be the matter with it. The matter is generally that the cheap machine is manufactured at a very low cost out of poor material and lacks exactness in adjustment. Without that exactness a separator is of no value.

Did You Ever.

Did you ever stop to figure out how much you lose by not knowing exactly what your cows are doing from day to day? Do you ever sit down and study hard as to why your herd gave 300 pounds of milk one night and morning and only 273 pounds the second night and morning following? Did you ever add a fresh cow to your herd and find at the end of a week that you were getting only as much milk as you were before the fresh cow was added, though you had fully counted upon maintaining the original flow and being better off by just one cow's milk? How often were you successful in getting the herd back to its former flow under these circumstances?

$10,000 FOR A RESCUE

ENGINEER WHO SAVED A YOUNG GIRL FROM DROWNING IN WISCONSIN.

GET ANOTHER CHECK FOR LIKE SUM

John Franklyn, a Northwestern Runner, Made Quite a Neat Little Pick-Up While Sojourning at Devil's Lake, Wis.

Kendall, Wis., Sept. 27.—John Franklyn, a Northwestern engineer running between here and Sparta, has received a check for $10,000 with a promise of another for saving the life of a woman at Devil's Lake a few weeks ago.

Franklyn, with his wife, was spending a few days at the lake. At the time William Peterson, a wealthy Chicago man, with his wife, daughter and Miss Jenkins, a sister-in-law, was also encamped at the lake.

One morning, while out in a boat, the girl and Miss Jenkins rowed over to a spring to get a drink. As Miss Jenkins attempted to get back into the boat she slipped, falling into the water.

The impact drove the craft from shore, and although she managed to seize hold of the boat, she could not draw herself from the water. For an hour she held grimly to the boat, while her niece cried for help. To loosen her grip meant death, for the water was more than fifty feet deep at that place.

Franklyn discovered the plight of the woman and rescued her from her perilous position just as her strength was about failing her.

Miss Jenkins was one of the few who escaped from the Iroquois theater holocaust in Chicago, and says she fears she is to die a violent death.

Although one of the oars had been lost, one remained in the boat, and had either woman or child retained presence of mind the boat could have been paddled to shore.

Good Price for Legs and Arms.

A peculiar case in the history of claims against New England railroads was that of a man who recovered heavy damages for the loss of a leg, he having been caught at a crossing during the approach of a fast express. He established a heavy claim against the company, but his unfortunate experience did not prove a lasting lesson in taking care of himself, for shortly after getting about he was so unfortunate as to be again struck at the same crossing, and this time he found himself minus an arm. He brought a second suit against the company, and while not securing the sum asked for, obtained a substantial part of it. Two years later he for the third time found himself under the wheels of a locomotive, with the remaining leg so badly damaged as to necessitate its amputation.

All of these accidents happened on the same road, and in each instance the company was mulcted in heavy damages. The man eventually found himself in affluent circumstances, and notwithstanding his abbreviated anatomy managed to get a considerable amount of sunshine into his life.

SALTING BUTTER.

Even Distrubution of Moisture Essential to the Process.

The following thoughts were suggested to the writer by reading a report from the Iowa station:

No established rule for salting butter properly can be given. The butter maker will have to be governed entirely by local conditions.

The amount of salt to be incorporated in the butter depends directly on the amount of moisture the butter contains. Butter fat is not a salt dissolving substance. This can be done only by the moisture in the butter. The first thing, then, to get a uniform amount of dissolved salt in butter is to get a uniform amount of moisture.

The water should be evenly distributed through the mass of butter. If it is present in pockets or crevices in the butter when the salt is added, much salt will be lost in the form of brine, besides those particles of butter near the pockets will contain more salt than those farther away.

Best results are obtained by allowing the butter to drain well after washing and then apply the salt. In no case should salt be added till the butter has assumed a gathered condition.

When the butter is medium soft after being worked, it has been found that from three-fourths to an ounce of salt for each pound of butter is not far from the correct amount.

BAN ON INDIANA "FRATS"

PARENTS OF HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS TOLD LAW MUST BE OBEYED.

THE STATE TOOK HAND IN MATTER

Students Who Refuse to Obey the Law Are Notified That They Will Be Expelled From the High School.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 27.—Superintendent Kendall, of the Indianapolis public schools, having indicated to the board of school commissioners his opposition to high school fraternities, the board has sent out letters toall parents of high school pupils notifying them that the law against secret societies will have to be observed.

Principal Benton, of the High school, and Superintendent Kendall both are opposed to high school fraternities, and were instrumental in getting a law through the last legislature making it unlawful for high schools to organize them.

Pupils who refuse to obey the law will be expelled.

THE HAIR BRUSH.

Breeds Dandruff, Which Causes Falling Hair and Finally Baldness.

Prof. Unna, Hamburg, Germany, European authority on skin diseases, says that dandruff is as contagious as any other malevolent disease, and that one common source of the spread of dandruff is the use of the same hair brush by different persons. The way to avoid catching dandruff or any other disease from another's brush, it to insist on the use of Newbro's Herpicide. It not only kills the dandruff germ, but it is also an antiseptic that will prevent the catching of any disease whatever through contagion of another's brush. Sold by leading druggists. IT WAS THE BEST HE COULD DO.

Hotel Man Made Up in Charges for Poor Accommodations.

The colonel had put up for the night at a wretched hotel in a village in the southwest, and when ready to leave in the morning he was handed a bill of three dollars. He was no kicker, but that thing seemed so much like robbery that he said: "Landlord, the meals I have eaten have been poor—very poor." "I don't dispute it," was the reply. "And the room was simply a rat hole." "Mighty pore room, sah." "And yet you have charged me just the same as if I had stopped at a first-class hotel." "Yes, I had to do it." "And will you kindly explain?" persisted the colonel. "Well, it's like this, sah. I traded a sawmill for this tavern a month ago. I don't know nothing about the business and everybody says I'll fail and I know I will, but meantime I'm going to do the best I can. I can't better the rooms nor the fodder, but I can charge at the rate of three dollars a day and make every traveler think he's been putting in time at Waldorf-Astoria. Three dollars, please. No mistake about your bill, sah."

DEER ON A CITY STREET

DULUTH RESIDENTS CAPTURE ANIMAL THAT WALKED INTO TOWN.

THE CHASE WAS TRULY LIVELY ONE

Finally Captured By Two Men, Who Lassooed the Animal and Tied it to the Rear of Wagon, Taking it Into the City.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 27.—Exhausted by a run through unfamiliar city streets and probably injured in its endeavors to escape pursuing dogs and men, a deer lay on the floor of the West Duluth police station all night, and died this morning.

The animal appeared first at the head of Fifty-ninth aveune, walking leisurely down the hill and inspecting the surroundings. The bark of a dog started it into mad flight.

With the speed known to those who have seen frightened deer, the animal fled along Fifty-ninth avenue, evading all who would stop it. At Ramsey street, it turned and followed that thoroughfare to Keene's creek, entering the water.

Two employes of the Alger-Smith mill, Arthur Grantley and Mike Roman secured a rope and succeeded in lassoing the animal. They tied the end of the rope to a wagon and, in triumph led the exhausted and frightened deer through the street, followed by a mob of children. At the police station they turned the animal over to Lieutenant Briggs.

It was first thought the deer was not seriously injured and efforts were made to reach Deputy Game Warden John Mattson, without success.

It was seen in the morning however, that the animal could not recover. It lay in the cell room, refusing to rise, and about 10 o'clock died, evidently from internal injuries sustained in its mad flight.

Railroad Ties Preserved 75 Years.

While borough laborers were excavating recently they dug up some old railroad between Pottsville and some of the coal mines, which was in use 75 years ago. This railroad was in operation before there was a through railroad line between Pottsville and Philadelphia. The coal was hauled to Pottsville on cars by mules and horses and at this point loaded on the canal.

To the great surprise of those who dug up the old railroad the wooden ties, although underground for three-quarters of a century, were in a perfect state of preservation. The conditions under which they were so remarkably preserved will be studied by railroad authorities with the hope of getting some points that will be of practical use.—Pottsville Cor. Philadelphia Record.

AMUSEMENTS

The Kansas City Journal had the following regarding "Miss Pocahontas," which appears at the New Sedalia theatre tonight:

Something in musical comedy that is actually new—that is the feat, long despaired of as being impossible, which the authors of "Miss Pocahontas," with which the Willis Wood opened its season last night, have accomplished. Every land under the sun has been explored for material for fun making and when the geography had been beggared, the musical comedy Alexanders, instead of seeking for new lands to conquer, simply invented them. But the people who are responsible for "Miss Pocahontas" have found right here in America, in a merry burlesque on the school book story of Pocahontas and John Smith, ample provocation for as clever and picturesque, as snappy and bright, as tuneful and altogether entertaining a musical travesty as past seasons have provided or future seasons give promise of furnishing.

WALTER JONES,
Tramp Specialty, in "Miss Pocahontas."

The piece is a constant succession of surprising novelties, of acts and stunts and ensembles and songs and dances that are like appetizers, pleasing the eye wearied with garish spectacles, pleasing the ear dulled with many ditties and making the jaded and blase devotee of musical comedy sit up and take notice. From the rise to the fall of the curtain there is not a dull moment, though the adaptation of the "Dream City" idea in the last half of the second act may be questioned as to its effectiveness, even though it affords an opportunity to burlesque the idea with which the piece starts out.

The picturesque opportunities of an Indian setting have been seized upon by the authors and afford some delightful spectacles. The various Indian ballets, from the rise of the curtain on the Indian chorus in the forest, are charmingly piquant, and each succeeding picture seems to excel the one that has gone before. There is a bewildering wealth of colors to please the eye at all times. The chorus is pretty and effective through out, and the principals are headliners in ability. Walter Jones, who gives a clever burlesque on the swashbuckling Captain John Smith, bears the brunt of the fun making, but he is ably assisted by Mr. George Le Soir, as Powhatan; Mr. Neil McNeil, as Mighty Medicine Man, and Miss Marie Dupuis, as Pocahontas; Miss Blanche Deyo, as sister of John Rolfe, and Miss Anna McNabb, as an Indian soubrette of musical comedy. Miss Deyo is suffering from a sore throat, but despite this drawback she made much of her songs. Miss Dupuis is not so well known, but she gives a notable performance, and Miss McNabb is particularly good. Mr. Jones, of course, is known as one of the best musical comedians on the stage, and his original tramp specialty is the usual scream.

The piece is full of clever novelties, of which the "Every Little Bit" song is one of the features. But the Chauffeur quartette, composed of Mr. Jones, Mr. LeSoir, Mr. McNeil and Miss McNabb, was the big hit of the piece. The papoose act was another hit, and the audience was hardly able to get enough of any of them.

"Miss Pocahontas" is not historical, but it bids fair to be one of the historical musical comedies, and though it is only seven weeeks old, it bids fair to live to be old enough to vote. There was a good audience, which enjoyed to the utmost the wholesome humor, bright lines, clean fun and captivating stage pictures of the piece, which will be the bill for the week.

KNOWS HOW TO COOK

But Mrs. Roper's New York Restaurant Failed to Pay.

New York, Sept. 27.—A petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday against Mrs. Sarah Tyson Roper, the authority on cooking and domestic science, who established two years ago an elaborate restaurant in the building extending through from 42 Broadway to 55 New street.

It is said that because she does not live in New York she has been unable to give the restaurant personal attention, its failure being a consequence.

The petition was filed by Maurice P. Davidson, attorney for some of her creditors. A meeting was held on August 22, at which the liabilities were estimated at $26,000, none of which, it was then declared, Mrs. Roper was able to pay. The claims are for supplies of the restaurant A received was named.

ANSWER WAS A STYNGER.

Cruel Rejoinder to Question of Impassioned Woman.

A Detroit woman said of the late Gen. Russell A. Alger: "In company with a half dozen other women—a committee, in fact—I once waited on Gen. Alger to try and interest him in woman suffrage. He was interested. He admitted the truth of many of our arguments. But in the matter of supporting us he would not go as far as we wanted him to go. One of our ladies got, I am afraid, a little overexcited. In her address to the general she imputed to woman more virtues than any merely human creature could possess. At the height of her eloquence Gen. Alger, chuckling, interrupted her. He said he had once attended a woman suffrage meeting where the lady lecturer on the platform had boasted about woman as this lady was doing. The lecturer, he said, ended a striking climax with the question 'Where would man be if it had not been for woman?' She looked around the crowded hall. The silence was intense. She raised her hand and cried again impressively: 'I repeat, where would man be if it had not been for woman?' Then a coarse voice from the rear replied: 'In Paradise, ma'am.'"

PUT UP 5600 CANS IN A DAY

Canning Factory That is Located in Morgan County.

Lupus, Moniteau county, has a canning factory that seems to be doing splendid business, says the Versailles Statesman.

The factory seems to be running over-time in order to keep up with the tomatoes coming in. The capacity of the plant is 5,000 cans per day, but a few days ago 5,600 cans were put up.

A canning factory ought to pay in every county in the south half of the state. Diversified industries are what pay in any county.

Morgan county just a few years ago was raising pratically nothing but corn and but little of that. Now crops are being varied, new ones are being tried; most all kinds of old ones are being planted; fertilizer is being freely used; we have some factories and different kinds of enterprises.

A look at our bank statements will show the result of these changed conditions. Farmers are more prosperous and conditions are much improved over the old way.

HER TRESSES CUT OFF

While Dreaming She Was the Victim of "Jack the Clipper."

Jasonville, Ind., Sept. 27.—Miss Dollie Harris, the pretty sixteen-year-old daughter of a prominent and well-to-do farmer living near Sandborn, a little village near here, dreamed that she was pursued by "Jack the Clipper," who finally caught her and sheared off her beautiful hair.

She awoke in terror and was horrified to find her hair in a heap on the floor beside her bed.

But, instead of the shears being in the hands of a "Jack the Clipper," they were tightly clasped in her own hand, and she had performed the remarkable feat of cutting off her own hair in a dream, the action being suggested while she was in a subconscious state and probably due to fear inspired by her dream.

The young woman is almost prostrated.

TRIED TO BLOW UP A TRAIN?

Man Arrested on a Charge of Putting Dynamite on a Bridge.

Wichita, Kas., Sept. 27.—Harry Huber was arrested yesterday at his home here on a warrant issued at the instigation of H. H. Germann, chief special agent of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad, on a charge of having placed dynamite on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe track at bridge No. 20, four miles north of here, the night of August 19.

Huber was arranged in court and his case was continued until October 3. His bond was fixed at $750, in default of which he was remanded to jail.

The night of August 19, a man who was walking along the railroad track at the bridge saw several persons near there. Later he found two sticks of dynamite, each eight inches long with caps and fuses in such position that it would be struck by a passing engine.

It was then only a few minutes until the arrival of train No. 18. The train was flagged and the dynamite picked up by the special agent, who happened to be on board, and taken to Newton.

ARRESTED 3 GENERALS

GOVERNOR MAGOON TRYING TO HEAD OFF REVOLUTION IN CUBA.

AGITATION RAMPANT IN AN ISLAND

With 5,000 American Soldiers and 5,000 Rural Guards, Provisional Government Hopes to Handle Uprisings.

Havana, Sept. 27.—Hoping to suppress the widespread Cuban conspiracy before some sudden uprising fans it into the full flame of revolution against the provisional government, Governor Magoon caused the secret police yesterday to arrest General Masso Parra and a little later took into custody General Juan Ducassi and General Lara Miret, charged with plotting against public order.

General Parra is the alleged leader of the conspiracy to start a revolution against the Americans in Cuba with the use of funds supplied through some source in New York.

Simultaneously with the arrival of Parra at Havana three Santo Domingans, well known on account of their previous revolutionary records, also arrived.

It is known that the plot was hatched in New York by Americans whose names, it is said, are in the possession of the United States government, and it is stated that the leaders here were professional revolutionists hired for the job.

Governor Magoon believes he is amply prepared, with 5,000 American soldiers and 5,000 rural guards, to crush any uprising.

Wanted Heavy Damages.

When the old New England railroad was in enjoyment of an independent corporate existence, a trotting horse that had been entered in all the races in the New England fair circuit was killed in an accident to the train upon which the animal was being transported.

The owner put in a claim not only for the value of the horse, but also for the first prize in every event in which he had been entered. The total was something startling, especially for a bankrupt railroad.

In prosecuting his claim the owner maintained that the horse was the most remarkable trotter the country had ever seen and that he would have been a dead sure winner throughout the season.

The court, however, took a more moderate view of the animal's trotting abilities, and based the sum of the damages upon the actual value of the equine wonder.

RIDGLEY'S
612 S. OHIO STREET

AFTER TWENTY YEARS

Ragged, unkempt, the personification of poverty and distress, he lay propped against a pile of lumber in a sheltered corner of the dock, content to bask in the sunshine, unmindful of the chilling wind that occasionally sought him out.

A swirling cloud of dust bore down on the sleeper, a bit of newspaper striking him squarely across the face. There was a hunted look in his eyes as he awoke, muttering imprecations. Then, discovering the cause of his alarm, he half smiled. Sitting there blinking in the sunlight, he stared stupidly at the bit of paper for a few moments, then for want of something else to do reached out slowly and picked it up.

A minute later he sat bolt upright thoroughly aroused. The paper bore a Toronto date, and almost the first lines on which his eyes rested—a brief marriage announcement—caused him to gaze fixedly at the soiled sheet clutched in his trembling hands.

Like a man in a dream he read it again and again, rubbing his eyes to make sure he was awake, unable to grasp its full significance.

Helen! And to be married!

Surely, this could not be the little Helen he once held on his knee, and whose childish prattle to him was the sweetest music in the world. No, she was only a mite of a child—but that was almost 20 years ago, long, bitter years, years that, try as he might, he could not forget.

How often had he prayed that the remembrance of that night when, enraged over a fancied grievance, he left home never to return, might be blotted out. But fate had not so decreed. Visions of the gentle wife and sunny-haired little elf whose advent had been the crowning joy of their life constantly rose before him during his waking hours, they were ever present to mar his slumbers, a horrible nightmare.

He had heard from them rarely, and then only indirectly. Times without number he had promised himself he would go back and strive to make amends for the past, but as regularly his courage failed.

And now it was little Helen who was to be married. There was no mistaking the names. And on this very night, while he—

Out on the river white winged gulls circled about, now rising high in the air, now riding the foam capped waves.

Ponderous car ferries, belching forth dense volumes of smoke, passed to and fro, their hoarse signals as they hailed an occasional steamer breaking harshly on the silence.

A policeman, sauntering along the dock, paused for a moment to watch a party of roustabouts wrangling over a game of cards.

But all these things were unheeded by the dilapidated mortal who sat staring into space.

The sun had long since sunk from view and night was settling down when he roused himself from his reveries.

Folding the paper carefully and placing it in a pocket of his ragged coat he pulled himself together and shuffled off up the street. From a neighboring saloon there came the sound of music and laughter. Through the gathering gloom its lights shone forth brightly. Within there was warmth and comfort and sociability. On the evening breeze was wafted a tempting aroma, indicating preparation of the evening meal.

Instinctively the man's steps turned toward the open door, as he fingered the solitary quarter marking his worldly wealth.

At the threshold he paused. For just an instant he hesitated, then facing about walked resolutely away.

Dream Revealed Money.

An authentic story of the finding of hidden money through a dream comes from Holyhead, England. An old man, who had worked upon a farm in the vicinity of the town for years, died, and though it was known that he seldom spent any money, none could be found after his death. A short time after his death one of his sons living in Holyhead, claimed that he had dreamed of finding money hidden by his father in a hole in the wall of a cowhouse at the farm where his father had worked. He was laughed at for being superstitious, but declared subsequently that he had dreamed the same thing again. In order to test the value of the dream a public official accompanied the man to the farm, and on arrival the man went straight to a hole, and drew out a stocking, in which money jangled. The stocking was found to contain about $40.

A Word to Thoughtless Men.

Men should remember that women can't always be smiling who have to cook the dinner, answer the bell half a dozen times and get rid of a neighbor who has just dropped in, tend to a sick baby, tie up the cut finger of a two-year-old, gather up the playthings of a four-year-old, tie up the head of a six-year-old on skates and get an eight-year-old ready for school, to say nothing of sweeping, cleaning, etc., says a woman writer in an exchange A woman with all these to contend with may claim it a privilege to look and feel a little tired sometimes, and a word of sympathy would not be too much to expect from the man who during the honeymoon wouldn't let her carry as much as a sunshade.

A PLAGUE OF SNAILS

Crustaceans Crawling Over Bodies of Sleeping Citizens.

Pittsburg, Penn., Sept. 27.—Residents of Coal Hill, Thirteenth ward, made frantic appeals to the bureau of health yesterday to rid them of a plague of snails.

The slimy, crawling pests are said to have invaded Coal Hill by the millions. They cover the sidewalks by day and crawl over the sleeping forms at night. Women are suffering from nervous prostration.

Captain J. F. Edwards, superintendent of the board of health, and Dr. B. A. Booth, city physician, tried to assure the people that the snails were harmless.

One resident says their appearance presages a hard winter. The stricken people hope it will be hard enough to freeze the pests to death. Meantime the bureau of health will endeavor to discover some method for relieving the Hill people.

HELD NEBRASKA SLAYER

Police Believe They Have Schumway, Who Killed His Aunt.

Arkansas City, Kas., Sept. 27.—The police believe they have in custody C. H. Schumway, who is wanted in Gage county, Nebraska, for the murder of his aunt, Mrs. Jacob Martin, wife of a wealthy farmer.

The man whom they suspect surrendered to the police Wednesday. He appears to be demented. The Nebraska officers have been notified.

Schumway's crime was committed September 3. He had worked on the Martin farm and while Martin was away Schumway cut Mrs. Martin's throat and robbed the house of $210.

Schumway was captured by Kansas officers, but escaped from a train in Sabetha. A large posse searched for him several days.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

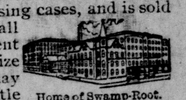

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

IN THE HOUSEHOLD

VARIOUS MATTERS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

Special Costume for Wear in Kitchen or While at General Work—Proper Way to Clean Matting—For the Invalid.

The houseworker's costume is now an established thing. All careful women keep special gowns of washable cotton to wear in the kitchen or at their housework. Nothing is smarter than a plain striped or checked calico or gingham, made with a short skirt and simple blouse attached to the skirt band with large pearl buttons. The sleeves are short and not too full, with cuffs that do not get in the way. A simple band is best, and the collar is of the comfortable kind—a Dutch neck or a Peter Pan for hot weather. The buttons hold waist and skirt neatly together, and make the garment one to get into quickly. For such work as frying or mixing dough, a large, capacious, but not too full, apron is worn. The old way of wearing out old clothes and semi-soiled blouses in the kitchen is gone. One cannot wear old clothes at all these days, but must give them away. The gain is perceptible to the receivers, for these rejected garments do not get much worn before they are out of date, and, after all, the family laboratory, where the family food is prepared, is no place for worn finery or soiled, unsuitable clothing. So the gain is in neatness and sweetness, and the greater joy of the rest of the household.

To clean matting, sweep it thoroughly first with a stiff broom, following carefully the grain of the straw, heat up a soft broom in warm water and brush across the grain. Finally wash the matting off with warm water, in which a handful of salt has been dissolved. If light in color borax will aid in brightening and preserving the shade.

For an invalid with literary or artistic taste nothing could be more entertaining that to provide means of extra-illustrating some favorite book. A pile of miscellaneous magazines containing art or scenery articles illustrated with cuts and photographs, a pair of scissors and a roll of narrow gum tissue paper will prove a mine of interest. An article on Cornwall will add realistic views to "Lorna Doone," or "Armorel of Lyonesse," while historical portraits can easily be found for Scott's novels, or modern medieval romances. When chosen to be fastened in the book, a thin strip of the gummed paper will hold it in place. A dollar's worth of penny reproductions of famous pictures is a good prescription for increasing the patient's interest in life.

Chicken Hash.

Chop cold chicken, roast or broiled, and moisten with a little gravy or hot cream; season with a little salt and pepper. Cut up two green peppers, and take out all the seeds and chop very fine. Put all together in a saucepan, and gently simmer till the peppers are cooked, adding more gravy or cream if the hash becomes dry. Have ready a large cup of hot mashed potato; put the chicken on a hot platter, and the potato evenly in a border around the edge, and bits of parsley outside. Those who do not care for peppers can omit them, and when the dish is ready the potato can be sprinkled with chopped parsley.—Harper's Bazar.

JUST KICKED AT A CAT.

Cure for Rheumatism Discovered by a Jersey Freight Clerk.

A clerk in a railroad freight office in Jersey City suffered from spasmodic twinges in his right leg, which he attributed to rheumatism. He consulted a physician and spent a good deal for medicine, but continued to grow worse. One morning recently the office tomcat in a spirit of friendliness arched his back and rubbed against the afflicted calf. The clerk gave a vicious kick with his bad leg and a gray streak shot through the air. He hobbled to a chair and sat down with a few stirring remarks about cats and rheumatism. A few minutes later he gritted his teeth hard and arose. He shook his leg and feebly smiled. Then he walked like a drum major across the floor and boisterously shook hands with himself. The sharp twinges had disappeared and there has been no recurrence of pain. The clerk's doctor corrected his diagnosis when asked for an explanation of the sudden cure and said that what he mistook for rheumatism was probably caused by a twisted ligament. The kick at the cat straightened out the twist and removed the cause of the trouble.

The Growing Chick.

A growing chick represents an investment. If it is well cared for and develops into a profitable fowl, the investment will be profitable. If through neglect or bad judgment it does not develop into a healthy, vigorous specimen, the investment is a failure.

FOUND TRACK VERY BAD

MR. W. E. WILLIAMS DID WHILE INSPECTING THE BAGNELL BRANCH LINE.

LITTLE REGARD FOR THE PUBLIC

Many Defects Were Discovered Journeying From Aurora Springs to Eldon—Some of Them Are Mentioned.

W. E. Williams, a former Sedalia newspaper man, who is now inspecting Missouri Pacific railway tracks for the Kansas City Post, had the following in last night's issue of that paper:

In company with Col. John A.Knott, chairman of the board of railroad commissioners, I yesterday finished the Post's inspection of the Missouri Pacific between Jefferson City and Bagnell.

Here are a few interesting facts concerning parts of the track we walked:

From Aurora Springs to a point one-half mile east of Cooper:

Joints with angle bars broken or cracked on one side, 103; on both sides, 56.

Many defective ties.

Scene of a wreck for which unsafe track was responsible.

Many worn rails.

All rails in bad alignment.

Straight rails on curves, causing an angle instead of a curve at the joints.

Track in need of ballasting.

Ties that need tamping.

Much "scetering" track.

Much weedy track.

Loose bolts. Distance two and one-half miles:

Stretch of track from Eldon to a point one and one-half miles west:

Cracked or broken angle bars and fish plates, 54.

Other conditions about the same as described above.

Stretch of track from Eldon to a point one-half mile east:

Cracked and broken angle bars and fish plates, 22.

Tie conditions somewhat better.

Other conditions similar to those described.

PRESSMEN QUIT WORK

And the Two Newark, N. J., Papers Missed an Issue.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 27.—The pressmen employed by the Evening News and the Evening Star, of this city, struck yesterday, and in consequence neither paper was issued last night.

The men made a demand for higher wages, which was refused, the managers of the newspapers agreeing to submit the matter to arbitration under the agreements which they held with the international body.

To this the pressmen refused assent and went out in a body. Both newspapers are members of the American Publishers' association, and held five year contracts with the International Pressmen's association, by which all disputes must be submitted to arbitration before a strike may be called.

AN ESSENTIAL FACTOR.

The Dairy Woman and the Part She Has Had in Developing the Dairy Cow.

It is doubtful if any of the valuable breeds of dairy cows could have been produced without the help of women. That is, these breeds have been brought to their high state of perfection because the people that have had the care of them for centuries have been mostly women. The cows of the Channel Islands and the cows of Holland have been under the supervision of women for so long a time that "the memory of man runneth not to the contrary."

Imagine, says Farmers' Review, some of our western cowboys trying to develop a breed of dairy cows. Any dairy breed they might evolve would have the ability to run a four-minute gait and to scale fences with little trouble. The cow naturally partakes something of the nature of the one that has charge of her. Kindness has made the Dutch cow and the Jersey cow kind. Harshness would have made them into animals that few could milk. Gentleness has made them of a quiet disposition, inclined to chew the cud in contentment, in a feeling of perfect security. This contentment has made the work of the mammary glands easy, and great capacities for the production of milk and cream have been evolved.

The United States is little likely to have a distinctive breed of dairy cows. In the main, our cows here are in the care of men, especially in the larger dairy establishments. On the farms where women milk that is the only part they have in dairying. Men have most of the care of the animals.

The dairy woman is best adapted to take care of the dairy cow. If more women take up dairying as an occupation it will be a good thing for the dairy interests. They appreciate the value of the fine points in dairying, and the fine points are what regulate the value of the dairy output.

WIFE WAS VERY ANGRY

Choked and Beat Husband's Stenographer Into Convulsions.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 27.—In a frenzy of jealousy yesterday Mrs. J. H. Davenport, wife of an abstractor, went to her husband's office and attacked the stenographer, Miss Mabel Zumstein, a pretty girl.

She choked the girl almost into insensibility, it is said, and tore off her shirt waist. Three men who happened to enter the office, pulled the angry woman away from the girl.

Miss Zumstein was frightened into convulsions and a physician was called to see her. She is in a serious condition. Mrs. Davenport has not been arrested.

FELLED THE MAYOR

With a Right to the Jaw When Threatened With Arrest.

Erie, Pa., Sept. 27.—Charles Garvey, a lad who sells papers at the Union depot in this city, struck Mayor Michael Liebel, Jr., of this city, when in the billiard room of the Liebel hotel, knocking over a table and "putting him to sleep."

The trouble came when Garvey refused to pay for the use of a billiard table in the hotel, and the mayor interferred, threatening him with arrest.

"Take that!" cried Garvey, as he swung on the mayor's head. The newsboy's first connected fairly with his honor's jaw, and the chief executive of Erie went down for the count. The mayor immediately issued an order for the youth's arrest.

MURDERED A HORSE

Believed Animal Was Stolen by Man Who Killed It.

When S. S. McMillan, who lives a mile south of the city, went to get his horses from pasture Tuesday morning he found one of them dead, says the California Herald

At first the cause of its death was apparently a mystery, but when he examined the under side of the throat the jugular vein was found to have been cut, and the animal—a five year-old mare—had bled to death.

A short distance away a rope was found that is supposed to have been used in committing the deed. Mr. McMillan had bought the animal a week before for $100 from a stranger, who said he was from Iberia, Miller county.

It is the belief in the neighborhood that the man stole her, and some one was close on his trail, so he decided to kill the animal to cover up his tracks.

FOR SELLING A ROAD

Embezzlement the Charge Against a Territory Contractor in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Sept. 27.—William J. Scott, 50 years old, a contractor and land owner of Lester, I. T., was arrested in the Wainwright building yesterday on an information issued by the circuit attorney, A. N. Sager, charging embezzlement.

Scott was released on $10,000 bond signed by St Louis men. The arrest was made at the instance of J. L. Secor, an attorney, who represents the St. Louis-Galveston Coal and Mining company.

Mr. Secor says that his company operated a coal mine in Indian territory under a government grant, and sold several miles of railway track to Scott for $7,500, which, he says, Scott disposed of to others and did not pay for.

Scott told the circuit attorney that he bought the track and other supplies to be used for a stone quarry which he operates, and made part payment. He says that he was unable to pay the rest and was in St. Louis negotiating a settlement when he was arrested.

Mrs. Thomas Hall, who was taken ill yesterday, is still confined to her apartments on West Fifth street, but expects to be at work tomorrow.

A CARNIVAL AT WINDSOR

Then the Company Comes Here for Week of the State Fair.

Parker's Fairyland company will arrive in Windsor Monday sometime and by Tuesday evening the carnival will be in full swing, and will continue until Saturday night, says the Windsor Review. The company will come from some point in Nebraska.

The different shows will be arranged on the streets of Windsor and the free attractions will doubtless be located on Main street, so that all may witness them.

The different attractions carried by this company are as follows: The Electric Theater, The Laughing Palace, How Old is Ann? The Ferris Wheel, The Animal Show, The Alps, Pharoh's Daughter, and the Carry-Us-All. The free acts are the Diving Dog, Double Trapeze Act, Revolving Ladder and Tight Wire Acts.

At the completion of the engagement at Windsor they go to Sedalia during the week of the state fair.

THE EAGLES' EUCHRE

Six Prizes Were Awarded by Sedalia Aerie No. 601.

Sixteen tables of players, with a number of onlookers, enjoyed the progressive euchre given at the Eagles' hall by Sedalia aerie No. 601, F. O. E., last night. Following the game ice cream and cake were served.

There were six prizes awarded, as follows: W. S. Reed, gentlemen's first prize, an umbrella; J. J. McRoberts, second prize, a rug; R. C. Dolph, consolation prize, a four-in-hand tie. J. H. Deke, who played a ladies' hand, won first prize, a $4 pair of shoes; Mrs. Henry Butler won second prize for ladies, a handbag, while L. C. Dedmond, who also played a ladies' hand, won the consolation prize.

FOUND FOR LOWER RATES

Court Would Not Enjoin Enforcing of Nebraska's New Law.

Omaha, Sept. 27.—Judge T. C. Munger and Judge W. H. Munger in the United States circuit court last night denied the injunction asked for by the railroads operating in Nebraska to prevent the state railway commission from enforcing the laws reducing grain rates.

The restraining order issued some time ago by Judge T. C. Munger was dissolved. This is regarded as a victory by the state, although it is believed the case will be appealed by the railroads.

REGARDING RAILROADS

THE STATE DEFEATED IN SUIT AT CHILLICOTHE UNDER EIGHT-HOUR LAW.

COACH, CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

Acting on the defendant's motion to quash the information filed against the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad company by the prosecuting attorney of Livingston county, Judge Trimble, in the circuit court, declared the railroad telegraphers' eight-hour law, passed by the last Missouri legislature, unconstitutional, says a Chillicothe, Mo., dispatch of the 26th.

The action was taken in the case wherein the Burlington was prosecuted for permitting L. G. Howe, its day operator at Chillicothe station, to work more than eight hours out of twenty-four.

The railroad had been found guilty in the court of Justice Crill and fined $200. The case was appealed to the circuit court. There were many points in the motion to quash, the main one being that the law was unconstitutional because the federal congress had already legislated on the same subject and the Missouri law was in conflict with the federal legislation, and the act was further unconstitutional because it discriminated between two classes of the same kind of labor. The state was given leave to appeal.

Rumor of Brakemen's Strike.

It is persistently rumored that within a few days all the brakemen employed out of Monterey on the Mexican Central will declare a strike, and that they will have the backing of the union headquarteres at Chihuahua.

It is also stated that if their demands are not acceded to the entire system will go on strike.

The cause of the present discontent is the employment of a negro as brakeman in the local yards. The labor situation among the laborers of nearly all classes on the Central is an extremely delicate one, and the least persuasion results in a general walkout, which is the cause of a great embarrassment for the road, temporarily at least.

Should the brakemen walk out it would seriously impede traffic between Monterey and Tampico, and hold up large numbers of shipments of great importance.

Missouri Pacific Collision.

Running twenty miles an hour, Missouri Pacific passenger train No. 22, eastbound, in charge of Engineer Mike Healy and Conductor Richard, dashed into fast freight train No. 82 at Barrett's Station at 5:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon, knocking the caboose twenty feet against an embankment, badly bruising Conductor Harry Ewing of the freight, and a brakeman, and demolishing two box cars.

Conductor Bought Restaurant.

C. L. Reeder has sold the restaurant on North Main street that he has made famous to G. W. Beal, of this city, who for a long time has been a Missouri Pacific conductor, says the Wichita Eagle.

Mr. Beal is one of the old timers and is popular among the railroad men. He came to Wichita with his father, C. L. Beal, in 1869, and has lived here constantly since 1871.

Warrensburg-Clinton Survey.

Capt. M. L. Belt, of this city, is promoting a steam railway from here to Warrensburg and on south to Clinton, says a Higginsville dispatch. An engineer with a corps of ten men began a survey today, beginning at Warrensburg.

It is thought that the Alton Railway company will finance the road after the right of way has all been secured and the roadbed located.

Doubts 2-Cent Fare Losses.

Replying to the claim of railroad companies made Wednesday in St. Louis, that they had lost $1,500,000 from compliance with the 2-cent fare law in this state, Attorney General Hadley said last night he did not believe the railroad companies know whether the operation of the law will result in an increase of decrease of net earnings.

Tying Up Cuban Railroads.

A general strike of the employes of the United railroads and the Havana Central electric railroad was declared at Havana yesterday.

Trains are running with the help of the engineers, without firemen or conductors.

A tie-up of all the roads in the island is feared.

Lee Hearn, a Katy telegrapher, working at the local station, has been "bumped" by an older man.

J. W. McClain, city passenger and ticket agent for the Missouri Pacific, went to Knob Noster today on business.

Special Agent N. P. Kemp, of the Missouri Pacific, passed through here this afternoon en route to Kansas City.

Harry Pace left this morning for Beaman to resume his duties as agent for the Katy, after visiting relatives here.

Division Engineer Morrison, of the Missouri Pacific, and Roadmaster Joe Chandler went west on the fast mail train this morning.

J. H. Lafferty, a Missouri Pacific conductor, went to Kansas City this morning to remain until after the Priests of Palace parade.

W. S. Hood, a Missouri Pacific boilermaker helper, had a foreign substance removed from his left eye at the Katy hospital yesterday.

W. A. Mitchell, master carbuilder for the Katy, yesterday moved his family from 1000 South Vermont avenue to 417 East Seventh street.

E. T. Alcorn, a Missouri Pacific engineer, running between Bixby and Elmo, Ill., a distance of 116 miles arrived last night to visit home folks.

Owing to late connections at St. Louis, Missouri Pacific train No. 9, due here at 1:50 a. m., arrived at 3:26 o'clock, while No. 3, due at 4 a. m., arrived one hour and ten minutes late.

General Superintendent E. A. Gould, of the Missouri Pacific, came in on No. 1 this afternoon. His car was set out here and late this afternoon will be attached to the train carrying the railroad commissioners to Kansas City.

FOR SEVENTEEN YEARS

Rich Couple Lived as Common Law Partners, It Is Shown.

Marysville, Ohio, Sept. 27.—In the case of Joseph Silberman, of New York city, against his wife, Grace Mowry Silberman, of Magnetic Springs, to collect on two notes aggregating about $2,400 which was settled here yesterday, the complainant alleged that he had never been married to the defendant, but that they had participated seventeen years ago in a common-law marriage, permissible in the state of New York.

There was also another suit against Mrs. Silberman in Union county by Henry Silberman, a brother of her husband, who held a mortgage note of $600 against the Grand Union hotel at Magnetic Springs, owned by Mrs. Silberman. Both of these cases were settled just as court was called, the jury being ready to hear them. Silberman is a wealthy citizen of New York.

STATEHOOD IS ASSURED

President Roosevelt Goes on Record as to Oklahoma.

Washington, Sept. 27.—The president announced yesterday afternoon that he will approve the Oklahoma constitution. Thus the last doubt is removed and Oklahoma assured of early statehood.

As soon as the official copy of the document, accompanied by the certified report of its ratification at the present election reaches him, the president will cause a proclamation declaring the new state admitted.

The members of congress and senators elected September 17, accordingly will take their seats when congress meets.

A Farewell Reception.

Mrs. C. D. King, formerly Miss Nell Frye, left Wednesday for Los Angeles, Cal., to join her husband, who is now employed there. Tuesday afternoon Mrs. King was given a fare-well reception by members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the B. of R. T. at her home on West Tenth street. About twenty guests were present and a beautiful hand-painted fruit dish was presented the guest of honor. Refreshments were served during the afternoon.

THE LADIES CLEARED $25

This, Too, Despite the Fact That the Sale Was Postponed.

The ladies of the Longwood M. E. church, South, had arranged to serve dinner at the Cartwright sale, Thursday, but owing to the rain, which continued to noon, but few of the members put in an appearance.

Mesdames Willis Taylor, Jordon Kemp and a few others, however, braved the elements with filled baskets. While there was no sale, a good number gathered at the Cartwright home, and the ladies served a fine set dinner, of which all partook.

Col. Hieronymus then sold the fishes and loaves, and when all was over the ladies found $25 in their treasury. So well were they pleased that they decided to serve dinner again on October 14th, to which time Mr. Cartwright postponed his sale.

NURSE BECAME INSANE

Had Spent Almost Entire Life in Nursing Others.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 27.—Her health undermined by years of service in caring for the sick and insane, Laura Spener, a nurse, 64 years old, resorted to morphine to induce sleep.

Then it began to lose its power and her mind became weakened. Feeling in herself the symptoms of insanity she had so often observed in others, Miss Spencer confided in two physicians with whom she had worked to relieve suffering humanity. They advised the asylum.

As uncomplainingly as she had borne the wails of others, Miss Spencer accepted the banishment from society and she was committed to the state hospital for the insane here

TO STAY BY THEIR KEYS

LEASED WIRE MEN IN EMPLOY OF THE TWO TELEGRAPH COMPANIES.

PRESIDENT SMALL IS IN ST. LOUIS

He Predicts That the Strikers Will Win Inside of Two Weeks, but There Are Many Who Want to "Be Sighted."

Washington, Sept. 26. — President Roosevelt said today that he had consented to receive some documentary statements from the striking telegraph operators, and that when these are in his hands he will undoubtedly call into consultation Commissioner of Labor Neill who is in St. Louis.

Further than this he said that no arrangements had been made for any conference regarding the strike.

Small Visits in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Sept. 27.—Introduced as "the man of the hour," S. J. Small, president of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, who arrived in St. Louis yesterday morning, last night in addressing an enthusiastic meeting of the striking telegraphers at the St. Louis Democratic club, predicted that the strike would end in ten days, with victory for the union.

Mr. Small urged the strikers to plan for the future, no matter how near the end of the strike might seem. He repeated his advice that they go to work for the railroads. He declared that if one half of the men now on strike should return to the Western Union the company would still be unable to give satisfactory service to its patrons.

Mr. Small was in conference during the afternoon with President H. B. Perham and Secretary L. W. Quick of the Railway Telegraphers, and the officers of the St. Louis local of the commercial telegraphers.

Later he went to the headquarters of the strikers in the Laclede building, and was closted with President A. L. Ewing and Secretary Boyer, of the executive board of the local union. It is understood the strike question was thoroughly gone over but no announcement was made of the result of the conference.

Mr. Small said that the strikers were willing to arbitrate, but would insist on a third party as mediator. He said he wired Wednesday from Chicago, ordering that the leased-wire men fulfill their contracts.

Mr. Small received an ovation as he arose to speak last night. He reviewed his work as the head of the union, and declared the strikers would win. He said the strike four years ago was lost because of the lack of organization of the union. This had been remedied, he said.

A telegram was read from Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor at Washington, D. C., saying that the strikers need have no fear of lack of funds to prosecute the fight, as the entire labor organization was behind them.

In regard to the action of the New York operators who favored the calling out of all leased-wire men, whether they were under contract or not, Mr. Small said:

"The leased-wire operators under contract will not be called out. The actio nin New York is based on a purely local condition, and was referred to the executive board of which I am chairman. It is the sense of this board that all contracts must be respected.

"It is my opinion that even verbal contracts should be binding, and that where such exist the men should remain at their wires.

"That is no more than fair."

Respecting the outlook for settlement of the strike, Mr. Small continued:

"I believe an agreement will be reached within the next ten days. Forces and interests are at work to bring about a settlement, and I feel confident that an understanding will be reached soon."

When questioned as to what interests were working for mediation, he replied:

"I am not at liberty to discuss the details of the peace plans under way."

He then related a recent incident in Chicago. At a mass meeting of strikers the majority almost drowned his speech with cries of "No arbitration." Finally, he said, would make an effort to bring about arbitration?"

Then he paused. Several responded that arbitration through the government would be satisfactory.

Mr. Small considers that the strikers have the best of the situation, and that their condition is improving daily.

With regard to financing the strike, he said that the men are in better condition now than they were the day after the strike, and that they have plenty of resources to continue the struggle indefinitely.

Proportionately, he said, the companies lose more daily than the operators.

Telegraph operators on leased wires in St. Louis will abide by the contracts under which the leased wires are operated, and it is, therefore, probable that the local men will follow the example set by the New York local Wednesday in calling out all operators employed by the press and by the brokers, according to a statement made yesterday by A. L. Ewing, president of the local No. 3.

Unless compelled by the executive board to go out on a sympathetic strike, local leased-wire men will remain at the keys. When the strike started the local union decided it would not call out men under contract.

Opposed by Executive Board.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—The request of the striking telegraphers to call out all union operators working on broker or newspaper wires, under contract, will not be sanctioned by the executive board of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America.

Although no official word has been received of the action of the New York local, three members of the national board yesterday declared they were in favor of standing by signed contracts. These members are: M. J. Reidy, of Boston; S. J. Konenkamp, of Pittsburg, and J. M. Sullivan, of Brooklyn.

EAT WHAT YOU WANT

Science Has Now Found the True Way to Cure Indigestion.

A few years ago, when a sufferer from indigestion went to a stomach specialist, the result was a rigid diet list that almost meant starvation.

But the first thing to do in the case of indigestion or stomach weakness is to strengthen the muscular walls of the stomach and intestines, so that they will care for the food that is eaten. In no other way can this be done as well as by taking a Miona tablet before each meal. This restores strength to the stomach muscles and stimulates the pouring out of gastric juices, so that the food is digested readily and its nourishment retained in the system to build up energy and vitality.

Do not think the sick headache, heartburn, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, spots before the eyes, sleeplessness and the many other symptoms that are the direct result of indigestion, will go away of themselves. The stomach must be built up and strengthened by Miona before you can be well and strong, free from suffering and distress

The guarantee that the W. E. Bard Drug company gives with every 50-cent box of Miona, to refund money unless the remedy cures, shows their confidence in the treatment.

DEVIL IN THE PIPE ORGAN

Baptists Expel Brethren Who Want Modern Music.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 27.—Twenty primitive Baptist churches in Georgia commonly known as "hard shell" have been declared anathema because they have installed pipe organs. This action was taken by the governing body of the "hard shells."

The churches censured have a membership of about 6,000. The governing body says that in putting in organs the churches were following the promptings of the devil and not of God, and that true Christians can no longer hold them in fellowship.

DINNER BELL FELL

On a Woman's Head and She Was Killed Instantly.

Bellefontaine, Ohio, Sept. 27.—Mrs. James Lawrence met death at her home, near Waynesfield, in a most unusual manner.

She went to the yard where the bell hung to ring the call for dinner for her husband and son, working in the fields, and while she was ringing it the bell broke loose from its fastenings and fell on her head and killed her instantly.

The husband and son found her dead form in the yard when they answered the bell in about ten minutes and it was discovered that her neck was broken.

Concrete Lighthouse.

By the use of concrete a tall lighthouse was constructed in a short period of time at the Point de la Coubre, at the mouth of the Gironde river, in France. The building is 225 feet high and about 35 feet in diameter at the base. It was finished in nine months after the beginning of the work, and cost $90,000. The haste was due to the fact that the sea threatened to wash away the old structure.

THE RACE AWFUL CLOSE

THAT IN AMERICAN LEAGUE OF BASEBALL CLUBS THE PRESENT YEAR.

PHILADELPHIA AND DETROIT TIED

The Two Clubs Begin a Series of Four Games in the Former City Today, and It Would Be Hard to Pick the Winner.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 27.—Fresh from victory over Chicago, the Athletics, elated, wait the onslaught of Hughey Jennings and his Tigers today. Unabashed by the recent successes of the victors, Mack is ready for the struggles which are to make or mar his team for the pennant.

The series of four games which is to open today is one of the most dramatic ever fought in baseball outside of a world's championship, as the pennant may hinge on the result of the four games which are scheduled to be played between the two aggregations now practically tied for leadership. A decisive victory for either contestant will be a very severe setback for the loser.

Both managers appreciate the importance of these games and have been grooming their best slab artists for the opening contest, so as to get a good getaway. Jennings has saved Donovan for almost a week, and this great right-hander will probably be used in two of the contests.

Wild Bill has been particularly effective against the Quaker City tribe, and in the six contests that the big fellow has faced them he has been returned winner five times, his one defeat being by a 1 to 0 score, when the Philadelphia team made but three hits off him.

Detroit will go into these contests brimful of confidence, as Mullin has broken the hoodoo which has pursued him for some time, and this has put the whole team in better spirits.

Another thing which will be in Detroit's favor is that they will have their full team in the field for the first time in several weeks. Capt. Bill Coughlin has gone back into the fray, allowing Schaefer to go back to second base.

Detroit is well represented, as the fans from that city have arrived in large numbers, and Jennings will not be lacking in support. Connie Mack will probably use Bender against the Tigers, an aggregation against whom he has been very effective.

Mack is contemplating another change in his lineup and he may put Monte Cross back at short while the fray waxes hot, as the veteran is not so erratic as the youngster, Nichols.

Every man on the Detroit team is brimful of confidence and both Cobb and Crawford expect to find the Athletic pitchers just as easy of solution as they have the others throughout the circuit.

Chicago appeared a crestfallen lot of athletes when they packed up prior to their departure for Boston, where they are to play three games.

Fielder Jones was somewhat disheartened at the unexpected turn of the series, as he had hopes of annexing at least two of the three contests which his team played here, but he still hangs on in sheer determination. He will not acknowledge defeat, and claims that he will climb up again at Boston's expense, while Detroit and Philadelphia are cutting each other's throats. He hopes for an even break between these two teams, and expects to make a clean sweep of the Boston series.

That the Athletics will have a world of trouble in their opening Detroit game is evident from the record of Donovan, the Tiger pitcher, who will oppose them. Donovan leads the league, having won twenty-four and lost but four games this season. The standing of the clubs today follows:

Club.	W.	L.	Pct.
Philadelphia	86	56	.60584
Detroit	83	54	.60563
Chicago	84	60	.583
Cleveland	82	61	.573
New York	66	74	.471
St. Louis	61	81	.430
Boston	58	85	.406
Washington	45	94	.324

Reformed by a Dream

By. Mrs. F. M. Howard

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

"Grandma, come tie my shoes."

"G'mma, please button my dress."

The old lady hurried to comply with the latter request to the disregard of the first command.

"Tie up your own shoes, dearie, that's a good boy," she said, coaxingly, to the heavy-eyed, fretful looking boy in the nursery.

"I shan't," he retorted sullenly. "I'll tell ma on you if you don't mind me."

"But my bones ache so, sonny," she remonstrated. "It hurts me to get down. Come now, be good to Grandma."

"I don't care. What you here for if 'tain't to work," he said with incipient brutality.

"The Lord knows, sonny, what I'm here for. Seems like there ain't no room in the world for my poor old bones."

"You notty bad boy to make Gamma ky," cried little Rose, striking at him with her little, fat hand. "Rosie loves Gamma, Rosie does," pursued the little comforter, hugging her small arm around the wrinkled neck, "w'en Rosie dets big she'll have a big, splendid house, an' Gamma shall live in it, an' we'll play all-l day, won't we, Gamma?"

"I hope so, darlin'." The old lady brushed away a hot tear, for she was not so hardened to abuse that she had gotten beyond the sting of it, and a kind word touched her even more keenly than the harsh ones.

Mrs. Pringle was a second wife. The gentle mother of these children lay sleeping in her grave. She had died when Rosie was born, and the grandmother had brought the babe through the perils of infancy in addition to her other cares. Martin Pringle had married again, after a decent interval, a much more showy and stylish woman than his first wife had been. In strict justice to her, it must be confessed that she was a tolerably kind mother to the children; but the old lady had dropped from her position of house-mother to that of household drudge under her rule, so naturally that the transition was hardly noticed in the family.

"Even So Shall You Be Sent Away."

"Fred Pringle, how often have I told you not to come to the table until your shoes were properly laced!"

The son and heir had come in, his shoe laces dragging behind him. "Grandma wouldn't tie 'em for me. Mean old thing!"

"Your mother is getting crosser every day of her life." Mrs. Pringle turned to her husband with a reproachful air, as if he was very much to blame for being the son of such a reprehensible mother.

"Gramma's back hurted so she couldn't 'toop down," said little Rosie, on defensive.

"First we know she'll be laid up on our hands with inflammatory rheumatism." Mrs. Pringle took a new tack of alarm. "I tell you, Martin Pringle, there's going to be a change in this family and before long too. I am not going to be tied down to nursing a sick old woman, I can tell you that."

"Well, well, I'm in a hurry and haven't time to talk about it now." Mr. Pringle bolted his food and mumbled his reply crossly.

Six weeks from that day there was a poor, decrepit bundle of humanity sitting dejected, in a corner of one of the great depots of Chicago.

Her eyes were heavy and bleared with many tears, and she seemed half dazed, and stunned by the noisy bustle about her. A faded old valise stood at her feet, and she wearily drew a seed cake from a small bag on her arm, and tried to bite it off with her toothless gums.

"Here, grandmother, have some of my lunch," said a pleasant-faced lady coming from another seat and sitting down beside her. "My daughter has put up so much for me I never can eat it alone, I'm sure." She had been watching the poor old body for a half hour past, with a heart overflowing with pity for her evident loneliness.

"Thank ye kindly, ma'am," replied the old lady, taking a tender sandwich and a soft toothsome piece of cake from the friendly hand.

"Are you going far, grandmother?" asked the stranger.

"Yes, ma'am, away off to Boston."

"To Boston. Surely you are not going there alone at your age?"

"Yes, all alone." The aged lip quivered like a child's.

Going to visit your friends, I suppose," with friendly curiosity.

"No!" the old lady shook her head mournfully. "I don't expect to find anybody there that I know, but—but—my son reckoned that as I came from there, I had a claim to be took care of by that county, an' so I'm agoin' to—to—the poor—h—o—" She broke down there, and with muffled sobs hid her poor old face in the corner of her shawl.

The lady laid her hand gently on the bowed head, her heart swelling with pity and indignation. "There, there, mother, don't cry," she said tenderly, "and this son of yours, is he so very poor he cannot take care of you himself?"

"Oh, no!" the bowed head lifted a little; "he's right well to do, but you see he's married a new wife, that ain't been so long acquainted with me, an' then, too, I'm too old to work, an' I ain't stylish an' nice like Mis' Pringle would like me to be. She expects company for over Christmas, a dreadful stylish lady from New York, an' they sorter felt ashamed o' me, I reckon, an' besides, Sary wanted my room for her comp'ny, so here I am."

She tried to smile through her tears. "It putty nigh broke my heart, ma'am, a leavin' 'em all, for though they was putty ha'sh some times, they was all I had."

If she had looked into the face of her companion, she would have seen flashing eyes and lips compressed with inward emotion; but she was too much absorbed in her grief to notice."

"There now, don't think any more about it." The kind hands were untying her faded bonnet. "I'll go and get you a cup of tea, and that will rest you."

In the meantime there had been a revolution of feeling in the Pringle family. Martin had gone back to his office after seeing his poor old mother on board the train, and as it was a cold day, he sat down before the glowing fire to warm his feet. The walk from the station had been a long one, he seldom employed streetcars, the warm fire made him drowsy and it is probable that his day's experience was answerable for the strange dream that he had. The consciousness of having done a supremely mean act is not a restful pillow for a sleeping imagination. and Mr. Pringle's played him a queer trick. He thought he was at home by his warm, anthracite fire when a stranger opened the door and came in, tall, impressive and stern. Mr. Pringle had no familiar word of greeting for Him, although he knew Him at once and instinctively. It was the Savior of mankind, and He stretched out a long, majestic arm, with an accusing forefinger pointed toward the unfilial son's heart. "Man, where is thy mother, and the praying one of this house; she who has been your passover for years? Come find her."

A cold sweat broke out on the dreamer's brow as he stammered in shame and contrition, "I have sent her away."

"Even so shall you be sent away." The words fell with crushing force upon the guilty heart, and with a look of condemning reproach He passed out, and Mr. Pringle was alone, and awake, the cold sweat-drops upon his brow as they had been in his dream, and his limbs trembling with fright.

He hurriedly arose when he could command his trembling limbs, and buttoning up his warm overcoat, he thought with a shiver that the mother's shawl was both old and thin, started for home.

Sarah was in the hall to meet h "Sarah, we've done an awful thin said Martin, his knees beginning tremble again. "We haven't thou enough about God, and the fu and I'm afraid His smiting hand be upon us if this wrong isn't ri right."

"How can it be made right? Sh gone, and what's done can't be done."

"Yes it can, and I'm going after h I can go on the limited and catch before she goes any farther;" then he told her his dream.

Sarah's head drooped. It was fully hard for her to give up her "Well, perhaps you had better," said.

They were coming out of the ro where they had breakfasted, the lady's feeble steps supported by younger one's strong arm, when Pringle met them, and her eyes ed upon him in terrified surprise.

"Oh, Martin, what is it?" she cri laying her trembling hand upon arm, "Is anybody sick or dead home—is it Rosie?"

In that moment of anxiety all own grief was forgotten, and the fa ly which had treated her so cru was hers, the same in loving inter as before.

"No, no, mother, there is nobo sick or dying," he answered, with shame-faced look, "but I have co after you, mother. We cannot you go after all."

The good effects of Martin Pring singular dream lasted all through aged mother's life, and when at they laid her away for her last r rest, it was with real regret and te of unfeigned sorrow."

TO FIGHT PAPER TRUST

UNLAWFUL COMBINATION TO BE REFERRED TO THE PRESIDENT.

THE PRODUCTION IS CURTAILED

Association Will Ask That Duty Be Taken Off Importations From Canada of Both Wood and Wood Pulp.

The New York World has the following to say regarding a recent meeting of newspaper publishers, held in that city, to take steps to fight the paper trust:

After a long discussion covering all phases of the white paper situation the members of the American Newspaper Publishers' association voted in resolution at a meeting in the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday to take steps to obtain relief, and if necessary to fight for it, maintaining that illegal conditons make the cost of paper high.

The meetng was a special one, called by the president, Herman Ridder, publisher of the New York Staats Zeitung, and was largely attended.

The white paper situation was described by one of the members as the most important topic in present day newspaper economies, and a vital one in the future of the newspapers of the country. Prices of the paper, it was declared, have been constantly advancing recently, until in some instances newspapers, once profitable investments, are now losing ones.

Wholesale rates to newsdealers, it was added, are now in many instances no more, and in some instances less than the publisher pays for the paper upon which the newspapers are printed. Some of the great paper concerns are not quoting prices at all, telling would-be publishers there is no paper to be had. Production has practically stopped. One authority pointed out that the price of newspaper had advanced $12 a ton since 1904.

The publishers declare this stringency is not due alone to deforestation and the failure to secure adequate amounts of the pulp from which the paper is made, but to combines among certain manufacturers to keep prices up. That is the end toward which one phase of the fight is to be pitched if a warfare becomes necessary.

The other is to a reduction in the tariff on wood pulp and paper from Canada. The publishers plan to carry their contest to the president and the department of justice, maintaining that there exists against them combinations in restraint of trade.

The committee on paper made an extensive report, which formed the basis of the discussion. This committee consists of Don C. Seitz, of The World; John Norris, of the New York Times, and Condy Hamlin, formerly of the St. Paul Pioneer Press. There were many speeches, in which members related their experiences in the effort to obtain paper, and the price walls that seemed to be erected against them. This resolution was adopted amid applause.

In view of the information submitted to the American Newspaper Publishers' association by its committee on paper, indicating that unlawful combinations of paper makers have been organized recently; that artificial stimulation of prices has been accomplished, and that judicial prohibition of such efforts has been dissolved,

The American Newspaper Publishers' association hereby instructs its committee on paper to invite the attention of the president and the department of justice to these movements, which we regard as conspiracies in restraint of trade, and we give these instructions to the committee in order:

First—That the authority of the existing statutes for repression of trade combinations may be invoked;

Second—That the defiance of recent judicial action prohibiting participations in such combination by certain western mills may be punished,

And that the president may be put in possession of information which shall equip him to advise congress of the abuse of tariff powers by paper makers.

This resolution followed:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that the duty on printing paper, wood pulp and all material entering into the manufacture of printing paper be immediately repealed.

This resolution having significant bearing upon the first, was also passed:

Resolved, That the membership of the association pledge themselves to an adequate assistance for legal counsel and other expenses in assisting the government in any prosecution that may be undertaken, and that the executive committee be instructed to gather information and raise such funds as may be required.

A. D. Stanley, president and manager of the Democrat-Sentinel, was present at the above mentioned meeting, having gone to New York especially for the purpose of attending it.

He writes that there were present over 500 publishers from all parts of the United States and Canada and that the meeting was harmonious in the extreme and absolutely unanimous in its action.

Democrats, republicans, socialists and independents all acted as one man.

GETTING IN THE CROPS.

The Importance of Safe Shelter Emphasized by E. L. Vincent.

I am never really happy till all my farm crops are safely under cover. In fact I do not know that I have any crops that will bring me anything until all have been stowed away out of the reach of storm and weather. The next thing to this is threshing out of doors just as soon as the grain is dry enough; and often we are not able to do this because we cannot get a thresher when we want him.

I know it costs to provide buildings for a large farm. The first expense of building in these days is high, for lumber and building material of all kinds are high in price. It is also a fact that the farmer who has many buildings must set aside no small sum every year to pay for repairs and insurance.

And yet, stop and think that the loss of one crop through storm or other adverse cirsumstances would offset all this and more, too for a good many years. Take a wheat crop of 50 acres, for example. Say that it would yield 18 bushels to the acre, which, by the way, is the report from one of the first crops threshed in Illinois this year. That would mean a yield of 900 bushels, worth at a fair estimate a dollar a bushel.

There have been years when we have lost about one-half the value of our crop by reason of storm. We could not thresh when we should and the grain we did get was not worth as much as it would have been could it have been put in the bins in good order. What does this mean? What but that we have sustained a money loss of $450 in that one year's crop. That would keep the buildings up in good repair for a great many years.

But wheat is not the only crop most farmers of to-day harvest. There is hay, one of the best crops we have, bringing at the present writing in some parts of the country from $20 to $25 a ton. Also oats, another fine crop. The value of these depends largely on the condition at marketing or feeding. Stacking is always a risky business. Not one man out of a dozen can stack grain or hay so that it will keep any length of time.

Nothing adds to the looks or the worth of a farm more than good barns or sheds for storing grain. Prospective buyers always notice the condition of these buildings, and if there are none to notice they are very apt to pass on until they find farm which are thus furnished.

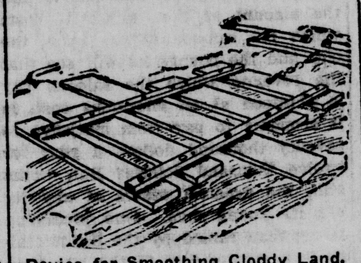

Still another point in favor of plenty of barn room is the stabling of stock. The day is fast going by when any farmer will feel easy in body or mind while a lot of his stock is out in the storm. Just think of the terrible losses every winter from stock exposure in the west! Leaving the humane part of it out of the question just now from an economical standpoint alone not a single farmer in all this country can afford to stand still and let a considerable part of his herd die in the winds and the snows of our northern winters.

Shall a man incur a debt to build farm barns? I hate debt as much as anyone on the face of the earth; but really I would rather go with poor clothes for years and years and economize in other ways rather than to go without barns. They will soon pay for themselves. They are the right thing for every up-to-date farmer.—Farmer's Review.

board two feet longer than the others. By this means, says Prairie Farmer, all small lumps are smoothed out which are usually left in turning when all the boards are of uniform length.

Growing Appreciation of Alfalfa.

Alfalfa is gradually spreading all over the country and its value is being recognized in almost every good farming community in every state in the union. Where the rain fall is heavy in summer it is a difficult crop to harvest because it takes so long to cure, but the value of alfalfa as a feed is sufficient to pay for the very best machinery to handle it and hay caps to cover it. When a farmer looks at his alfalfa and realizes that it is worth almost as much as the same weight in bran, he is willing to go to considerable trouble and expense to take proper care of it. Alfalfa, of course, is at home in the dryer irrigation districts of the west, but it may be almost as valuable in Ohio, New York state or New England. It is one of the very best dairy feeds ever grown on a farm. This is one reason why it is becoming so popular in the milk shipping districts adjacent to large cities.

Care for Soft Corns.

Each morning before putting on the stocking, tear off a strip of the margin of a newspaper, and wrap it around the toe next to the one that has the soft corn on. Get it exactly opposite, so that the corn will rest against the paper. This will keep perspiration from irritating the corn and the natural friction of the toes in walking will grind the corn down until it will entirely disappear. In the meantime you will enjoy life, for you will get the benefit as soon as the paper is adjusted.

There's a reason for that ache in your back—right where it "stitches" every time you bend over, turn around or walk any distance. It's your kidneys. Take DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills. Brass Candlesticks.

Brass candlesticks that are in constant use should be rubbed up every day. To remove the wax without scratching or injuring the brass, plunge the candlesticks into a pan of very hot water and allow them to remain immersed long enough for the wax to melt. Another simple and effective method is to hold the candlesticks to the fire, removing the wax as it becomes soft with tissue paper or rag.

Woman's Nightmare

No woman's happiness can be complete without children; it is her nature to love and want them as much so as it is to love the beautiful and pure. The critical ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass, however, is so fraught with dread, pain, suffering and danger, that the very thought of it fills her with apprehension and horror. There is no necessity for the reproduction of life to be either painful or dangerous. The use of Mother's Friend so prepares the system for the coming event that it is safely passed without any danger. This great and wonderful remedy is always applied externally, and has carried thousands of women through the trying crisis without suffering.

VOTE ON LOCAL OPTION

VERNON COUNTY IS GETTING IN LINE TO DO SO ON NOVEMBER 2.

THE SUBJECT IS BEING AGITATED

J. D. Headley Gives His Reasons for Opposing the Proposition and Is Answered by the Rev. W. T. McClure.

Vernon county is now in the throes of a red-hot agitation incident to an election to be held on November 2 to vote on local option. Following is a communication in the Nevada Post from Rev. W. T. McClure, pastor of the Southern M. E. church, that the Democrat-Sentinel is asked to reproduce, and no doubt it will be perused with interest, as Rev. McClure is well known in this city:

Editor Post: In Monday's Post under the local option discussion is an article signed by J. D. Headley, giving his reasons for his opposition to local option. He says in the first place: "I am opposed to local option or prohibition because local option does not bring about the desired results. To prohibit the sale of whiskey or beer in our city would not stop drunkenness or stop those who wish to drink."

Perhaps to prohibit the sale of intoxicants in our city woud not entirely stop all drunkenness or drinking, but the article furnished yesterday by Brother Burke shows that in Kansas City, Kan., it has so materially lessened it as to make the experiment worth while. The law against stealing does not entirely prevent theft in our city, but Mr. H. will surely agree with me that it reduces it to that degree that makes the law and its enforcement absolutely necessary to the protection of our homes. So local option will certainly reduce drunkenness and drinking to the minimum here as it is doing everywhere else in our fair land.

Mr. Headley's second reason is that it would render vacant about ten business houses that are renting for more money than any other business houses in the city. Well, be it so! Let us fill up these vacant houses as they did in Kansas City, Kan., and as they are now doing in Oklahoma with a better business, and there will be no loss. Look at the record in Meridian, Miss., and in Aberdeen, and in a half dozen other cities of like character in Mississippi, and learn that business of every kind prospers when the saloons are closed.

In the third place, Mr. Headley says: "I am opposed to local option because it would take ten or twelve thousand dollars from our city treasury, which helps to support our city government." But Mr. Headley certainly has forgotten that it costs the citizens of Nevada sixty-five thousand dollars annually to get that twelve thousand dollars of revenue. If he will put down the amount of the original cost of the beer and the whiskey sold in saloons, every dollar of which goes out of our city never to return, and then add to that the amount of the criminal costs which the saloons entail upon the city and the county he will see that the revenue which the saloons pay is obtained at an enormous cost. Is it economy to pay from sixty-five to seventy thousand dollars a year for twelve thousand dollars? But, worse still, the greatest assets of any city are its young men. One promising young man ruined by the liquor traffic is a greater loss to the city than all the revenue the saloons can pay in a dozen years. And if the young man happened to be Mr. Headley's son I am quite sure he would say it is true.

Again, Mr. Headley says "I am opposed to making a law that would force, coerce or deprive my neighbors, friends and fellow townsmen from eating and drinking anything they please." If drinking intoxicants affected nobody but the drinker Mr. Headley might be excused for uttering this sentiment. But when the drinking causes the drinker to beat and abuse his wife, to rob his own children of food necessary to sustain life and curses and brands them as a drunkard's children, and sends them out to shiver in the cold, a high born American citizen and patriot, like Mr. Headley says he is, ought to stand up in defense of poor helpless women and children, and say this thing shall not continue forever. Every vote for local option is a vote in the interest of home and wife and children, and it is in answer to their ceaseless, hopeless cry that a wave of indignation against the drunkard-maker is sweeping all over our fair land.

Is it un-American or contrary to the constitution of the United States to protect by law the helpless and defenseless little ones who suffer such untold miseries from the drink habit? Intemperance lays a hundred thousand men in drunkards' graves annually. Is it un-American to try to stop this wicked waste of human life? Is it any compensation to the United States for the saloons to say: "We pay you a big round sum for the privilege of enslaving a hundred thousand of your noble sons every year."

If any country in the world were wantonly to kill ten thousand of our citizens there would be war on a big scale until the offenders were severely punished for their cruelty, yet Mr. Headley thinks it is un-American for us to try to put out of business these murder mills in our town, who make war directly on the brightest and best boys we have.

Again, Mr. Headley would give a free rein to every impulse of men about him, and yet, I dare say, Mr. Headley would not allow a neighbor to build a pig sty so close to his dining room windows as to poison his vituals with its mal-odors. He would not be content to allow his neighbor's mad-dog to be turned loose in close proximity to his own children, and if by chance he had a neighbor who wanted to take a little coal occasionally from his coal bin in the bitter winter, he would certainly send for a restraining officer and put a limit to his neighbor's desires.

And so we want local option in Nevada because the drink habit brings sorrow to so many of our homes. We want to restrain those desires and those opportunities that make war directly upon the peace and happiness of the community in which we live. Will not Brother Headley help us in this praiseworthy undertaking?

SEDALIANS BACK EAST

MR. AND MRS. A. D. STANLEY HAVE A TRULY DELIGHTFUL OUTING.

WILL RETURN HOME ON SABBATH

Paid Visit to Crouch Horse Farm at La Fayette, Ind.—Mr. Stanley Gives Partial Description of the Place.

Mr. A. D. Stanley, president and manager of the Democrat-Sentinel, and wife, will return Sunday from their eastern trip. That they have had a delightful outing may be inferred by a perusal of the following letter from Mr. Stanley, dated East Hartford, Conn., September 21:

We have been east for more than a week now, and I want to say to you that I have had a delightful time. When I say I, of course I mean we, for I really believe that Mrs. Stanley enjoys it the most. I have not given the business a serious thought since I left.

Upon arriving in New York we at once went to the Gilsey house and found several letters for us, yours and a note from Frank B. Moore, a former Sedalian, being among them. Frank and his friend, "Kit" S. Warner, who also has relatives in Sedalia, called at 6 o'clock, and we had a very pleasant visit of an hour. After dinner (that means supper) he took us out to see the sights, and we pulled up at one of the vaudeville shows and enjoyed it very much. It was midnight before we reached the hotel, all at Frank's expense. James Christopher was with us.

The first Saturday we spent in St. Louis, arranging transportation and other details of our trip. We left St. Louis at 11:30, reaching Lafayette, Ind., Sunday morning. We spent the day with the Crouchos, and a more pleasing day could not have been arranged.

Mr. Will Crouch took us in his auto all over that part of the country. Lafayette is quite a town, a little bit staid in its way, but a good town. It is really two towns, the Wabash river separating them. Each portion has its own municipal government. In the two towns, which are always spoken of as one, there are some 36,000 people.

They have many points that are beautiful and interesting. The Perdue institute, a state school for the advancement of the education of young men, has about 800 students at this time. It is an endowed school, but kept up by the state. Located here, also, is the home for old soldiers. It is also a state institution, and is surrounded by beautiful and elegantly kept grounds. There are some 2,500 inmates here. This institution cares for the wives of the living soldiers that are there as well as the wives of the dead soldiers. These two institutions are in East Lafayette.

Lafayette proper has many factories and industries that make it a mighty good town. The roads tributary to the town are grand, just like paved streets. For miles and miles you can travel on these rock roads, at any time of the year. The people believe their rock roads are the best that they can make. Wish our people could realize how important a factor good roads are in a community.

But the most important, and by all odds the largest, business industry the town of Lafayette has is the J. Crouch & Son horse farm. It is a beautiful place, and is kept like a park.

The farm contains some 400 acres. They grow a great deal of the feed required in their business, but have to buy also, and in large quantities. They now have on hands, at the home, about 150 imported mares and stallions, each and every one a fine animal. They consist of Belgian draft and German coach. They have in their stables several Belgians that weigh more than a ton each. In their branch houses and on exhibition at different fairs they have almost 100 head of choice animals. All told, they have in their employ 165 people.

The season just passed they did over $800,000 worth of business. During the past three weeks they have taken over 300 blue ribbons at the Ohio state fair, at the Indiana state fair and at the Lafayette fair.

J. Crouch, the senior member of the business, is a charming entertainer, and knows his business better than most men who have such vast affairs to look after.

He knows each of the horses, their ages and especial virtues. He is a little inclined to be "sporty," having a string of race horses that are bred in the purple, but this is a sort of side issue and for his own pleasure. They run all their own busses, making all the trains. They keep two blacksmiths in their own well equipped shop, and are busy all the time. Their barns are done up on the inside in hard pine, highly finished in oil, and varnished.

They have a big arena covered for showing their stock, no matter what weather conditions prevail. They are satisfied with their business at their home farm, and are pleased with their Sedalia branch.

The senior member told me that they intended devoting more attention to their Missouri business than ever before. Sedalians should be pleased to have a branch of such a business in their midst.

Since leaving Lafayette, we have been to Niagara Falls, and are now in the birthplace of my father, having a grand time with relatives, some of whom I have never known. We are here until Monday morning, then back to New York, and at 3 o'clock on that day we take a ship of the Old Dominion steamship line for Norfolk.

NO WALKING FOR "RUBE"

OGLESBY SAYS RAILROAD INSPECTION WILL BE MADE FROM TRAIN.

NOT STRUCK ON THE HIKING GAME

Was Willing to Walk if Wightman and Knott Accompanied Him, but They Expressed No Desire to Do So.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 25.—Rube Oglesby, member of the Missouri board of railway and warehouse commissioners, last night denied the circulated statement that he is going to start today for a walk over the Lexington branch of the Missouri Pacific railway to inspect tracks.

He said it has been arranged that the three members of the board will leave Kansas City this morning by rail to inspect the Lexington branch. Commissioner Wightman arrived last night from Monett, and Commissioner Knott is expected from Hannibal in time to start at 8 o'clock.

"I recently made the statement that I am willing to walk over any of the lines, providing Mr. Wightman or Mr. Knott care to accompany me. My challenge has not been accepted, and I certainly do not intend to take such a walk alone."

Mr. Oglesby arrived yesterday afternoon from Warrensburg and is stopping at the hotel Baltimore.

MRS. DAVIS BADLY HURT

Horse Took Fright at Mr. Joseph H. Rodes' Automobile.

(Wednesday's Daily.)

David Davis and wife, of Lincoln, started to drive to Sedalia this morning in a one-horse buggy.

Seven miles southwest of Sedalia, near McGee's chapel, Mr. and Mrs. Davis were met by Mr. Rodes and his automobile, in which were three other gentlemen.

The horse took fright and ran away, the vehicle being wrecked, and Mrs. Davis thrown to the ground. She sustained a fracture of the collar bone and one rib was also broken. She was taken in the automobile to the home of R. W. Denny, where Dr. Claybaugh attended her.

Mrs. Davis was then brought to Sedalia and was sent to her home at Lincoln by train this afternoon.

DOSEN'T LOOK LIKE STRIKE

Missouri Pacific and Engineers to "Get Together."

(Wednesday's Daily.)

Information by letter was received in this city this morning from a B. of L. E. official, stating that the labor difficulties between the engineers and Missouri Pacific officials have not yet been settled, although the outlook for a settlement is brighter, according to the letter.

National Labor Commissioner Neill is still in conference with the men and another session is being held today.

TWO MEN FOUND DEAD

THEY WERE LOCKED IN EACH OTHER'S ARMS AT HAMILTON, OHIO.

WAS IT A SUICIDE OR ACCIDENT?

One Had Come From Cincinnati and the Other From Lancaster, Ky. —A Strange Third Man Has Vanished.

Hamilton, Ohio, Sept. 25.—A mysterious double suicide of two young men, apparently 23 and 28 years of age, was discovered in room No. 11 at the St. Charles hotel at 11 o'clock Monday night by the manager of the hotel, Charles Bolger.

They ended their lives by inhaling gas, having closed the windows and transom, and were found locked in each other's arms.

From what could be learned the two suicides and a third man got off the 11:30 Cincinnati Northern Traction car Sunday night and were directed by Merchant Policeman Oliver to the St. Charles hotel, where they registered as John Leonell, Ben Marsee and Tom McLaughlin, giving no addresses.

Officer Oliver is positive that each man carried a grip, while Night Clerk Charles Brunson, of the St. Charles, is equally as positive that but one of them carried a grip, an ordinary leather satchel.

On the arrival of Coroner Schumacher a close exaxmination of the dead men's clothes was made, and, after they came to the conclusion that the suicides were probably John Leonell and Tom McLaughlin.

A souvenir postal card was found in Leonal's coat addressed to Mary Horsenger, Rural Free Delicery Route No. 8, Lancaster, Ky. His hat, a straw, was purchased of R. H. Baston, Lancaster, Ky.; also an excursion ticket fom Cincinnati to Lancaster, Ky., dated September 22, and a receipt on the Cincinnati Northern Traction line, showing he boarded a traction car at Cumminsville. His suit was a dark gray, with a broad check. Both men wore tan shoes and striped stockings.

The only clew to the identification of the suicide supposed to be McLaughlin lies in the marks on his linen collar, size 15, and that his necktie was purchased in Hillsboro, Texas. He wore a good black suit of clothes. Leonell had $22.25 and McLaughlin $1.85.

A strange feature of the remarkable suicide lies in the fact that the third man, supposed to be Ben Marsee, left the hotel early Monday morning without any breakfast and has not been seen since. Also that when the three registered last night none of them gave their residence.

Manager Bolger, of the St. Charles, when told at 11 o'clock Monday morning by the chambermaid that the two men in No. 11 had not arisen, looked over the transom, heard them breathing, which he says was natural, and decided not to awaken them. There is a possibility that the men were accidentally asphyxiated, but their moving around in bed and their natural breathing, as heard by Manager Bolger, inclines Coroner Schumacher to the belief that the men deliberately suicided.

TAFT IN RUSSIA

Big Secretary of War to Be Accorded Honors of Royalty.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 25.—The Russian government is taking measures to surround Secretary Taft's journey through Siberia and European Russia with the attentions usually reserved for rulers of states, and the press is busily speculating on the likelihood and advantages of a Russo-American convention, the object of Taft's visit to Russia being, it is alleged, to negotiate an agreement between the United States and Russia.

The conviction prevails here that war between Japan and the United States is inevitable in the not distant future.

Putting in Curbing.

Ira E. Melton, with Charles Hoffman, the East Sedalia grocer, is having granitoid curbing put down in front of his two pieces of property owned by him, 901 and 905 East Broadway. It is improvements of this kind that make a city.

Another Missouri Town "Dry."

Montgomery City, Mo., Sept. 24.—New Florence, this county, is now in the "dry" column. William Verser has quit the saloon business and gone to farming. He claims the temperance people made such a fight on his business that it made it no longer profitable. The temperance crusade in that place has waged, at intervals, for many years.

Rubey Not Candidate.

Montgomery City, Mo., Sept. 24.—Harry Rubey, prominently mentioned as a candidate for state treasurer in the coming campaign, stated to a reporter yesterday that he would not seek the office. He said his private affairs would forbid him making a canvass for the state office. He may, however, be a candidate for representative from his district.

Quite an Accident.

A large slab of marble that was being prepared for the Citizens' National bank was blown over at C. H. Heynen's marble works yesterday, breaking it in several pieces, and now Mr. Heynen has several nice biscuit boards to sell at your own price.

OPERATOR WAS ASLEEP

TELLS THE CORONER'S JURY HE IS RESPONSIBLE FOR TRAINMEN'S DEATHS.

HE HEARD ORDERS WHEN TOO LATE

Operator Released Upon Own Recognizance Until Persecutor Makes Investigation of Monday's Katy Collision.

Moberly, Mo., Sept. 25.—After hearing the story of M. Brown, the Paris, Mo., operator, who fell asleep while the message giving the train orders was being transmitted to his office, the coroner's jury today reached a verdict holding Brown to blame for the head on Katy fast freight collision here Monday, in which four train men lost their lives and as many more were seriously injured. Brown was released by Prosecuting Attorney J. W. Wright, Jr., upon his own recognizance. The prosecuting attorney will peruse the statutes before filing information.

Brown arrived here from Paris yesterday morning with the constable who served summons on him to appear before the coroner's jury.

Brown admitted to the jury that he had been asleep when No. 435, westbound, passed through Paris, and that he did not hear the orders until it was too late to warn the crews of the onrushing trains of their danger.

Brown told of the horror that seized him as he realized that it was but a question of time until the trains would probably crash into each other. His only hope was that the engineers would sight each other on a straight stretch of track. The trains met on a sharp curve.

Brown told the coroner's jury that he assumed the entire blame for the wreck. He came here prepared to furnish bond in any amount, should the prosecuting attorney file upon him for the lives of the four trainmen.

The bodies of the four trainmen have been shipped to their homes for burial. The debris of the wreck has been cleared.

CONSOLIDATION NOW CERTAIN

Immunity Bath Makes Sale of the Alton a Sure Thing.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—The granting of immunity to the Chicago & Alton yesterday removed the only obstacle in the way of the ratification of the sale by the Rock Island of the controlling interest in the Alton to the Toledo, St. Louis and Western, and the consolidation ultimately of the Alton, Clover Leaf, Minneapolis and St. Louis and Iowa Central roads.

Tammany Politician Assaulted

New York, Sept. 24.—John J. Dooley, politician and member of Tammany hall, who is seeking the democratic leadership in the twenty-third assembly district of this city, was assaulted as he was on his way home early this morning by two unknown persons. He sustained a fractured skull and possible internal injuries.

HE DIVED UNDER A TRAIN

DRINK-CRAZED CONTRACTOR'S HEAD WAS CUT OFF AT PITTSBURG.

HE RETIRED WITH $200,000 CASH

Spent $50,000 on a Private Luna Park of Weird Design—Drunk Thirty-Nine Years and Was Never Sober.

Pittsburg, Sept. 25.—Thomas McDermott, aged 6 years, a very wealthy retired contractor, killed himself Monday afternoon by throwing himself in front of a train, which would have taken him to St. Francis' hospital, where he was to have been treated for the drink habit.

McDermott was one of the most unique characters in the upper Ohio valley. His wife some time ago petitioned the court that he be declared an habitual drunkard, alleging that he had not drawn a sober breath in thirty-nine years.

The trouble between McDermott and his wife was brought about by his building a private Luna park in the woods back of his home, and he had spent perhaps $50,000 on it.

He erected an immense double decked pavillion, which embraced many trees, the platform being built around them.

The light of this park was most weird. McDermott bored a gas well 2,500 feet deep and piped the gas to each of sixty trees in the park. He had lights coming from every conceivable angle and height of the different trees.

After he had lighted up the park the first night his wife declared he was crazy, and sent for an alienist, who remained with McDermott for ten days and declared him sane.

McDermott, on hearing his visitor was an alienist, chased his wife off the farm with a gun. She then brought an action, but the case was settled amicably a few days ago, McDermott agreeing to confine himself to a limited number of drinks of whiskey daily. Should he exceed this number or get drunk he was to go where his wife willed or be locked up.

Last Sunday he got on a fearful tear, and Monday morning his wife decided to lock him up in St. Francis' hospital, this city, for treatment.

He was on his way to the hospital with his brother-in-law, John Deune, when he decided to end it all.

Shouting "Goodby, John," he dived head first under the Beaver Falls express, which was coming to a stop at the Agnew station to take the pair on board. McDermott's head was severed.

Thomas McDermott was one of the fortunate young contractors of Pittsburg after the civil war, and he retired twenty years ago with a fortune of perhaps $250,000. Mrs. McDermott says he spent most of this for "whiskey and other foolishness."

TAFT'S MANAGER GRATIFIED

Says Action of Nebraska Convention in Endorsing Secretary Gratifying

Columbus, O., Sept. 25.—A. J. Vories, political manager for Secretary Taft, today gave out the following statement:

"The endorsement of Mr. Taft by the Nebraska republican state convention is extremely gratifying, and is responsive to the overwhelming sentiment prevailing ont only in that state but everywhere throughout the country.

"While Kansas has endorsed Mr. Taft through its republican state committee, Nebraska is the first state to endorse him through a republican state convention, and Nebraska is the first of any state outside of favorite son states to take any action on the presidency."

AN ACCIDENT IN FRANCE

Railroad Train Telescoped in Tunnel —Nineteen Injured.

Mantes, France, Sept. 25.—A trans-Atlantic train carrying first class passengers from Paris to Cherbough, where they were to embark on the White Star steamer Adriatic, was telescoped today in the Breval tunnel and nineteen persons injured, none fatally. The names of the injured are not available. Several suffered broken limbs.

Had Several Initiations.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

Nickell, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Lamm, C. A. Miller, Mary Border, O. G. Agee, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Gwinte, W. G. Dette, E. Wallett, Ursula Estes and Ida Dix.

President Starts for Washington.

Oyster Bay, Sept. 25.—The president this morning began his journey to Washington, ending his summer vacation. A large number of villagers gathered at the station and gave him a hearty sendoff.

First Frost Last Night.

(Wednesday's Daily.)

Farmers in from the country early this morning reported a light frost in the lowlands last night, but no particular damage was done.

Frost in Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Lacrosse, Wis., Sept. 25.—The first killing frost of the season struck Western Wisconsin and Southern Minnesota today.

A BUSHEL OF FUN AHEAD

AT THE STATE FAIR WHEN THE FOUR MILE RELAY RACES ARE PULLED OFF.

CHANGE HORSES END OF EACH MILE

Every Day of Missouri's Event at Sedalia Crowded With Entertainment—Program of the Big Fair.

Three of the features on the race card for the Missouri state fair, Oct. 5-11, that have not been exploited, but which promise a "bushel of fun," are the four-mile relay running, purse $150 each, to be run on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, horses to be changed at the end of each mile.

Last year these relay races were ridden by Montana "cowgirls." This year they are open to the world, and any four-legged "critter" that can run at all is eligible to enter, the conditions being that at least five shall enter and three start.

When the possibilities for neighborhood combinations in order to aggregate a sufficient "lump" of speed are considered, and the fact remembered that the race, especially the relay race, is not always to the swift, the fun in store for the spectators can be appreciated. In the language of the rail-bird, "Barnum's trick mule wouldn't be a circumstance to that race."

Briefly summarized, the official program of the state fair is as follows:

Friday, Oct. 4. Preparation day.—All exhibits will be installed by evening.

Saturday, Opening day.—All exhibits in order and ready for inspection; music galore and a race card that will afford sport for all speed lovers.

Sunday.—Closed.

Monday, Old Settlers' day.— Judging exhibits will begin in all departments at 9 o'clock; band concerts at all exhibit buildings; addresses by prominent speakers to annual meeting of old settlers; flights by Strobel's big airship, and a full race card.

Tuesday, Sedalia day.—Besides the ten-mile automobile race, four-mile relay running race, $1,000 trot and two $600 pacing races, band concerts and vaudeville, there will be a parade of Shetlands and coach horses.

Wednesday, Governor's day.— Reception to Governor Folk, escorted by National Guard and marching club and an address by the governor in the live stock pavillion; annual meeting of State Sheep Breeders' association; six big races; second section of automobile race and airship flights.

Thursday, Missouri day—Grand parade of prize-winning mules, awarding the American saddle horse championship silver trophy, automobile and relay running races.

Friday, Fraternal day.—Full race card, with big purses; prize drills by uniformed fraternity teams; grand parade of all prize-winning horses and cattle, and the final run in the automobile race.

TWO HAPPY; ONE PLEASED

DEMOCRAT-SENTINEL RECOVERS LOST ARTICLES FOR TWO SEDALIA LADIES.

A SHAWL LOST OVER TWO MONTHS

Is Returned to Mrs. Peter Brandt, Who Used a Democrat-Sentinel "Lost Ad"—Rev. Mathis Got Buyers Before Breakfast.

Scarcely a day passes but what the Democrat-Sentinel's Want, Lost or For Sale ads do somebody good. They gladdened the hearts of two persons yesterday and also sold some vehicles and a horse for another.

Monday Mrs. Peter Brandt ordered a Lost ad inserted for a silk shawl which she lost two or three months ago. She did not miss the wrap until Sunday, when she went to get it to wear.

She searched everywhere for it, and at last concluded that she must have dropped it from her buggy while out driving the last time she had it, over two months ago.

She decided to try a Lost ad, ordering one for two insertions, at the time having no hope whatever of ever seeing the shawl again.

The ad appeared Monday afternoon, and yesterday morning her property was returned.

Another lady, whose name is unknown, lost a pair of spectacles and ordered a Lost ad, paying for six insertions. The glasses were found with one insertion, and the money, excepting for the one insertion given, was returned.

Rev. G. W. Mathis ordered a For Sale ad Monday for two insertions, to dispose of a horse, a surrey and a buggy. He had buyers galore, some coming before breakfast yesterday, and by 10 o'clock he had the property sold, the money in his pocket, and was at the Democrat-Sentinel office to order the ad "killed."

Rev. Mathis said the ad brought buyers in crowds and that he was thoroughly satisfied and convinced of the quick action of these little ads give.

Every day something could be written about these little ads and what they accomplish. They find servant girls (scarce as they are in Sedalia), rent houses and rooms with apparent ease, bring about real estate deals, and sell anything "listed" with them.

CORONER'S HORSE FELL

That Is Why Dr. Titsworth Is Limping Today.

Dr. Guy Titsworth, coroner, was the victim of a painful accident, which occurred near Charles Hoffman's grocery store on East Fifth street at about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

He was riding his prize saddle horse at a rapid gate along that thoroughfare, when the animal slid and fell, throwing the rider to the brick pavement.

In the fall the doctor's knees and legs were badly bruised and lacerated, while other contusions about the body caused much pain.

In consequence of the accident, Dr. Titsworth is doing the "limping stunt" today.

Dr. Titsworth was later removed to Maywood hospital, where he is confined to his bed. A report from there this afternoon states that he is resting easily.

LOST WITH ALL ON BOARD?

Lake Steamer, With Crew and Big Passenger List, Missing.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 25.— The Anchor line steamer Japan is reported lost with all hands and a big passenger list, west of the Soo.

She left the Soo Sunday night, eleven hours late at Marquette, and nothing has been heard from her.

The office here says she may be under shelter at White Fish bay.

Married Last Evening.

(Wednesday's Daily.)

James Hendrix, a Missouri Pacific boilermaker helper, and Miss Mary Stumpf, also of this city, were married quietly by the Rev. Fr. Christian Daniel at the parochial residence of Sacred Heart church at 7 o'clock last evening. Louie and Miss Lizzie Stumpf acted as witnesses.

TAFT IN LEAD FOR REPUBLICAN NOMINATION.

A remarkable poll of the country with regard to the probable nomination by the republicans of a presidential candidate has just been concluded by the Chicago Tribune. The canvass covered the entire country from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and every one of the forty-five states is represented. It was limited to prominent active citizens of the various states—those who control or who command a large influence in the party councils and its organizations. Inasmuch as the indorsements of the presidential favorites by the states will be made almost entirely through state conventions, which will be controlled in part or in whole by these men the results obtained may be regarded as correctly indicating the situation within the republican party at this time.

The total number of replies received was nearly 5,000, of which, on the general question as to administration, 4,013 favored a continuance of the Roosevelt policy, with 343 against it. Out of the same number, 3,626 declared themselves in favor of the somewhat ambiguously termed "progressive candidate," while 614 were for a "conservative" nominee. In the matter of personal preference, the replies were even more significant. For first choice, Secretary Taft leads, with 2,512 votes, four times as many as the next highest candidate, excluding Roosevelt, who receives 689 votes. Hughes has 660 on the first ballot, but has the most votes for second choice, 1,518, nearly double the number given Taft, and three times the number given Cannon and Fairbanks.

Cannon and Fairbanks appear to have about equal strength, with the speaker gaining strength more rapidly after the first ballot. Cannon's first choice vote is 281 and Fairbanks' 290. Knox receives 200 for first choice and runs up to 665 on third. La Follette has 335 initial supports, but they all desert him on the second ballot. Root is near the foot of the list, with only 149 votes, while Foraker has 74, presumably his supporters in Ohio.

This test shows unmistakably that Taft at the present time is well in the lead for the republican nomination. He appears to meet the qualifications of those in the party who desire a "progressive" policy, an impression, however, which has been gained, we think, more by President Roosevelt's domination over his secretary of war and his endorsement of his candidacy than by either Taft's personality or his record.

But it must be remembered that the presidential campaign has not commenced in earnest yet. A few weeks of active campaigning and manipulation of political wires may alter the situation entirely. Taft, while having the best chances today, may have altogether a different standing six months hence, although we confess we see no signs of such a change now. On the contrary, his trip around the world ought to strengthen his position, as it did that of Mr. Bryan.

FARMERS UNPROTECTED.

It is perhaps not generally known that there was imported into the United States during the fiscal year 1906, 70,897,179 pounds of cotton of the value of $10,878,433, which makes the price 15 3-10 cents a pound in the country from which imported. It is estimated that there will be imported from Egypt alone this year about 115,000 bales of cotton, which will cost about $10,000,000, the Egyptian cotton being long staple of the sea island variety, it sells for a much higher price than our upland cotton. This imported cotton only competes with our sea-island product, and as there is not sufficient of that quality raised here to supply the demand, it is probable that the price of the home product is not reduced by these imports.

As there is no tariff on cotton, the southern planter is not protected from competition, but as he is now receiving a fair price for his product with a rising market he is making money.

The republican theory of protecting the wheat farmer with a tariff of 25 cents a bushel, is shown, by the low price of wheat during the past year, to be useless, because no product can be protected from competition by placing a tariff tax on it, of which there is a surplus that must be sold abroad.

Our surplus of both cotton and wheat must be sold in the markets of the world in competition with the surplus of other countries, and the demand in those markets regulates the price of the whole crop wherever grown and wherever sold.

The tariff tax on wheat was not included in the Dingley law to protect the wheat farmer, but as a deceptive snare to lure him to continue to vote the republican ticket, and the republican leaders who enacted a tariff on wheat knew they were trying to deceive the wheat farmer when they put it into the law. They would likewise have placed a tariff tax on cotton to try and deceive the cotton grower, but as these were all democrats such a tariff tax would have been politically useless.

The growing political independence of the farmers of the wheat growing states has been brought about by their discovery that the protection does not protect the farmer, but does impose a heavy tax on him by the high prices that the tariff protected trusts charge for what he buys. Those intelligent farmers who have always supported democratic policies know this, and now their republican neighbors are also having their eyes opened.

THE STRIKE TO SPREAD

THINK RAILROAD AND BROKERAGE MEN WILL SOON WALK OUT.

RAILWAY OPERATORS ARE LET OUT

Because They Refused to Handle Western Union Business—The Messengers May Also Make New Demands.

New York, Sept. 25.—That the strike of the telegraphers will spread seemed to be the prevailing opinion among the strikers last night.

The new move, according to report, is to affect not only the Wall street telegraphers and press operators not under agreement, but possibly the railroad operators throughout the country.

It was said at the Astor House last night that operators in broker offices were coming in from Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and other nearby points to attend the chapel meeting of the Wall street telegraphers to be held Wednesday afternoon. At this meeting the question of calling the men out will be considered.

Secretary Frederick Schweers, of the Messengers' and Clerks' union, is quoted as saying that the messenger boys probably will strike before the end of the week. One of their demands will be for free uniforms.

The strikers think the strike will spread to the railroad telegraphers because two men have been discharged by the Southern railroad for refusing to handle commercial business. This action by the Southern, it was said, is in the nature of a test case.

Should a strike be called on the Southern, it is said, the members of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers on the Gould roads, such as the Missouri Pacific, Texas Pacific, Iron Mountain, Wabash and Denver & Rio Grande, will walk out.

The Order of Railway Telegraphers has given the Commercial Telegraphers' union $35,000 up to date in the present strike.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

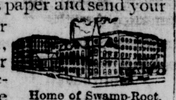

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

GIRL IS DRIVEN INSANE

BY THE TAUNTS OF HER COMPANIONS OVER WRONGDOING OF MOTHER.

CRAZED A 17-YEAR-OLD DAUGHTER

Mother Had Kept House of Ill Repute, but Child Knew Nothing of It Until 'Twas Thrown Up to Her by Girls.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 24.—The story of Miss Juanita Harris, who was taken to the Central hospital for the insane yesterday, is a pathetic one.

She was employed in a hotel laundry, and yesterday a commission found that she was insane because her laundry girls taunted her with the fact that her mother had been the keeper of a resort.

The latter was sent to the insane hospital a few weeks ago, which also worried the 17-year-old daughter.

The young woman had been placed in a good home by the mother, and she knew nothing of the latter's manner of life until recently.

HE'D LIKE TO PUNCH HIM

HE'S TOO SMALL, HOWEVER, I'M AFTER HARRIMAN, SAYS DEPOSED PRESIDENT.

NO ANSWER TO LATEST CHARGES

Illinois Central Director Hurries to Conference With Advisors—Admits Road Lost Money, but Not Any Great Sum.

New York, Sept. 26.—Stuyvesant Fish, who was made the subject of a bitter attack in a letter written by J. T. Harahan, president of the Illinois Central road, did not intend to come to his office yesterday, but when, at his breakfast, he read the serious accusations of Mr. Harahan, he left his residence and as quickly as possible came to the city.

Some of the allegations were of so serious a character that it was thought Mr. Fish would promptly make a reply. Shortly after his arrival in the city he put himself into communication with his friends and legal advisers, and afterward made up his mind that no reply to Mr. Harahan was necessary for the time being.

When asked, however, if he would give Mr. Harahan another stiff punch on the jaw, were the latter present, he said:

"You bet I would; though he's hardly worth bothering with, for all that. I'm not after him. He is too small. I'm gunning for Harriman. He's the man I want."

Recurring to Harahan's charges, Mr. Fish said:

"They are made of whole cloth, and my present intention is not to notice the charges."

"But, Mr. Fish, can you afford to pass by the charge that the Illinois Central funds were loaned to the defunct Trust Company of the Republic and that the road had made a loss?" asked the reporter.

"There's little in that," he replied, "there were loans made to Daniel Leroy Dresser, as loans are made every day to people who are seeking money, but that you will find in Harriman's testimony."

"Was this money paid back, and did the Illinois Central suffer a loss?"

"Yes, the road did lose money, but not much. Of course, I made loans to Dresser and other individuals and banking corporations made loans to them."

It was plain that, though outwardly calm, Mr. Harahan's accusations had pained his co-director greatly. Mr. Fish evidently regarded Mr. Harahan's statement as a reflection upon his honor, and it seemed as though he felt it acutely.

There was little new in the charges made by President Harahan in his reply to Mr. Fish's circular, for they were practically a repetition of the statements made by E. H. Harriman, when he was on the stand last spring before the interstate commerce commission. Their repetition at this time, however, when both sides to the controversy are securing proxies for use at the annual meeting of the stockholders on October 16 are expected to keep alive the animosities that have been aroused by this factional contest in the Illinois Central board.

THE LADIES CLEARED $25

This, Too, Despite the Fact That the Sale Was Postponed.

The ladies of the Longwood M. E. church, South, had arranged to serve dinner at the Cartwright sale, Thursday, but owing to the rain, which continued to noon, but few of the members put in an appearance.

Mesdames Willis Taylor, Jordon Kemp and a few others, however, braved the elements with filled baskets. While there was no sale, a good number gathered at the Cartwright home, and the ladies served a fine set dinner, of which all partook.

Col. Hieronymus then sold the fishes and loaves, and when all was over the ladies found $25 in their treasury. So well were they pleased that they decided to serve dinner again on October 14th, to which time Mr. Cartwright postponed his sale.

PERJURY IN BORAH CASE

ONE WITNESS ADMITS FALSE STATEMENT IN FILING LAND CLAIM.

IMMUNITY BATH WAS PROMISED

Albert Nugent Says That He Swore Complaint Against Man He Did Not Know—The Case Is Well On.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 26.—In the Borah trial today, former Judge Burch, sent here by the government to take an active part in the prosecution, announced that the government would offer as one of its principal witnesses George W. Long, who, it is alleged, acted as a "dummy trustee" to receive the title to the claims from the "dummy entrymen," and transfer the property of the latter to the Barber Lumber Co., of Wisconsin, for which concern Borah acted as attorney.

Confessed to Perjury.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 26.—The first sensation in the trial of United States Senator William E. Borah came late yesterday, when Albert Klanop Nugent, the second witness produced by the government, admitted on cross-examination that he committed perjury in taking out a timber land claim; admitted that he had been promised absolute immunity by an officer of the federal government for testifying; admitted that, at the request of the federal officer, he had sworn to a complaint against a man whom he did not know, and, lastly, proclaimed that he believed it to be part of his bargain for immunity that he should swear to any complaint against any person regardless of any knowledge that he might have as to the person's guilt.

When the name of the federal officer who induced him to sign the complaint was asked by Senator Borah's counsel, witness swore positively that he could not remember it.

The day was given over to the introduction of a mass of paper on file in land office here at Boise and to the evidence of two men who said they received money from John I. Wells with which to prove their timber land claims. Wells is one of the ten indicted with Senator Borah. Counsel for the latter did not object to the testimony on the understanding that the transaction in question would ultimately be connected up in some way with the senator on trial.

The defense scored its first point of the trial early in the examination of the first witness, a man named Anderson. He was asked by Special Prosecutor Rush what his intent was when he took out a timber claim. Judge Whitson, who is presiding, sustained an objection based on the ground that a man confessing perjury as Anderson did could not properly testify to any secret intent he may have had locked up in his breast.

Anderson and Nugent both testified that they received from John I. Wells $412 with which to prove their claims, and each received $250 additional for transferring the claims to the Barber Lumber company's interests. Two bills given to the men by Wells, and a letter from Wells to Nugent were admitted in evidence.

Anderson, an elderly Swede, was not cross questioned, but Nugent admitted that he had made no agreement to transfer his lands at the time he filed upon them. He said that there never was anything but a verbal agreement, and he couldn't remember where or in whose presence such a contract was made.

Nugent said he witnessed the papers filed by Anderson, and was then confronted by a complaint signed by him charging Louis M. Pritchard with having conspired with Anderson to get title to the land. Nugent said he did not know any such person or anything about his connection with the alleged land frauds, declaring that all he knew was what he had read in some newspaper, a story to the effect that Pritchard was involved.

Prosecutor Rush demanded to know of the witness if any officer of the government had ever asked him to swear falsely. Nugent replied that he had always been told to tell nothing but the truth. Mr. Rush said he had never heard of Nugent's connection with the Pritchard complaint and desired time to look further into the matter before completing his examination.

At this juncture the proceedings were adjourned until today.

Cartwright Sale Postponed.

J. B. Cartwright's sale on the old Dr. Cartwright place, 14 miles north of Sedalia, which was advertised for Thursday, was, on account of the rain, postponed to Monday, October 14, 1907.

Ada, O., Sept. 24.— Because Amos Clark, aged 40, a farmer living on the Lewisten reservoir, near here, openly defied the Lord, it is believed he was struck dead in his front yard Sunday night.

Clark has been known as an atheist for years, and Sunday night, in the presence of his family and several neighbors, said there was no God, and defied the Supreme Being to punish him.

No sooner had the words left his lips than he was stricken and died in a few minutes.

His family is composed of christian boys and girls who have been secretly trained and instructed by their mother.

IS AGAINST INNOVATION

MASSACHUSETTS SAVINGS BANK CFFICER OPPOSES INSURANCE DEPARTMENT.

IT WILL ACCOMPLISH NO GOOD

Recent Law of His State Should Not Be Taken Advantage of by Legitimate Savings Institutions.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 24.—Before the National Bankers' association convention being held here today, Alfred L. Aiken, treasurere of the Worcester County Institution for Savings, of Worcester, Mass., described the new law passed by the Massachusetts legislature permitting the establishment of a life insurance department by savings banks. Commenting thereon, he said:

"I confess that I can see no merit in it beyond that of ingenuity. Perhaps as a savings bank official and therefore fairly conservative in my point of view, I am timid in welcoming such an innovation; but it seems to me that it is very desirable that the savings banks, which are pre-eminently the banks of the thrifty wage earner, should be kept free from any undertaking that is in a measure speculative and experimental, as the savings bank insurance plan, by its own friends, is admitted to be.

The entrance upon any experimental field would be looked upon with great suspicion by all classes of depositors and would create a feeling of distrust which has heretofore been conspicuous by its absence. My doubts as to the success of the plan would perhaps be less clearly defined had I been able to find a single life insurance expert who believed for one minute that the plan would succeed or had I found the treasurer of a single large and active savings bank who endorsed the bill."

Mr. Aiken said the attempt of the British postoffice to carry on a life insurance business was unsuccessful. The results there, he said, were positively laughable to the active insurance men and must discourage the optimist who longs for savings insurance banks. Continuing he said:

"There really can be but one excuse for the measure, namely, the hope that it may provide cheaper life insurance for the wage earner, but it seems to me that there is no substantial ground for such a hope. In all our large centers of population, and it is only there that small insurance companies can live, it will cost the insured as much to get his premium to the bank by his own efforts as would be his contributing share in the salary of the collector provided by the company.

"The investments of this savings insurance bank are restricted just as are those of the savings bank proper. The scope of the competing life insurance company is much wider; its taxes are about half as great. With a narrower and less remunerative field for investment, with the state tax approximately twice as heavy, with a mortality as great and subject to a much greater variation than that of the individual insurance company as now conducted, how can we hope for cheaper life insurance from this source.

"The petitioners for this measure have publicly stated that the extension of the functions of a savings bank to cover industrial life insurance was because the confidence in which the savings banks are held in the community would make for the success of this entirely extraneous business. It seems to me that the trustees of a savings bank have no more right to use that good will in exploiting this proposed business than they have to use the more tangible assets of the bank."

GETTING IN THE CROPS.

The Importance of Safe Shelter Emphasized by E. L. Vincent.

I am never really happy till all my farm crops are safely under cover. In fact I do not know that I have any crops that will bring me anything until all have been stowed away out of the reach of storm and weather. The next thing to this is threshing out of doors just as soon as the grain is dry enough; and often we are not able to do this because we cannot get a thresher when we want him.

I know it costs to provide buildings for a large farm. The first expense of building in these days is high, for lumber and building material of all kinds are high in price. It is also a fact that the farmer who has many buildings must set aside no small sum every year to pay for repairs and insurance.

And yet, stop and think that the loss of one crop through storm or other adverse cirsumstances would offset all this and more, too for a good many years. Take a wheat crop of 50 acres, for example. Say that it would yield 18 bushels to the acre, which, by the way, is the report from one of the first crops threshed in Illinois this year. That would mean a yield of 900 bushels, worth at a fair estimate a dollar a bushel.

There have been years when we have lost about one-half the value of our crop by reason of storm. We could not thresh when we should and the grain we did get was not worth as much as it would have been could it have been put in the bins in good order. What does this mean? What but that we have sustained a money loss of $450 in that one year's crop. That would keep the buildings up in good repair for a great many years.

But wheat is not the only crop most farmers of to-day harvest. There is hay, one of the best crops we have, bringing at the present writing in some parts of the country from $20 to $25 a ton. Also oats, another fine crop. The value of these depends largely on the condition at marketing or feeding. Stacking is always a risky business. Not one man out of a dozen can stack grain or hay so that it will keep any length of time.

Nothing adds to the looks or the worth of a farm more than good barns or sheds for storing grain. Prospective buyers always notice the condition of these buildings, and if there are none to notice they are very apt to pass on until they find farm which are thus furnished.

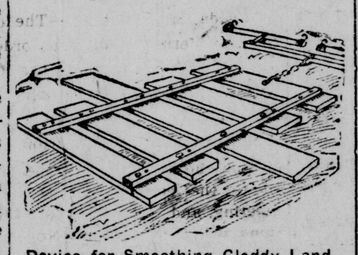

Still another point in favor of plenty of barn room is the stabling of stock. The day is fast going by when any farmer will feel easy in body or mind while a lot of his stock is out in the storm. Just think of the terrible losses every winter from stock exposure in the west! Leaving the humane part of it out of the question just now from an economical standpoint alone not a single farmer in all this country can afford to stand still and let a considerable part of his herd die in the winds and the snows of our northern winters.

Shall a man incur a debt to build farm barns? I hate debt as much as anyone on the face of the earth; but really I would rather go with poor clothes for years and years and economize in other ways rather than to go without barns. They will soon pay for themselves. They are the right thing for every up-to-date farmer.—Farmer's Review.

board two feet longer than the others. By this means, says Prairie Farmer, all small lumps are smoothed out which are usually left in turning when all the boards are of uniform length.

Growing Appreciation of Alfalfa.

Alfalfa is gradually spreading all over the country and its value is being recognized in almost every good farming community in every state in the union. Where the rain fall is heavy in summer it is a difficult crop to harvest because it takes so long to cure, but the value of alfalfa as a feed is sufficient to pay for the very best machinery to handle it and hay caps to cover it. When a farmer looks at his alfalfa and realizes that it is worth almost as much as the same weight in bran, he is willing to go to considerable trouble and expense to take proper care of it. Alfalfa, of course, is at home in the dryer irrigation districts of the west, but it may be almost as valuable in Ohio, New York state or New England. It is one of the very best dairy feeds ever grown on a farm. This is one reason why it is becoming so popular in the milk shipping districts adjacent to large cities.

BORROWED $1,500,000

S. FISH DID WHILE PRESIDENT OF THE ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILWAY.

HIS SECURITY WAS UNMARKETABLE

Declares a Director Advanced Money to Liquidate Debt and Save Road's Credit—Mr. Harahan's Charges.

Chicago, Ill., Sept 25.—"He (Stuyvesant Fish) loaned to himself as an individual about $1,500,000 from the treasury of the company (Illinois Central) upon security of his own selection which proved to be inadequate and unmarketable."

This and other startling allegations are made in a letter given out last night by J. T. Harahan, president of the Illinois Central railroad company, and addressed to the stockholders of the company.

The letter is a speedy retort to the letter of Mr. Fish, which was published yesterday, criticising the administration of Mr. Harahan, who succeeded to the presidency of the Illinois Central when Mr. Fish was ousted by the directors. Mr. Harahan's letter follows:

"The statement in the circular letter issued by Mr. Fish to the stockholders and published today, that the Illinois Central acounts have been padded or in any way manipulated, is absolutely untrue. He knows that there has been no change whatever in the relations of the Illinois Central with the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific. The resolutions presented by him some weeks ago to the board of directors, making these charges, were referred to the accounting, traffic and operating officers, and their reports, which were transmitted by me to the board of directors, show that the charges were utterly groundless and that the accounts have been kept precisely as they were under Mr. Fish's administration, and that the relations with all connecting lines are the same as before his retirement.

"His reference to the alleged domination by the Union Pacific is merely an effort to play upon what he supposes to be current prejudice, to further his own interest, and should not deceive anyone. The attack made by Mr. Fish upon the character of his fellow-directors and upon the operating, accounting and traffic officers of the company warrants a full statement to the stockholders of the reasons why Mr. Fish was not intrusted with the continued management of the property.

"I enclose herewith a copy of a letter adressed by eight directors of the company to Mr. Fish, under date of November 7, 1906, setting forth specially some of the reasons why they would not vote for his re-election as president. There were other reasons of a controlling character, which were referred to in general terms, but out of consideration for Mr. Fish were not specifically mentioned in that letter. The most conspicuous of these in that, while Mr. Fish was president of your company and, as such, the virtual custodian of its treasury, he loaned to himself as an individual about $1,500,000 from the treasury of the company upon security of his own selection, which proved to be inadequate and unmarketable.

"Mr Fish, being unable to repay the loan or to satisfactorily secure it, there were various consultations among his friends on the board of directors and negotiations designed for the payment of the indebtness and the protection of the credit of the company, as well as Mr. Fish's reputation. After it was demonstrated that Mr. Fish was unable to reimburse the company a director individually loaned him the money necessary to repay the company. In order to secure this loan Mr. Fish pledged not only the unmarketable collateral above mentioned, but also conveyed his residence in the City of New York and his undivided interest in the estate of the late Hamilton Fish.

"Out of consideration for Mr. Fish such conveyances were not placed on record. The director making the loan carried it for several years until Mr. Fish was able to liquidate it. Furthermore, Mr. Fish, who was a member of the executive committee of the Trust Company of the Republic, and was very active in its affairs, deposited a large amount of money of the Illinois Central railroad company after its credit was seriously impaired, and, although this was ultimately collected, the process required several months, and during that time the risk was a cause of grave anxiety to the directors.

"Moreover he loaned to the president of the Trust Company of the Republic individually money of the Illinois Central railroad company upon inadequate security with the result that the railroad company was unable to collect the entire amount and suffered a loss. It is due to the officers and directors whose motives and conduct have been impugned and to the stockholders to whom Mr Fish has addressed an appeal, based upon his charges that the facts should be known."

Why Our Business Grows

We have never found it necessary to resort to petty commercial tricks in order to gain customers, because we recognize the fact that no customer is of any great value to a store unless he has absolute confidence in its goods and service. We, therefore try to gain and maintain trade by giving people what they ask for; by supplying the best goods obtainable; by giving competent service in every way, and by making prices as low as we can, consistent with business safety. The result is that we have permanent customers. We want your trade, and if you will give us an opportunity to show you what we can do for you, we are sure you will find abundant reason for making this your family drug store.

THE ALTON GOT ITS BATH

ATTORNEL GENERAL BONAPARTE INSTRUCTED DISTRICT ATTORNEY NOT TO PROSECUTE.

IMMUNITY HAD BEEN PROMISED

Government Had to Keep Faith—Judge Landis Instructs Grand Jury to Investigate Statement of Standard's President.

Chicago, Sept 24.—It was decided today by United States Judge Landis that the Chicago and Alton railway shall not be further prosecuted for its connections with the granting of rebates to the Standard Oil company on its shipments of oil over that road.

It was claimed by Attorney General from an attack of appendicitis, Anna court by District Attorney Sims, that Mr. Morrison, the predecessor of Sims in office, had promised immunity to the Alton, provided it assisted in good faith in the prosecution of the Standard. General Bonaparte therefore held it to be the duty of the government to see that no further steps toward the punishment of the railroad be taken. Judge Landis instructed the grand jury to investigate the statement recently made by President Moffett, of the Standard, of Indiana, who claimed that other manufacturers were equally guilty with the Standard in receiving rebates and directed that a supoena be issued for Moffett to appear and give his testimony regarding the facts.

ROBBED A SHOPMAN

Bent Berry Fell into the Clutches of Cynthia Maupin.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

Bent Berry, a Missouri Pacific shopman, formerly of Benton county, visited the "palatial" residence of Cynthia Maupin, a notorious negress, in the "Bad Lands," last afternoon, and emerged from the dive shy $4.

He reported to Officers Baley and Redmon that he had been robbed, and the negress was arrested, later being identified by Berry as the person who got his money.

Cynthia, who is already out on bond in another case, was given a preliminary hearing before Judge Gresham, sitting as justice of the peace, ex-officio, and was held for criminal court in the sum of $250.

At the time the Democrat-Sentinel went to press she had not succeeded in giving bond, but the chances are she will soon be at liberty and again plying her vocation.

There are a great many people who have slight attacks of indigestion and dyspepsia nearly all the time. Their food may satisfy the appetite, but it fails to nourish the body simply because the stomach is not in a fit condition to do the work it is supposed to do. It can't digest the food you eat. The stomach should be given help. You ought to take something that will do the work your stomach can't do. Kodol for indigestion and dyspepsia, a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids, digests the food itself and gives strength and health to the stomach. Pleasant to take. Sold by Arlington pharmacy.

HAD A NARROW ESCAPE

Irwin Raut Was in a Runaway Accident Monday.

(Tuesday's Daily.)

Irwin Raut, representing the International Correspondence Schools, had a rather narrow escape from injury in a runaway accident at Clinton yesterday.

Accompanied by a driver for a Clinton liveryman, he started to drive from Clinton to Deepwater, in a vehicle pulled by a team of horses. When nearing Deepwater the animals became frightened and made a dash forward.

Mr. Raut inquired of the driver if he was unable to manage the team, to which the driver replied "yes," and he immediately loosened the lines to hand them to Mr. Raut.

Instantly the horses began running at a break-neck speed. The driver, who is a cripple, jumped from the vehicle and fractured his leg, while Mr. Raut retained his position and stopped the team before any other damage had been done.

Mr. Fults is to Retire.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

Dan A. Fults, who has been assisting Manager Frank E. Gibbons at the Western Union telegraph office for several weeks, will retire tonight or tomorrow.

Sunday Mr. Fults goes to Jacksonville, Ill., where he will get his sample line of clothing preliminary to a six months' campaign in Nebraska

Not only is Mr. Fults a first-class operator, but he is a crackerjack clothing salesman as well, and that he will have a prosperous season on the road the Democrat-Sentinel has not the least doubt.

Occasional headache, belching, bad taste in the mouth, lack of appetite and slight nervousness are symptoms of indigestion, which, when allowed to go uncared for, will develop into a case of dyspepsia that will take a long time to get rid of. Don't neglect your stomach. At the first indication of trouble take something that will help it along in its work of digesting the food you eat. Kodol for indigestion and dyspepsia will do this. Kodol will make your food do you good and will enable you to enjoy what you eat. Sold by Arlington pharmacy

RIVALRY IN LOVE MOTIVE

Was Jealous of Attentions Paid His Sweetheart.

Shamokin, Pa., Sept. 25.—Jealous for some time past because his friend, Michael Morad, paid attentions to his sweetheart, Michael Bordner armed himself with a revolver, entered the former's home and shot Morad through the head, killing him.

Bordner later packed his clothes at a boarding house to escape to New York. Friends of Morad learned of the crime and captured Bordner as he was about to leave the boarding house. They turned him over to the police, who held him without bail.

COMBS OF FOWLS.

They Are a Good Index to the Health of the Bird.

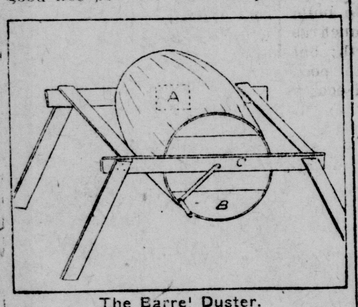

The comb of the fowl may count for much or it may count for little. In a cold country it is of more consequence than it is in a warm country, because if too much exposed it freezes. For this reason fowls having large thin combs are not so well suited to the cold north as are those fowls that have thick, compact combs, which we generally designate as "rose combs." Some fowls, like the Polish, have head gears that seem to fit them for life in a cold climate. The man that in the west cannot give his fowls much protection from the weather will do well to choose those that have naturally protected combs.

The combs of the fowls are receptacles for blood, and this does not seem to be in motion. Consequently it freezes easily, and it is the common impression among poultry raisers that a fowl that has had her comb frozen is of no value for egg laying operations. When fowls get ready to lay their condition is always shown by their combs. When a bird is being bled to death by mites the comb shows the loss of blood by becoming pale. The comb is therefore quite a good index of the health of the fowl.

Barrel Contrivance Makes the Operation an Easy One.

the barrel with the fowls and turn the crank, says the Missouri Valley Farmer. The dust will go through the feathers thoroughly, killing the lice. Do it in the morning and turn the fowls loose.

POULTRY POINTS.

Oats are manifestly an egg-producing food.

Cripples and stunted specimens spoil the appearance of a flock, besides taking up much needed room. Weed them out.—Farm Journal.

It does not pay to keep any except strong, vigorous chicks. Any that appear weak after receiving proper care and food should be disposed of.

If the fowls are confined in yards where the ground is bare of grass, the earth should be turned over frequently, either with a spade or a hand cultivator, if the yard is small, or with a plow, harrow or horse cultivator if the yard is large.

Milk, whole or skim, sweet or sour, is an excellent food for fowls and may be fed by itself or used to mix the mash provided a mash is a part of the ration. Milk, however, will not take the place of water as a drink and the latter must be furnished also.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

WHAT WAS DONE AT ADJOURNED SESSION HELD LAST EVENING.

WILL REPAIR ASPHALT STREETS

Brown Roofing Company Is to Do the Work—Red Men Will Hold Their Carnival at Liberty Park Grounds.

(Tuesday's Daily.)

City council met in adjourned session last night, Messrs. Hagelman and Winner being absent.

Forty days' time was granted the Byrne Construction company in which to complete macadamizing West Sixteenth street.

The Metropolitan Engineering and Construction Co., of Kansas City, bid $2.18 for repairing asphalt streets in the city, while the Brown Roofing Co., of Sedalia, bid three cents less. The latter firm got the contract.

An ordinance for a sub-sewer in district No. 38 was passed.

An ordinance for a sub-sewer in district No. 39 was also passed.

An ordinance for concrete sidewalks on Tenth street from Ingram to Engineer avenue was passed.

A resolution for curbing West Sixteenth street was adopted.

Apache tribe No. 55, I. O. R. M., made another appeal to the council to use Osage avenue for a carnival from October 7 to 12.

The council refused the permission, Messrs. DeJarnette, Andler and Sullivan voting in favor of granting the privilege, while Messrs. Crawford, Hatton and Ilgenfritz voted in the negative.

A motion carried to grant the Red Men free use of Liberty park for the carnival, and a suggestion will be made to the park board with that end in view.

An ordinance for sidewalks on the east side of Ohio avenue from Eighteenth to Twenty-fourth street was passed.

An ordinance compelling the City Water company to place outside gauges on each of the city stand pipes carried. Failure to comply with the ordinance within thirty days subjects the company to a fine of from $25 to $100.

City Clerk Baker was instructed to notify the gas company to lay pipes on Massachusetts avenue before paving on that thoroughfare is begun; also to notify the management of the same company to place a phonometer in the city clerk's office to show the purity of gas furnished by the company.

Notice is to be served on the street car company to place in good condition the Ohio street paving between the company's tracks at Sixteenth street, where paving is being done.

At 10:45 p. m. council adjourned.

Election November 2 in Section Outside Nevada, Mo.

Nevada, Mo., Sept. 26.—The county court of Vernon county has ordered a local option election in the county outside of Nevada, to be held November 2.

A petition for an election in this city on the same day will be presented to the city council at its next meeting, and the chances are the elections will both be held November 2.

The general opinion is that local option will carry outside Nevada, and many think it will carry here also.

PROMOTION OF FIREMEN

CAUSES CONSIDERABLE SPECULATION IN LOCAL RAILWAY CIRCLES.

MANY MEN ARE BEING ADVANCED

Gould Employes in Kansas City Believe That the Promoted Men Are Wanted to Take Engineers' Positions.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 26.—Members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers believe that the Missouri Pacific Railway company is examining firemen for promotion to engineers so they can operate locomotives if a strike of the engineers is called.

An engineer has to serve in that capacity a year before he can become a member of the brotherhood.

Firemen are promoted to the rank of engineer by the railway company according to seniority.

Before taking charge of an engine they are examined by the chief engineer of the road, or one of his assistants.

In the west side twenty-four firemen, who have served from one to five years in that capacity, have been examined, and at other terminal points a similar number have been examined. The examination has been conducted quietly.

The executive board of the brotherhood is meeting with officials of the railway in St. Louis regarding their differences.

No word had been received here last night regarding the outcome of the meeting.

The engineers say the company has broken the contract of 1885 by compelling the engineers to handle their engines to the round house instead of furnishing hostlers for relief at the depot at destination.

Will Complete Her Contract.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Woodard, who were married in Sedalia Tuesday by Rev. J. M. Rudy, of the Christian church, returned as far as Knob Noster with Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Hawkins and drove from there to Warrensburg, where they are domiciled with Mrs. R. F. Campbell, says the Warrensburg Star. Mrs. Woodard will complete her contract with the school board and has resumed her duties as teacher of music and drawing.

Accepted Position Here.

V. A. Stoltz, who has been employed by the Kansas City Southern railway at Kansas City, has accepted the position of yard clerk for the Katy here, vice R. S. Hull, resigned.

Mr. Hull leaves tonight for St. Louis, where he will accept the position of car accountant, but his family will remain here for the time being.

ROAD AND FARM IMPROVEMENT

LAYING A CEMENT WALK.

How the Farmer Can Do the Work for Himself.

Farmers requiring walks about their homes will find nothing so practical as cement walks—hygienic, because non-absorbent; beautiful, because uniform and artistic in finish; durable, because harder than stone; and at the same time cheaper than sawed stone or any other good sidewalk material. In many cities ordinances require that in the better quarters nothing but cement walks can be laid.

What has been found true in the city will prove equally true in the country. Like everything else, the quality of the walk will depend largely on the skill used in the selection of materials and laying the walk. The farmer who can find sand and gravel near, which he can often get for the hauling, and who could do his own work at some not over busy time, would be at no money outlay for the walk but the cost of cement, which would not exceed 2½ cents per square foot of a first-class four-inch thick walk, as one barrel of Portland cement costing $1.50 or two dollars will lay 80 square feet of finished walk.

For the sake of illustration assume that a walk is to be built three feet wide and four inches thick, concrete 3¾ inches, top mortar three-fourths of an inch. First, excavate trench three feet four inches wide. If an open or porous soil four inches below bottom or eight inches below top surface of walk, but if in clay soil this trench should be eight or ten inches below bottom of walk. From the lowest point of trench lay tile so no water will stand in trench to freeze. Now fill this trench with cinders, gravel, or stone, even, and tamp; when this is brought up within four inches of the top surface of walk the porous foundation is complete. Now place side forms (scantling, 2x4 inches, set on edge). Stretch line tight, and from line set scantlings straight; also they must conform to proper grade line. Secure these scantlings firmly by placing a cross scantling every four feet and securely staking the outside at each of these cross scantlings to keep them from spreading while the concrete is tamped into place. Use no nails or spikes; or in removing before thoroughly hardened the cast might be broken. The surface into which the concrete is tamped is first sprinkled so that the dry surface will not absorb the moisture from the concrete and thus arrest hydration. Mix concrete for the 3¼ inches in the following way: Take one part Portland cement, three parts sand (clean, coarse and fine mixed), and four parts aggregate (this may be gravel, screened cinders, or crushed stone). Place them in one pile on mixing floor. While dry shovel back and forth at least two times, until thoroughly mixed. Now sprinkle with sprinkling can while it is shoveled back and forth two more times or until evenly mixed and about the dampness of fresh earth. This concrete is now ready to place. Shovel into the sections of the form, beginning at one end and filling each section as you go, tamping thoroughly and evenly to within three-quarters of an inch of top of form. When the first section is completed remove the cross scantling and against the joint thus left bare set board one-fourth of an inch thick and projecting above concrete so that when this section is also filled it can be slightly crowded loose and removed, thus leaving one-fourth of an inch division between each block. This is important. The board is now moved forward to the next joint, and so on to completion. With knife or pencil mark side forms exactly over the one-fourth of an inch open joints, so that when the top mortar is spread continuously over the surface the top mortar may be cut through into the lower joint or opening with trowel sliding along straight edge. The work must be so managed that the top mortar can always be placed on the concrete within two hours after the latter is placed, also the concrete should be slightly sprinkled before the mortar is placed, so that the surface is moist. Make mortar for top as follows: Portland cement, one part; sharp, clean sand, two parts. First mix dry, then wet and work into a stiff mortar. Place this on the concrete, spread with trowel, leaving the form rather full, so that when stroked even with straight-edge the form is even full everywhere. Leave for 20 minutes, when the water will be evaporated. At this time finish surfaces smooth and even with float or trowel, but do not over trowel, which again brings the water to the surface. Run along each side edge with edger, cut across joints with trowel and straight-edge at marked points, run a jointer through these, or, in the absence of either edger or jointer, dub the edges with trowel. After 24 hours cover with grass, straw, or carpet, wet thoroughly twice each day for six continuous days, when the walk is ready for use.

CAUGHT IN A CORN FIELD

FORMER MAYOR OF RIDGEWAY, OHIO, ALLEGED TO BE A CORN THIEF.

ENTERED PLEA OF GUILTY AT ONCE

Was Apprehended in the Act by Posse of Farmers, and Had Thirteen Sacks of Stolen Corn in His Vehicle.

Bellefontaine, Ohio, Sept. 24—Corn, amounting to the value of hundreds of dollars, has been stolen from the cribs of farmers in Logan and Marion counties during the past week and the thefts were so systematic that a vigilance committee was appointed to watch for the thieves.

Late Sunday night a posse of farmers patroling the district where the thieving occurred saw a horse and wagon standing near the corn crib of John Lammuck, near Mt. Victory. The crib was surrounded and the man inside was ordered to appear.

He at first refused, but after an exchange of shots he ran from the building right into the arms of the farmers.

The man proved to be O. A. Owens, former mayor, and a leading undertaker and furniture dealer of Ridgeway, Ohio. In his wagon eleven sacks of corn were discovered.

He was armed, but was surrounded by the farmers and marched to Mt. Victory. There he pleaded guilty and was bound over to court.

RAINES-JOLLY NUPTIALS

Popular Couple to Be Married Next Saturday Night.

LeRoy Raines, a plumber at the Missouri Pacific shops, and Miss Mary V. Jolly, the accomplished daughter of W. M. Jolly, a carpenter of 715 South Lafayette avenue, will be married quietly by Rev. Clarke Baker, pastor of the Epworth M. E. church, at 8:30 o'clock next Saturday night.

The couple planned a surprise wedding some time ago, and intended to have the nuptial knot tied before relatives or friends of the contracting parties were aware of the step taken, but little by little the plans leaked out, until the affair became known.

Mr. Raines is an industrious and well-liked young man, while his bride is a loveable and refined young lady, whose friends are numbered by the hundreds, and best wishes for a long and happy married life will be extended to the couple.

THE ENGINE BLEW UP

Paty of Twenty-Two Thrown Into Water and Four Drowned.

Gallipolis, Ohio, Sept. 24.—A gasoline tank on a yacht exploded late last night while carrying a party of twenty-two men on the Ohio river near here. All were thrown into the water and four drowned. The dead are John E. Edwards, postoffice clerk; J. R. Simons, druggist; E. H. Brake, assistant bank cashier, and J. William, postmaster at Harrisonville.

Princess Marries a Musician.

London, Sept. 25.—The Countess of Montsignoso, ex-Crown Princess of Saxony, and Signor Toselli, a music master, were married today at the registry office in this city.

WERE WED BY REV. RUDY

Roy I. Woodward and Miss Artie Stillwell, of Warrensburg.

(Tuesday's Daily)

Roy I. Woodard, one of the owners of a Nickelodeom at Warrensburg, and Miss Artie L. Stillwell, teacher of music in the public schools in the Quarry City and daughter of R. R. Stillwell, a dry goods merchant of Pleasant Hill, were secretly married at the study of the First Christian church by Rev. J. M Rudy, the pastor, shortly after the noon hour today.

The only attendants at the ceremony were Bailey Hawkins, the other owner of the Nickelodeom, and his wife. The bridal couple came here last night and secured apartments at the Antler's hotel and will return to Warrensburg at 5:45 o'clock this afternoon to make that city their home.

Mr. Woodard is a gentleman of pleasing type and sociable to a marked degree. Refined and cultured, he hesitated about telling details of the marriage, but when confronted by a number of questions he finally "opened up" and told the story.

Mrs. Woodard is a charming young lady, well known in the Quarry City. Her genial disposition and affable manner have won for her the admiration of all, and many friends in her home town willl join in extending congratulations.

Killed Her Three Children.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 24.—Mrs. Bertha Mund, aged 27, early today strangled her three children, aged 8 and 2 years and eight months, to death, then went to the railroad yards where her husband was working as a member of a wrecking crew and informed him of her deed. The woman has been arrested.

A COLLEGE ROMANCE

Of a Dayton Youth Revealed Through the Bride's Fear.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 24.—Moved by fear that she might not recover from an atack of appendicitis, Anna L. Antrim, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Antrim, of 28 East Hanover street, this city, has revealed to her mother that she has been married to John H. Liebendoffer, of Dayton, Ohio, for more than a year.

The young man had courted her when he was a Princeton student, the girl said, the acquaintance commencing six years ago. He was graduated with honors from Princeton, and also from Columbia Law school. It was while he was a student that the marriage took place. It was to be kept a secret until the young man had obtained a lucrative position.

As soon as the parents heard of the marriage Liebendoffer was sent for and the parental blessing given. He is connected with a New York law firm. Mr. and Mrs. Liebendoffer will live in New York. The young wife is doing nicely, and will recover.

VISITING SPECIALISTS from the Cleveland Institute of Medicine and Surgery, legally chartered and incorporated. Cleveland, Ohio, will pay their visit to Sedalia, Mo., and will be at the Hotel Huckins, TUESDAY, Oct 8th. Tell your sick friends.

One Day Only

9 A. M. TO 7:30 P. M.

FREE

This institute, composed of a group of regularly graduated physicians and surgeons, licensed, legally chartered and incorporated under the laws of the State of Ohio, sends at its own expense these eminent medical specialists in order to introduce the newest methods and discoveries in medicine and surgery, such as the system of treatment under X ray, Violet ray, Finsen ray, Hydrotherapy, Etc., to give to those who call on the above date, consultation, examination, advice and all medicines required to complete a cure, absolutely free. These specialists will diagnose your case and give you the benefit of their skill and medical knowledge.

There is in this case no experimenting or guess work at your expense. You will be told whether you can be cured or not. If your case is curable they will put you under treatment immediately; if incurable they will give you such advice as may prolong your life. Their treatment always gives quick relief, and ultimately positively cures. Being prepared to cope with each individual case the human system is thoroughly cleansed of the disease in a natural and direct manner, and improvement is noticed at once; even the worst cases are treated without any inconvenience to the patient or the pursuing of his or her daily vocation.

If you are improving under your family physician, do not come and take up their valuable time, as they absolutely refuse to treat any one who is under the care of the local physicians. They wish besides to give each patient plenty of time and their undivided attention, but can not listen to long stories not pertaining to your trouble. They have discarded the old methods and remedies used for ages by the medical world, and which it would be folly to depend upon any longer, for they are not known to cure, as thousands die, depending on them for relief. The following list of diseases only are taken under treatment, to-wit: Diseases of the Nervous System, Heart, Stomach, Lungs, Kidneys, Catarrh, (purulent or dry), Consumption, Epilepsy, Deafness, Diseases of Women, Tumors, Pseudo Cancers, Piles, of a Chronic Nature only. They treat Deafness by an entirely new method, and hearing in many cases is restored at once. Catarrh in all its varied forms, like other diseases if once taken under treatment, is cured permanently to remain so and to never return. It matters not whom you have seen, or with whom treated, do not fail to call, as a visit will cost you nothing, and may restore you to health, or even save or prolong your life, as thousands of persons will testify by unassailable testimonials in all parts of the country. If you suspect Kidney Trouble, bring a two ounce bottle of your Urine for chemical and microscopical analysis.

REMEMBER:—The free offer is during this visit only, and will not be repeated. Persons commencing treatment upon their future visits will be required to pay, but not one cent will be asked from those commencing treatment during this visit for any medicine necessary to effect a cure, irrespective of your position in life, or the number of those who come on above date. Whensoever, or by whom wanted, a positive guarantee to cure will be given under their system of treatment. Those having long standing and complicated disease, who have failed to get well and become discouraged, are particularly invited to call.

NOTICE: — Married ladies without their HUSBANDS, and minors without their FATHERS, will positively not be admitted to consultation unless accompanied by one of their local physicians.

Office Hours: 9 A. M. to 7:30 P. M.

DON'T FORGET THE DATE.

SEDUCTION IS CHARGED

The Victim Is a Little Girl Only Thirteen Years of Age.

Arthur Simerly is now in the Savannah jail charged with the seduction of his 13-year-old half sister.

The couple disappeared some two or three weeks ago, when it was said the girl's condition made further concealment impossible.

Since their disappearance it is alleged that they have been living in St. Joseph under the name of John Smith and wife.

Stomach troubles, Heart and Kidney ailments, can be quickly corrected with a prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. The prompt and surprising relief which this remedy immediately brings is entirely due to its Restorative action upon the controlling nerves of the Stomach, etc.

BATTLE WAS THRILLING

'OLD SHAG" WAS FINALLY BEATEN

Had to Succumb to "Joe Allard," Younger and Smaller Bull, But One That Was More Powerful and Active, Too.

Banker and buffalo breeder. That is the unique station in life held by C. E. Lenander, of Bancroft, says the Galveston News.

Mr. Lenander is the proud possessor of one of the few remaining herds of bison in the country, and he takes as much interest and pride in these all but extinct animals as does the enthusiastic horseman in a record-breaking racer.

"Come over to the house; I want to show some protographs of my buffaloes," was the cordial invitation extended me, and as I accepted I could not but be impressed with the endearing manner in which the words "my buffaloes" was pronounced.

The photographs were produced.

"He looks pretty big," said I, designating a massive creature.

"Yes," came the proud reply; "he was big. That's Old Shag, and he weighed as much as four good-sized horses. He was the boss until Joe Allard licked him in a terrific combat that lasted for two days.

"Joe Allard was a younger and smaller bull, but was powerful and active. There had been trouble brewing between the two a long time.

"Old Shag was inclined to be somewhat of a bully because of his supposedly superior strnegth. Often he would roughly jostle with provoking roughness against his companions, and never lost an opportunity to add to the discomfort of Joe Allard.

These insults Joe Allard took with stoical good grace, but it was easy to see that some time there was to be a day of reckoning. The limit of buffalo endurance was reached one morning. Old Shag had been especially obnoxious. In a ruthless manner he knocked different members of the herd about, but when he reached Joe Allard a surprise was in store for him.

"Following two vicious thrusts of his shaggy head, he turned for the third attack to meet the enraged Joe Allard, who at last realized the power of his sturdy frame.

"Old Shag seemed to realize that he was to fight the battle of his life and that defeat would mean humiliation and isolation for the rest of his existence.

"First, amazed at this unexpected defiance of his heretofore unquestioned superiority, the big fellow drew off some feet, dropped his great bulky head nearly to the ground, peeked at his adversary out of the corners of his eyes, paused for a moment as if trying to regard the enemy as the insignificant foe of old, but, failing in this, his ponderous muscles became rigid, while the fury of the beast rose to a height never before attained. Then came to combat.

"But Joe Allard, too, was mad. The indignation of a hundred insults heated his young blood until it coursed like molten metal through his bulging veins. Despite the intense passion he knew that while much younger and less experienced he possessed a body unimpaired by former conflicts. He had no fear from the aches and pains of a buffalo bull of years.

"They met with heads lowered. With a bellow like a peal of a thunder storm Old Shag launched himself against the impudent youngster. To a less formidable adversary the onslaught would have been fatal, but Joe Allard met the two tons of enraged beast without a quiver.

"Backward and forward these huge fighting machines surged until the ground ran red with their gore.

"We tried to separate them on horseback with a lariat. You might as well have tried to lasso a passenger train. It was not for human hands to stop a struggle of this kind.

"The glory of the morning faded into the heat of noonday, and this in turn gave way to the cool breezes of the evening, and still they fought. Like puffing locomotives they rushed at each other time and time again, only to be hurled back on their haunches, and repeat the awful charge.

"Throughout the night until the next day the fight continued with but short breathing spells. It was easy to see that Old Shag's race was about run.

"Following a rest of more than usual length, he pulled himself together for the final lunge.

"Weary, sore and weak from loss of blood, the old fellow did his best to deal a crushing blow, but he was not the great, defiant, unconquered brute of yore, and this he seemed to feel.

"Not so with Joe Allard. There was no longer any fear in his heart.

"Already he felt the sweet nectar of victory, and although he, too, was bruised and bleeding, he met the final charge of his hated rival in so determined a manner that Old Shag withdrew, and when the light of morning came again the veteran fighter was as far apart from his fellows as he could get—forever disgraced.

"On the plains when an old boss is thus defeated he would take himself to the bad lands, there to end his days alone and despised. But even this privilege was denied Old Shag. The pasture fence prevented.

"The poor old fellow took his defeat most bitterly, and with his heart thus broken he pined away until he was a forlorn wreck of his former self. I had to kill him. It was a kindness to him, but is was most cruel to myself. He was my friend and I loved him dearly. I liked to visit him on a Sunday afternoon. I understood him and he understood me."

At the close of this interesting narrative I glanced about the room and saw on the wall the mounted head of a gigantic bison.

"Is that Old Shag?" I asked.

"That's all that's left of him," came the pathetic reply.

We went to the pasture where the buffaloes are confined.

"Do you see that big bull over there?" asked Mr. Lenander.

"That's Buffin," he continued, "and he is the present 'boss.' Joe Allard rightfully held the title for a long time, but he had to relinquish it at last. Queer thing about that, too. A couple of years ago Buffin, then a young bull, got it into his head that he wanted to lick Joe Allard. He tried and was disgracefully whipped. This did not discourage him, however.

"Buffin separated himself temporarily from the rest of the herd. In the pasture there was a wooden post 18 inches in diameter.

"Every day Buffin would hook and butt this post, taking a regular course of gymnastics, and so thorough was he that he wore the post out.

"By this time he became convinced that he was worthy to join the herd again, and this he did.

"One day Joe Allard was strolling leisurely along the fence, possibly with the intention of driving Buffin away.

"Quick as a flash Buffin reared on his hind legs, caught Joe Allard just behind his shoulders with his horns and actually flung that great bull completely over the six-foot fence.

"In performing this powerful stunt Buffin's hoofs sank into the ground 18 inches. But he won a victory. Joe Allard's side was ripped open and several ribs were dislocated. This put an end to his fighting days. Like Old Shag, he is broken-hearted, and it would be doing him a favor to kill him, but that I haven't nerve enough to do—so he lives on, an outcast from his brothers."

Mr. Leander has 14 animals at present in this herd, but he hopes to materially increase that number. He has compiled statistics showing that there are only 1,333 buffaloes in America and they are distributed as follows:

Pablo-Allard herd on the Flathead Indian reservation in Montana, 330; running wild west of Great Slave Lake, Athabasca, Canada, 600 (estimated); Austin Corbin park, New Hampshire, 106; James Phillips herd, Ft. Pierre, S. D., 90; Charles Goodnight herd, Goodnight, Texas, 50; Banff herd, 42; Yellowstone park, 30; Bronx park, New York City, 32; John E. Dooley herd, Utah, 30; herd of G. W. Lillie (Pawnee Bill), Oklahoma, 28; herd in Linoln park, Chicago, 15; Frank Rockefeller ranch, Belvidere, Kas., 21; J. J. Hill herd, Cardegan, Minn., 18; Cincinnati Zoological park, 16; C. J. Fifteen Injured in Collision.

Fifteen passengers were slightly injured in the head-on collision at Marion, Ark., of Frisco fas mail train No. 205, from Kansas City, and freight train No. 264, from Memphis.

Both engine crews probably saved their lives by jumping. Singularly, the engines did not leave the track.

The track was torn up for several yards. A relief and wrecking train crew from Memphis repaired the track and relayed passengers.

No Settlement Yet.

Information from St. Louis today is to the effect that there is nothing new in the labor difficulties between the Missouri Pacific engineers and company officials.

AN OLD-TIME SERMON

THE BARKEEPER WITH THE "BULGING BROW" ATTENDS TWO CHURCHES.

HE TELLS OF HIS IMPRESSIONS

How One Froze Him Up and the Other Brought Back Memories of the Olden, Golden Days.

Willis P. King, a former Sedalian, now an editorial writer on the Kansas City Post, had the following in his "Intellectual Barkeep" column Monday. It makes good reading and is here reproduced.

"Give me a little whisky straight, with ginger ale for the place, said the Regular Patron.

"Why not let the ginger ale go straight and place, for once in your life?" said the Intellectual Barkeep with the Bulging Brow. "Cut out the booze for one day. I like you, and I don't want to see the habit get a hammerlock on you.

"Believe I will," said the Patron, "but how did you happen to get this cargo of good advice? Been to church again?"

"You guessed it the first time," said the Barkeep. "You remember I went to church a week ago yesterday. I expected to hear a sermon, but was cold-decked with a speculative discourse on Martian irrigation. I told a friend about it, and he begged me to go with him to his church yesterday. He promised me that I would hear an old-time sermon with plenty of the uplift in it."

"Did he keep his promise?" asked the Patron.

"He more than made good," said the Barkeep. "It was the old-time religion, the kind I used to hear preached thirty years ago, the same brand that was preached some time previous to that on the shores of a lake by the name of Gallilee. And that preacher is the right kind, too. He didn't tell the congregation that they would learn a great deal by listening to him. He was just beginning the fourth year of his pastorate. He made a hit with me when he began to talk about that. He didn't parade the good work he has really done in Kansas City nor boast of his personal achievements. But he did say that he was afraid he hadn't done as much as he could and that he would try to do better in the coming year. His words rang true, for they were from an honest heart that had in it no boastful belief of his own unaided power nor any mock humility, used for effect. And when he prayed he awakened in my heart a chord that had been jangling out of tune for, lo, these many years. He didn't tell the Lord how much he knew, nor on the other hand, was there any groveling in his orison. It was an earnest appeal for love and mercy and helpfulness. He approached the White Throne as an erring child goes to a loving and indulgent father. He talked with the infinite as a man talked with his friends.

"Another thing that i liked. There wasn't any paid choir. The congregation did the singing. Now, I believe singing is a form of worship, and we have no more right to let it out by contract than we have with our prayers or our good resolutions. Worship is not a vicarious process. It cannot be done by giving some other fellow your proxy.

"And then he preached. He preached the sermon that I needed and wanted. There wasn't a word in it about the trip to the North Pole that Walter Wellman never made, nor any advice as to how we should vote at the spring election. Even in his best periods he never thought of bringing in the name of Gov. Folk. He preached Christ and Him crucified. It was like the touch of the prophet's rod upon Horeb, the Mount of God, and from the rifts in the granite the healing waters flowed. 'For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ; for it is the power of God unto salvation for every one that believeth.' That was his text, and he rose to the occasion. After hearing a discourse on speculative astronomy the previous Sunday, this was a manna in the desert, like the shadow of a great rock in a weary land. The fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man furnishes better spiritual papulum than a treatise on the waterways of Mars. And then he talked to us simply and earnestly, of that faith that pierces the clouds of human guilt and rolls them back from the face of God.

"When the services were ended there was no football rush for the front door. People took their time about getting out and stopped to shake hands with each other. The members made it their especial business to seek out the strangers that were within the gates, to tell them they were glad to see them there and to give them earnest and heartfelt invitation to come back again."

"Where is this church?" asked the Patron timidly. "I'd like to go there."

"You will find it on the northwest corner of Twenty-sixth and Troost," said the Barkeep. "The pastor's name is McVoy, but it isn't necessary to tell you that, for he will find an opportunity to grasp your hand and thank you for coming before you have a chance to make your getaway."

"I'm going there, sure," said the Patron, "and in the meantime, I'm going to take your advice and cut out the booze for one day at least."

As the Patron left he heard the Barkeep softly humming a tune. It sounded familiar, but he couldn't recall it until he had gone some distance. Then the half-forgotten words, learned in childhood and never wholly effaced from his memory, came back to him—"Each victory will help you some other to win." He found himself singing it as he turned into his office and started on his day's work.

PEACE IN MOROCCO NOW

THREE IMPORTANT TRIBES TO ACCEPT TERMS OF THE FRENCHMEN.

THE HOSTAGES FOR ENCAMPMENT

Those Responsible for Massacre to Be Given Up and Their Property Confiscated—Indemnity Is Insisted Upon.

Paris, Sept. 24.—Peace has been declared in Morocco. The delegates of three important tribes have accepted the French peace overtures inaugurated today and will see that the terms of the agreement are carried out. Hostilities are now at an end. The conditions follow:

"Hostilities shall cease from today; Gen. Drude may make military reconnaissances throughout the territory of the three tribes to satisfy himself that the pacification is complete; the the tribes shall engage themselves to disperse and chastise all armed bodies that may assemble in their territory with hostile intent; every native found in the possession of arms or munitions of war within ten miles of Casa Blanca shall be handed over to the shereeffian authorities, condemned to imprisonment and fined $200; the tribes shall be held responsible for the carrying out of the previous stipulation; every native detected in smuggling or using arms shall be punished; the delegates of the tribes undertake to surrender the authors of the outrages upon Europeans of July 30 and, pending judgment, their goods shall be seized and sold irrespective of the indemnity which is to be paid, the amount of which shall be fixed by the Moroccan government; the Chaoula tribes shall pay a large indemnity, the part of each tribe to be appropriated according to the length of time it resisted the French; the Chaoula tribes shall pay a contribution toward the harbor works at Casa Blanca."

A FORMER MINISTER

Sent to the Workhouse on a Charge of Petty Larceny.

Youngstown, Ohio, Sept. 24.—Rev. Elmer Stansberry was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to thirty days in the Cleveland workhouse yesterday on the charge of petty larceny.

The man had been in the employ of L. H. Cahn & Co. and was found by Chief McDowell leaving the store with a washstand on his shoulder.

He said that he had bought it, but after his arrest it was found that he had been taking other articles and selling them at reduced prices.

Stansberry said that he had been a minister, but that after he had lost his voice he went into the undertaking business and finally came here to work for Cahn & Co.

DON'T WANT NOMINATION

William R. Hearst Denies That He is Candidate for Presidency.

New York, Sept 24.—In an interview published here today William R. Hearst takes occasion to deny that he is a candidate for the presidency. He says: "I am not a candidate on the independent league ticket or on any other ticket and I cannot conceive of any conditions under which I would be willing to become a candidate."

A MILKING MACHINE

Will Be Among the Exhibits at the State Fair.

Will the milking machine milk? Is it a success? How many cows must be handled in order to make the investment a paying one?

At the Missouri state fair, which meets this year October 5 to 11 at Sedalia, a milking machine will be operated on exhibition.

Mr. P. P. Lewis, of St. Louis county, Missouri, who has for nearly a year milked his herd of 100 cows with a milking machine, will be present to operate the machine and explain its strong and its weak features to any one interested.

This is not a scheme to sell machines. We have nothing to sell, but there are so many people who have never had opportunity yet to see this machine that it was thought it would be of interest to many and of value to some. No admission will be charged to see this exhibition.

The accompanying cut illustrates the machine in operation. Hoping to meet you at the fair, I am, yours truly —R. M. Washburn, Superintendent Dairy Department, Missouri State Fair.

DAIRY DOTS AND DASHES.

A hand separator well taken care of will last for a generation.

The man that owns a hand separator can feed warm skimmilk to his stock.

The average person's idea of cleanliness corresponds with everyday conditions and conveniences.

A cow so milked that she does not enjoy the operation will soon retire from the business of giving milk.

Generally the failure to make dairying pay is due more to inefficient management than to poor cows.

In purchasing a cow for butter and milk do not be carried away by the breeding of the animal, but see that she has individual merit.

The application of elbow grease may be disagreeable, but it insures clean milk, clean separators, clean butter, and generally a clean reputation.

A gallon of 30 per cent. cream weighs about eight pounds and five ounces. If it weighs less than that, it will surely test less than 30 per cent.

It is better to milk the cows before feeding them, as they will then keep more quiet. Besides the dust from the hay or the odor from the silage and other things will not get into the milk that is being drawn.

DIED OF PERITONITIS

Mrs. T. M. Stutzman, Who Was a Guest at the Delmar.

(Thursday's Daily.)

Mrs. T M. Stutzman, wife of a local representative of the International Harvester company, who, with her husband, came to Sedalia from Carthage two months ago died of peritonitis in apartments at the Delmar hotel at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, aged 25 years.

A husband, 5-year old son, a mother three brothers and four sisters survive.

Funeral services were held at the hotel at 3 o'clock this afternoon, Rev. J. F. Caskey, pastor of the Southern Methodist church, officiating, and interment was in the city cemetery.

Mrs. Stutzman's mother, Mrs. Smith, of Houston, Texas county, Mo., was with her daughter at the time of death, but the brothers and sisters, also of Houston, were not able to attend the funeral.

Sedalia and Bunceton.

These paragraphs are from the Bunceton Tribune of September 24:

Mrs. Pipes, of Smithton, who has been visiting in the home of her sister, Mrs. T. J. Moore, of near here, returned home last Friday.

Mrs. Ella Gentry Smith, of this place, spent Saturday and Sunday near Sedalia, visiting in the home of her parents, N. H. Gentry and wife.

Dr. Carlyle Taylor, of Sedalia, who has been visiting with friends and relatives in this community and at Speed, returned home yesterday morning.

Mrs. J. H. Allen, of this place, who has been in Sedalia for several days visiting with her daughter, Miss Bertha Allen, and attending the Christian convention held there last week, returned home Friday afternoon.

APPLE WORMS ARE DYING

The Failure of Crop This Year Causes Lack of Food.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 26.—Missouri probably will be freed from the apple worm this year. Maurice Butterfield, of Farmington, Mo., judging fruit at the interstate fair and exposition, said:

"The failure of the apple crop in Missouri may prove a blessing. The coddling moth is the apple enemy. It lays its eggs at the base of the apple stem. There the egg hatches into a worm. The coddling moth lives on apples.

"The crop in Missouri was a failure, and this lack of food this year may mean the total extermination of the moth. The ground in apple orchards needs a rest, too."

MURDERER IS SURROUNDED

Negro, Accused of Killing Chicago School Teacher, at Bay.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Richard Walton, Colter, the negro man who is wanted for the murder of Mrs. Lillian W. Grant, a teacher, who was found in her room strangled several days ago, is said to be surrounded by the police in a deserted building at Summit, Ill., twenty miles south of Chicago.

He is reported to be barricaded strongly and well supplied with ammunition. Fifty officers have gone to the scene.

A NEW DIPHTHERIA CASE

IT HAS BEEN REPORTED TO THE AUTHORITIES AT LAMONTE, MO.

YOUNG SON OF MRS LEE D'JARNETT

City Council Met Last Night and Decided to Keep Children Off the Streets Until Conditions Improve Somewhat.

(Thursday's Daily.)

One new case of diphtheria has developed in Lamonte in the past two days, the patient being Minnow De Jarnett, the 10-year-old son of Mrs. Lee DeJarnett.

A close quarantine has been placed on the residence and every precaution is being taken to prevent a further spread of the disease.

Last night the city council held a called meeting for the purpose of discussing with the board of health the existing conditions, and after some discussion, instructed City Marshal Riley to keep all children off the streets until such time as the spread of the disease had been checked.

Although there are now only three cases in the city, considerable alarm has been caused, and the physicians are disposing of anti-toxin as a preventative in considerable quantities, the people saying it comes high, but they have to have it.

Since it became generally known that diphtheria was prevalent in Lamonte, and the schools and all public gatherings had been dispensed with, many unfounded rumors have been circulated by gossiping tongues, one being that the whole town was under quarantine regulations; another that a young man who went to call on a lady friend in a neighboring city had been barred from returning to his home, and many other such fabulous tales, no one being able to learn how they originated, nor from what source they started.

EXPECT 35 DELEGATES

At Meeting of Kansas City Association Congregational Churches.

(Thursday's Daily.)

Twenty delegates are in the city to attend the annual meeting of the Kansas City Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers being held at the First Congregational church, Sixth and Osage avenue, today. The session will close tomorrow night.

The program as printed in Sunday's Democrat Sentinel will be carried out in detail. About fifteen additional delegates are expected to be in attendance before adjournment.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

A Million and One-Half Gallon Tank of Oil Last Night

(Thursday's Daily.)

A large steel tank of the Standard Oil company, containing one and one-half million gallons of oil, situated between Levasy, a station seventy-three miles from Sedalia, on the Lexington branch railway, and Buckner, was struck by lightning some time last night, and a report from there this morning was that the oil was still burning.

ATONES HIS CRIME

Eighty-Five-Year-Old Uxoricide Kills Himself With Paris Green.

Elgin, Ill., Sept. 26.—Cyrus Baldwin, aged 85 years, one of the wealthiest residents of this county, killed himself here today by eating Paris Green. He had confessed that he murdered his aged wife by smashing her skull with a hammer.

Mrs. Baldwin was found murdered yesterday. They had quarreled, and in a fit of anger he killed her.

Told of Missionary Work.

(Thursday's Daily.)

Miss Leverett, a returned missionary from China, delivered an eloquent talk on her work and experiences in the far east to a very large midweek crowd at the Fifth Street M. E. church, South, last night. Her talk was an excellent one and was appreciated by all who attended. Miss Leverett went to Windsor this morning, and will return to China on January 1, 1908.

Lost—About three miles northeast of Sedalia (in Curran neighborhood) a stub-tailed small white fox terrier bitch, black ears and about head, spots on sides on close view; answers to name of Spot; had a strap on neck when lost. Reward paid for delivery to Henry Lamm, Sedalia, Mo.

An Eldon Banker Is Dead.

Eldon, Mo., Sept. 26.—Harold J. Temple died here yesterday, aged 30. He was for several years assistant cashier of the Bank of Eldon, but for the past year has been cashier of the Citizens' bank here.

He returned Tuesday night from Pennsylvania, where he had been on a visit to relatives, and died suddenly a few hours after reaching home. He was a candidate for the nomination for county collector on the republican ticket at the last election. He leaves a wife and one child.

Wed by Rev. Hamann.

Rev. W. F. Hamann, pastor of the East Broadway Christian church, who has been holding a meeting at Beaman, was called home yesterday to officiate at the marriage of Mr. J. H. Harris to Miss Grace D. Bond, which was performed at the pastor's home last evening.

IS SMOTHERED TO DEATH

JOHN M BELLAMY, A PROMINENT CITIZEN OF SWEET SPRINGS, MO.

WAS CAUGHT IN A BIN OF WHEAT

Loading a Car, When the Grain "Caked," and in Opening Up the Chute Mr. Bellamy Was Buried in the Wheat.

(Thursday's Daily.)

John M. Bellamy, one of the best known citizens of Sweet Springs, was smothered to death in a bin of wheat at the elevator there this forenoon.

Mr. Bellamy was engaged in loading a car of wheat, running it from the bin through a chute into the car.

The grain caked in the bin and Mr. Bellamy entered the bin to open up the chute.

Almost instantly the wheat caved in upon him, and he was smothered to death before he could be rescued.

Mr. Bellamy was more than 60 years old, and was one of the pioneer citizens of Sweet Springs. He is survived by his widow, four sons and five daughters.

The deceased was a member of the Christian church, and no man in the community was held in higher esteem.

"A CITY BEAUTIFUL"

Will Sedalia Be During the Week of the State Fair.

J. W. Mellor and E. W. Shultz, the committee for the Business Men's association, have thoroughly canvassed the busines houses of the city and have the assurance of every one that they will decorate their establishments during state fair week.

With this accomplished the prospect for the city putting on a gala appearance is certain and if each store room has its front windows illuminated and extra lights on the streets, Sedalia will be a delight to every eye each night. The court house is to be illuminated to help the matter along.

The Business Men's club is not asking donations this year, having enough in its treasury to pay for the "white winged" street sweepers, the information bureau and the ice water supply.

All they ask is the hearty individual co-operation of all toward making Sedalia the "City Beautiful."

MISSOURIAN IN CHINA

Reports of Shanghai Trouble Not Credited in Washington.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Fresh reports of hostility between Judge Lebbeus R. Wilfley, of the chancellor court of China, and the Catholic clergy are given no more credit here than were the first reports recently published in the Shanghai papers.

Both at the state department and at the papal legation it has been stated emphatically that perfect accord exists between Judge Wilfley and representative officials of the Catholic clergy.

Mgr. Diomede Falconio, the apostolic delegate to the United States, has given no credence whatever to reports of the so-called "row."

SPENT THE NIGHT HERE

BOARD OF RAILROAD AND WAREHOUSE COMMISSIONERS WENT EAST.

INSPECTED THE LEXINGTON BRANCH

Supts. E. A. Gould and J. A. Alexander With the State Officials, but Commissiner Knott Conspicuous by Absence.

(Thursday's Daily.)

R. H. Oglesby and John H. Wightman, two of the three members of the state board of railway and warehouse commissioners, in a special train, left this city at 5:30 o'clock this morning to inspect the Lexington branch tracks of the Missouri Pacific as far as Sweet Springs, they having inspected from Kansas City to Sweet Springs yesterday, and then came here to spend the night last night.

The board reached Sweet Springs at 7 o'clock this morning, and returned here, leaving this city at 10:20 o'clock for Jefferson City.

From there the board goes over the Bagnell branch as far as Bagnell, then back to Eldon.

From Eldon the train will be detoured over the Rock Island railway to Versailles, and from Versailles over the Missouri Pacific to Boonville.

The board will then return to Tipton and go direct over the main line to Kansas City.

General Superintendent E. A. Gould, of the Missouri Pacific, and Superintendent Alexander accompanied the board.

Commissioner John A. Knott, who is also editor of the Hannibal Journal, was conspicuous by his absence, he preferring to make his inspection on foot instead of by special train.

PLOT WAS FRUSTRATED

Cubans Intended to Rise Up Against Uncle Sam's Government.

New York, Sept. 26.—Cuban conspirators, whose plot to overthrow the provisional government has been thwarted by Governor Magoon in Havana, would have attempted to use the New York World to further their design.

An unsigned cable was received by the newspaper several hours before the news of the plot became public, stating that a meeting of prominent merchants of Havana had been held Monday night, and that resolutions were adopted to inform the World of the true state of Cuban affairs.

The message said there would be a general uprising today and tomorrow.

COUNCIL IS BUSY

Working to Make the City More Than Usually Attractive

(Thursday's Daily.)

The mayor and members of the city council held a meeting last night and decided to put in ten extra arc lights on Ohio, Main and Third streets for the purpose of having an illumination during fair week. They had previously arranged for a large force of extra men for sweeping, washing and cleaning the streets during the same period.

A committee is also working for the consent of all business houses to light their windows at night during the entire week.

It was through the council that the court house illumination was secured. One of the aldermen is authority for the statement that it is the mayor and council that are planning these up-to-date innovations.

Mrs. Lane Is at Maywood.

(Thursday's Daily.)

Mrs. Peter Lane, who has been in ill health for ten years, is quite ill with stomach trouble at Maywood hospital, having been so since last Thursday. There is no change in her condition today.

EXPLOSION OF BOILER

BOILER IN PLANT OF GEORGE M. KELLOGG AT PLEASANT HILL EXPLODES.

DAMAGE WILL REACH $75,000

Half of the Establishment Was Saved—It Was One of the Largest Flower Raising Plants in the West.

Pleasant Hill, Mo., Sept. 26.—A steam boiler exploded in the conservatory of George M. Kellogg, the florist, three miles from here, early today, partially wrecking the plant and causing damage which is estimated at $75,000.

No one was hurt. It was one of the largest conservatories in the west.

Over one half the plant was saved.

REPORTED DEAD BY ERROR

Mistake of Operator in Transmission Caused Grief.

Carthage, Mo., Sept. 26.—Mrs. Hanna Norton, of Carthage, who left here three days ago for the state of Washington, to attend the funeral of her son, William Norton, telegraphed yesterday that she found him alive and well.

Mrs. Norton received a telegram last Sunday, telling her that William Norton was dead. She left at once for Washington, but when she arrived she learned that the father of her granddaughter-in-law was dead, Mrs. William Norton, Jr.

In transmission of the message the operator got it Mr. Norton Jr.'s father, who is Mrs. Hanna Norton's son, instead of Mrs. Norton, Jr.'s father.

FOUND $20,000 IN GOLD

Carpenter Dazzled by Eagles and Double Eagles in Old House.

Danville, Ill., Sept. 26.—Ten and twenty dollar gold pieces rained at the feet of Ransom Holmes, a carpenter, when he opened the walls of a house at Garrett, Ill., and started to tear out an old closet. In all there was several thousand dollars.

The exact amount is not known on account of the reticence of the people connected with the incident. It is reported, however, that the amount was $20,000 in all, in single and double yellow eagles.

The house formerly was the property of R. R. Reeves, a wealthy farmer, who died in 1892, and is at present occupied by James Weatherly.

SPECIAL ATTORNEY FOR GOVERNMENT CONTINUES GETTING STANDARD SECRETS

MADE A FAKE TERMINAL STATION

Counsel for Oil Company Admits He Advised Establishing It to Evade the Provisions of the Hepburn Act.

New York, Sept. 26.—The pipe line station of the National Transit company, a Standard Oil corporation, at Center Bridge, on the state line, which they contend is a terminal station, was built in 1906, on the advice of John G. Milburn, of counsel for the company. Milburn is representing the Standard Oil company in the federal hearing now in progress in this city.

It is contended by the government that the Center Bridge station was built as a nominal delivery point in 1906 to evade the Hepburn act, which provided that all pipe line carriers shall submit schedules of tariff to their terminals. It is the government's view that the company's real terminal is at Bayonne, N. J.

In today's hearing Attorney Frank Kellogg, for the government, asked C. M. Payne, an employe of the Standard, who advised the building of the delivery tanks at Center Bridge.

"I did," interposed Milburn, "for I thought that under the law that there should be a delivery point there. I thought it excellent advice."

"I don't," said Kellogg.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY

That of Camp Branch Held a Delightful Meeting.

A splendid meeting was held by the Camp Branch Ladies' Aid society at the beautiful home of Mrs. W. Willis, of Green Ridge, Wednesday afternoon.

At 3 o'clock the regular devotional exercises were held by the president, Mrs. Atterby, followed by prayer, after which several sacred songs were sung. Following this a regular business meeting was held, all the members being present but two. Other numbers were:

Select reading, by Miss Maybelle Height; recitation, Mrs. Claud Arnett; select vocal music, Mrs. Claud Arnett, Lima Gorrell and Mabel Height.

After the business was transacted the guests were invited to the dining room, where a three-course lunch was served. The color scheme was white and pink.

An admission of 10 cents was charged and the sum of $3.25 was realized.

The meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. Hinton Gorrell the third Wednesday in October.

The ladies of this society deserve praise and encouragement in the good work they are doing.

We cordially invite all who are in sympathy with our work.—A Guest.

Joplin Woman Has Just Heard of Wealth Left Her By Will.

Joplin, Mo., Sept. 26.—Failing in every effort to find her sister, Mrs. E. E. Vance has lived for years in poverty and distress in Joplin when she might have been enjoying the fortune that was left to her by the death of her grandfather several years ago.

A letter received by Postmaster McGehee, of Joplin, from Mrs. E. J. Worth, of Albany, N. Y., sister of Mrs. Vance, led to a reunion of the sisters, and now Mrs. Vance is awaiting word from Albany before she is in a position to state just what the extent of her fortune will be.

THE SCHOOL DEDICATED

SACRED HEART PARISH HAD A MEMORABLE DAY OF IT SUNDAY.

A CLASS OF 130 WAS CONFIRMED

School Structure Then Dedicated by Bishop Lillis, Who Lectured at Night, His Subject Being "Education."

(From Monday's Daily.)

In the presence of several hundred people, many of whom were non-Catholics, Rt. Rev. Bishop Thomas F. Lillis, of the Leavenworth, Kas., diocese, solemnly dedicated the new $20,000 school building of Sacred Heart church, Third and Vermont streets, Sunday, it also being the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the parish.

Solemn high mass was celebrated at the church by Rev. Fr. Boniface Russ, of Carthagena, O., provincial of the order of C. PP. S. priests, at 10 o'clock, Rev. Fr. Edward Schmidt, of Lake Creek, acting as deacon, with Rev. Fr. Reitz, formerly of this city, but now of St. Joseph, as subdeacon.

The morning sermon was delivered by Rev. Fr. Benedict, of St. Joseph, who highly commended the parishioners of the church for their active interest in erecting a building that will stand as a monument to their credit for many generations to come.

After the celebration of the mass, Bishop Lillis delivered a forcible talk on the sacrament of confirmation, comparing it with that of the sacrament of baptism, wherein infants, through their sponsors, denounce Satan with all his pomp.

After the interesting talk a class of one hundred and thirty children and adults were confirmed by the reverend bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lennartz standing as sponsors. Following this the class that had been confirmed, followed by Bishop Lillis and the visiting priests and a crowd of several hundred, marched to the new school building, where the usual dedicatory ceremonies were carried out, Bishop Lillis, assisted by the following priests conducting the services: Rev. Fr. Boniface Russ, of Carthagena, O.; Rev. Fr. Benedict Bochner, of St. Joseph; Rev. Fr. Edward Schmidt, of Lake Creek; Rev. Fr. Theobold Reitz, of St. Joseph; Rev. Fr. B. R. McNamee, pastor of St. Patrick's church, this city; Rev. Fr. Neiberg, pastor of Sacred Heart church, and his assistants, Rev. Fr. Christian Daniel and Rev. Fr. Rudolph Stoltz.

Following the close of the dedicatory services, the throng of people repaired to the dining parlors of the new building, where meals, consisting of a menu of substantials and delicacies donated by generous parishioners of the church, were served from 1 to 8 o'clock by the married and young women of the parish.

A reception committee was stationed at the entrance of the building to welcome all comers, while at different parts of the edifice a number of young ladies and young men in charge of various refreshment stands assisted in entertaining.

The Sedalia Military band was engaged for the services and rendered a pleasant musical program throughout the afternoon and night.

Last night, beginning promptly at 8 o'clock, a select literary and musical program was rendered, the numbers following:

Solo by quartette, composed of Thomas Hall, Edward Sauer, Carl Hoberecht and Andrew Knipp. Miss Amelia Lorsbach played the accompaniment.

Miss Kittie Allen, accompanied on the piano by Miss Josie Rast, charmingly rendered a vocal solo, responding to an encore.

Miss Louise Rast delivered a very interesting recitation, and, responding to the applause, delivered an amusing monologue.

An enjoyable duet on the piano by Misses Josie Rast and Amelia Lorsbach followed, after which E. G. Cassidy, who, with a number of other laymen, occupied seats with the clergy on the rostrum, introduced Mr. Thomas Buckley, who acted as chairman of the meeting.

Mr. Buckley, in flattering remarks, introduced Bishop Lillis. The latter is a gentleman of pleasing appearance, and began his talk by saying that several weeks ago he was asked by the pastor of Sacred Heart church, Rev. Fr. Neiberg, to confirm a class here on September 22. He replied that he would.

A second letter asked him to dedicate the new school building. A third letter asked that a lecture be delivered. To this the reverend bishop did not reply. A second letter asking the same favor was received soon after, and to this he did not reply. The next letter received asked what would be the subject of his lecture. To this he replied, "Your letter received; good-bye."

The next information received was a card stating that an address on "Education, the Base of Good American Citizenship," would be delivered by Rt. Rev. Bishop Thomas F. Lillis, of Leavenworth, Kas.

"That's how I know what I am to talk about," the reverend bishop humorously remarked, and a burst of laughter went up from the audience.

For almost an hour Bishop Lillis delivered one of the best, most forcible and to-the-point talks ever heard by the parishioners of Sacred Heart church. Clearly and decisively, with firmness and determination displayed in the features of his countenance, he referred to the principles of education as taught in the parochial and secular schools of the country.

"Sacrifices must be made," he said, and he then referred to the one on this occasion, where the members of Sacred Heart church had labored zealously to erect a school that would stand as a monument to future generations.

The speaker diverged to the subject of "Divorces," and intermingled his talk by presenting figures furnished by careful statisticians, who say in their reports that yearly 75,000 couples are divorced in this country. The speaker said:

"Seventy-five thousand homes destroyed and 150,000 divorced people thrown out into the world every year. What good are such people to society?" the speaker inquired. "Our orphan asylums are filled with children whose homes were destroyed by divorce. For almost any trivial cause men and women rush to the divorce courts and apply for a decree that they might again enjoy single bliss.

"Our legislators, jealous of the privilege of South Dakota and its divorce laws, pass laws granting divorce for various causes. It is true that a majority of the judges of our country prefer refusing to grant divorces, but there are the laws providing for the different cases and they must be adhered to.

"A rich man desiring another wife consults his constituents and then enters the legislature. Having enjoyed the privilege of possessing two wives, he thinks his neighbor should enjoy the same privilege, and he passes laws providing that his neighbor also shall have a second wife, for almost any trivial cause."

The speaker then spoke on the subject of "Socialism." He referred to that class of people as those who advocate strife and discord between employer and employe and bitterly denounce the principles of that political body.

In concluding his remarks Bishop Lillis said: "The child of today is the man of tomorrow, and as we educate the child now so will the man be in the next generation. The father of his country, George Washington, said, 'Of all the dispositions and habits which lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensible supports.'

"We know religion is essential for man under all conditions of life. Otherwise the Savior would not have endured so much to have His religion prevail and established in the hearts of men. The mind and heart are to be trained simultaneously, and principles of religion are necessary to the formation of a strong and virtuous character.

"There is a trinity of agencies that must work in harmony if we hope for the perpetuity of our institutions. The home, the church and the school are to combine their endeavors and influences on the mind of the child. Education without religion must, of necessity, be incomplete, and sooner or later the people of our country will realize that religion must take a prominent place in the school room.

"Religious training during the school hours will not remedy all our disorders. But surely we can have more hope when he know religion is not forgotten.

"The wounds of society are to be healed by the same remedies that were applied long ago by the Divine Healer. All things must be restored in

FOUR DEAD IN A WRECK

HEAD-END COLLISION ON THE M. K. & T. AT 5 O'CLOCK THIS MORNING.

SAID AN OPERATOR IS TO BLAME

Trains Met Near Evansville, on Hannibal Division, and Two Engineers, Fireman and Brakeman Are Killed.

(Monday's Daily.)

Two Missouri, Kansas and Texas freight trains collided at 5 o'clock this morning near Evansville, a town eight miles north of Moberly, on the Hannibal division, and four members of the two crews were killed.

It is said the negligence of the operator at Paris, Monroe county, who failed to hold the southbound train there, was responsible for the wreck.

Engineer Winnegar and Conductor McLaughlin were in charge of the southbound train.

The northbound train consisted of an engine and caboose only, in charge of Conductor Curran and Engineer Bledsoc.

Engineers Winnegar and Bledsoe were killed, as was also a brakeman and fireman named Wilkerson and Schroeder, respectively.

The dead engineers lived at Hannibal and have families.

The fireman and brakeman lived at New Franklin, but it is not known whether they were married.

Engineer Winnegar ran out of Sedalia several years ago as a fireman with Engineer John Dandy. He was promoted some time ago, and since then has been running out of Hannibal.

Engineer Bledsoe was also a fireman out of Sedalia for a short time, but nothing is known regarding the two other dead men, Messrs. Wilkerson and Schroeder.

An Associated Press telegram to the Democrat-Sentinel gives the following in regard to the collision:

"A freight and work train on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad collided head-on two miles east of Moberly early today. Four members of the crew were killed and two seriously injured.

"The dead: Engineer Winneger, of Hannibal; Engineer Bledsoe, of Hannibal; Charles Wilkerson, a brakeman, of New Franklin; Fireman Schroeder, of New Franklin.

"Seriously injured: Conductor Curran, of New Franklin; Brakeman Gibson, of New Franklin.

"The trains were running at a high rate of speed and met on a curve. Both engines were badly wrecked.

"The blame is laid on the operator at Paris, who, it is alleged, mixed his orders."

Conductor Curran is a son of Henry Curran, who resides in East Sedalia, and is well known in railway circles.

THE MINISTERS' ALLIANCE

An Interesting Meeting Was Held This Forenoon.

(Monday's Daily.)

The Ministerial Alliance held its regular meeting this morning in the study of the First M. E. church, the session held proving a most interesting one.

Several visitors were present and made short talks, among them being: Prof. Lhamon, of Columbia, Mo.; J. B. Bollman, of Kansas City, representing the Society for the Friendless; Dr. G. L. Shepard and Mr. Moon.

Prof. Lhamon spoke on "Immorality and Criminality Among Young Men," delivering a forceful and well arranged address on the subject.

Dr. Shepard made a few remarks on Sunday school work, and Mr. Bollman addressed the ministers on behalf of the society he represents.

A general discussion of topics of interest to the Alliance brought the meeting to a close.

POSSESSES REBATE EVIDENCE

Government's Attorney, It Is Said, Will Surprise Standard Oil.

New York, Sept. 23.—It is understood that Frank B. Kellogg, the government's attorney in its suit to dissolve the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, has important evidence in his possession bearing on the alleged relationship between the railroad rebates and the profits of the corporation during the last eight years. This will come as a surprise to the company.

It is also said that this phase of Kellogg's case is being reserved until the line of questioning pursued during last week is finished. To back his evidence Kellogg has had subpoenas served on several prominent railroad men.

QUARANTINE AT LAMONTE

Death From Diphtheria Closes Schools and Churches.

Another case of diphtheria developed at Lamonte Sunday and the city board of health has placed three houses under quarantine regulations, the public schools have been ordered closed and all church services and public meetings prohibited for two weeks.

A revival meeting, which had been conducted by the Rev. R. Tibbs Maxey, of Des Moines, Ia., at the Christian church here for one week, was ordered closed.

TWO KILLED IN RIOT

Races Clash at Indian Territory Street Fair.

Hartshorne, I. T., Sept. 23.—In a race riot here Saturday night one young white man, named Johnson, was killed instantly by a negro, and a young negro from Tishomingo, an innocent bystander, was killed by a white man.

Hartshorne is a mining town, fifteen miles east of McAlester. It has a population of about 2,000.

A street fair was being held, and a quarrel started between some negroes and white boys on the principal street.

HOME FROM PHILIPPINES

Extract From a Letter From Earl Mathis to His Parents.

Earl Mathis, son of Rev. and Mrs. G. W Mathis, just home from the Philippines, and now at Fort Crook, Neb., writes as follows to his parents:

"Dear Ones at Home: I have landed in the United States again. San Francisco didn't look as it did when we left it, over four years ago.

"We left the Philippine Islands August 15th and landed in Japan August 20th. We were at sea for thirty-one days.

"The sea was quite rough for some days. We didn't know whether we would land on the home side or not.

"I am now flying on the train for Fort Crook, Neb. My time will be up in December, so I will be home after four years to eat turkey. Love to all.—Earl."

Entertained in the Country

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Mayfield entertained a large party of young folks Friday night at their spacious country home, five miles south of Otterville. The rooms were tastefully decorated with masses of golden rod, and at a late hour refreshments of lemonade and cake were served. The evening was passed with games and music, and all enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent.

PRISON WORKER IS HERE

THE REV. J. B. BOLLMAN, OF THE SOCIETY, "HOME FOR THE FRIENDLESS."

MOTTO; HELP A MAN WHEN DOWN

It Has Aided One Hundred Men in Missouri the First Six Months This Year—Supported Entirely by Gifts.

(Monday's Daily.)

Rev. J. B. Bollman, of Kansas City, the well known prison worker, is here for his fourth annual visit.

He made addresses in four of our local churches Sunday, and will speak in other churches next Sunday.

Mr. Bollman is a welcome visitor among the churches, schools and colleges, homes and places of business wherever he goes in the state.

The humane, practical and Christian work of the Society for the Friendless is becoming well known in the middle west. This organization is the "first friend" of the ex-convict. "Help a man when he is down" is the motto. This society has aided 100 men in Missouri during the first six months of this year.

More than 500 from the prisons of the two states, Missouri and Kansas, have been assisted by finding employment, homes, working clothes and medical treatment, and not over 10 or 15 per cent have returned to their old ways or gone back to prison.

The organization urges through legislation the juvenile court, the parole system and the wage law. The superintendents reach many thousands of young people each year with helpful teachings concerning the prevention of crime. Effective evangelistic work is done in jails, workhouses, reform schools and prisons. The movement is supported entirely by the gifts of the people.

Mr. Bollman will remain in Sedalia until noon Wednesday. He is rooming at 414 East Fifth street, at the home of R. B. Evans.

TO RUN SHUTTLE TRAINS

The Speed Ordinance Question Was Settled Long Ago.

(Monday's Daily.)

A railroad official stated today that the two local railroads will undoubtedly run shuttle trains during the week of the state fair.

The speed ordinance has been arranged so that there is no complaint upon the part of the railways.

The only question at issue was the reduction of the fare to two cents a mile.

The reduction does not apply to the fair grounds line, Attorney General Hadley says, so it is safe to presume that shuttle trains will be run this year, just as they were last year.

ASSAULTER IS CAPTURED

Farm Hand Who Attacked 13-Year-Old Girl Is Caught.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 23—Alvin Hart, who is wanted in Manhattan, Kas., on the charge of criminally assaulting the 13-year-old daughter of a farmer living near that town, was arrested here yesterday and will be turned over to Sheriff Hobbs, of Pottawatomie county. Hart was employed by the father of the girl when the assault occurred.

RETURNED TO JOPLIN

FATHER COMES AFTER DAUGHTER WHO WAS DESERTED HERE LAST WEDNESDAY.

THE PARENT PAID THE BOARD BILL

Wife Deserter Pawned Diamond Ring to Secure Money—Planned a Double Tragedy, but Did Not Execute It.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Nothing has been heard from W. H. Garner, the Kuku Hair Tonic salesman, who deserted his wife in this city last Wednesday, leaving her penniless, and at the same time leaving an unpaid board bill and several other debts contracted by him while here.

On leaving Garner wrote a letter to the father of his wife, Mr. Bower, of Joplin, Mo., stating that she was in Sedalia penniless, and for him to either come after her or to send her money to return to her home on. When the letter was received Mr. Bower immediately started for Sedalia, and returned to his home accompanied by his daughter Friday evening.

The letter the wife deserter wrote stated that he had at first, while in a despondent mood, thought of killing his wife and then ending his own miserable career, but afterwards he had changed his mind and decided not to carry out this intention.

Mr. Bower, when told of how his daughter had been treated at the hands of Garner, was considerably enraged, but for her sake paid the board bill that was held against the missing man and his wife, but in doing so said: "I don't mind paying anything for my daughter, but it is not to my liking to pay anything for that scoundrel."

The father of the deserted wife is of the opinion that Garner was married previous to his marriage with his daughter and seems anxious to locate him to prosecute him if possible.

While here the hair tonic man secured a diamond ring from his wife, pawning it, and later taking it out of the pawnshop, presumably securing some money on it somewhere else, or taking it with him as he left the city.

MR. BYNG IS TO LEAVE

He Goes to Charleston, S. C., as Manager for R. G. Dun & Co.

John W. Byng, since January 1, 1905, manager of the R. G. Dun Mercantile agency in this city, has been promoted to manager of the company's agency at Charleston, S. C., and will leave to enter upon his new duties as soon as his successor is named.

The new position which Mr. Byng is to take is a much better one than the local position, as the salary is considerably larger, and Mr. Byng's friends in this city, although regretting to see him leave, rejoice in his deserved promotion.

Mr. Byng entered the employ of the Dun Mercantile agency at Paducah, Ky., ten years ago. In 1900 he was promoted to a position with the St. Louis offices, and one year later was promoted to chief clerk of the agency at Springfield, Mo.

He remained there until 1905, when he came to Sedalia as manager of the local office and by his tireless efforts and energetic attentiveness to the company interests he has worked up an aggregate of business unequaled by any of his predecessors.

Sunday Schools' Work

DR. G. L. SHEPARD, CO. SUPT.—NO. 31.

The September meeting of the Sedalia Sunday school union will be held at the Central Presbyterian church Tuesday evening, September 24th, at 7:30 p. m.

We have promise of papers that should be of vital interest to every Sunday school worker. Mrs. F. Merriwether will have a paper on "Preparation," Dr. E. D. Holbert one on "The Qualified Teacher," and Miss Ethel McCluney and Miss Ingra Englund each one on "Regularity and Punctuality." These were the most popular among the "important points" in our late correspondence. The papers will be of about ten minutes' length each. There will be time for brief discussion of each and further suggestion along these lines.

We are taking especial pains to have every one informed of the time and place of meeting and hope we shall have a largely attended and profitable session.

These Sunday school union meetings, if properly conducted and attended, can hardly fail to be of great benefit to every school participating. We are using our best efforts to make them a success and ask your cordial support. This is the Master's work, let us be faithful in each doing our part.

Last Sunday was Rally day at the second Congregational Sunday school. We had received an invitation to be present, but had not been notified of a place on program. We attended, tried our best to say a few encouraging words when called on, and enjoyed the rest of the exercises.

The "Rally" was not so large as it should have been and might and would have been had a united and earnest effort on the part of the school been made.

Too many leaders fail from trying to do all the work themselves. The successful leader is he who stimulates each one under his leadership to active, personal effort. It is not the excellence of the leader, but the united effort of the many—the whole—that wins success. The leader should stimulate and incite and direct effort; but, as before remarked, we enjoyed the exercises.

Mr. Chas. E. West, a long time superintendent, read an excellent paper on "How to Make the Sunday School Attractive." Mr. West has had unusual opportunity to note the attractive features in many Sunday schools, besides his long personal experience. His paper should be heard at a county or state convention.

Rev. B. F. Longan, formerly of Sedalia, now in the missionary field for the American Sunday school union, gave an interesting talk on what is being accomplished by that great organization.

During the year ending February 28, 1907, there were 1878 new Sunday schools organized, and 724 were reorganized, in all containing 162,034 members. Seventy-six churches organized as the result of previous Sunday school work.

The pastor, Rev. T. R Gray, made a good talk, and there was excellent music—a beautiful and well rendered song by a class of little girls—we do not recall the title of the song—and a duet by two young ladies, "I Am Satisfied With Jesus, is He Satisfied With Me?" This was sung very sweetly and distinctly an essential feature in the enjoyment of sacred music.

On our way to the "Rally" we called on the East Sedalia Baptist and Epworth M. E. Sunday schools. At the East Sedalia Baptist we found them practicing the "Punctuality and Regularity" point to a good degree, having a very large attendance and but very few tardy.

The superintendant, Mr. Chas. Hoffman, had his program for the day prepared, music selected and no delay in waiting for the selection of songs. This is as it should be. In this way variety in opening exercises can easily be provided. It was with regret that we left as soon as the opening exercises were over, but we had another important call to make at the Epworth church.

Here our call was still shorter, but we received a cordial greeting and found an active, earnest school. We hope some day to spend an entire session with them. We hope to have the October meeting of the union in East Sedalia.

A few more words from Marian Lawrance:

"The teacher is the supreme power in the school, and, next to the minister, the highest officer in the church."

"I should feel it an honor if I were promoted from superintendent to teacher of a class."

"Not that which I may not remember, but that which I cannot forget, constitutes my knowledge."

"Every additional honor of study means more power in teaching."

Do not forget the Sunday school union Tuesday evening at the Central Presbyterian church. Come and bring your friends.

CASE OF SENATOR BORAH

IT WILL BE CALLED FOR TRIAL AT BOISE, IDAHO, TOMORROW MORNING.

CONSPIRED TO DEFRAUD UNCLE SAM

This Is the Charge Against Him and Trial Is Likely to Attract as Much Attention as the Haywood Case.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 21.—United States Senator William E. Borah, leader in the prosecution of William D. Haywood and other "undesirable citizens" of the Western Federation of Miners, will face an Idaho jury Monday to defend himself of the charge of conspiring to defraud the national government by securing illegal entry of timber lands.

The trial will attract national attention, as Senator Borah is a personal friend of President Roosevelt, and the latter is alleged to have used his influence to prevent the arrest of the senator when the indictments were returned last April in order that Borah might be free to conduct the Haywood prosecution.

Although several other prominent men were indicted with him, Senator Borah has been granted the privilege of a separate trial. Witnesses have been subpoenaed for Monday, the date set for the beginning of the trial, and it is believed that there will be no delay, as Borah has been insistent in demanding an immediate trial.

It is likely that the trial of George Pettibone, who was indicted with Haywood and Moyer for the murder of ex-Governor Steunenberg, will have to be postponed as a result of the Borah trial. In that case, attorneys for the Western Federation of Miners will probably demand his release on bail. If Borah should be convicted it is generally believed that the cases against Pettibone and Moyer would be dropped. Borah has been the mainstay of the state in the prosecution of the Federation leaders, and if he should be convicted of a crime it would serve to thoroughly discredit the state in the Steunenberg case.

The case for the government will be conducted by Attorneys B. M. C. Burch, of Denver, and S. H. Rush, of Omaha. The latter is a special assistant attorney general, representing the department of justice. He has relieved District Attorney Ruick in these cases, owing to the allegation of Borah that Ruick's personal enmity toward him was responsible for the finding of the indictment. Ruick will act in an advisory capacity only at the trial.

The indictment against Senator Borah and others was returned by the federal grand jury last April, and charges conspiracy to defraud the national government in connection with securing valuable timber lands by the Barber Lumber company, for which Borah was attorney at the time of the transaction.

In addition to Borah, the indictment of the grand jury includes Frank Martin, attorney general of Idaho under Governor Steunenberg's administration; J. T. Barber and Summer G. Moon, millionaire stockholders of the Barber Lumber company, residing in Wisconsin; J. I. Wells P. H. Downs; John Kinkaid, L. M. Pritchard, William Sweet, Albert M. Palmer and H. S. Rand. The name of John Doe and Richard Roe, defendants unknown to the grand jury, also appear in the indictment. The charge is that these persons entered into unlawful conspiracy in September, 1901, and at various other times, to secure, by fraudulent entry, timber lands in Boise county, Idaho.

It is alleged that William Sweet, one of the men indicted, has turned state's evidence on promises of immunity and that it is on his testimony that the government attorneys largely rely to secure a conviction. Friends of the other indicted men declare that the confession of Sweet is false and was secured through threats. In this respect the case against Borah closely resembles the one he recently prosecuted against Haywood, and in which he attempted to secure a conviction on the strength of the confession of an alleged accomplice.

Ex-Attorney General Frank Martin, who was a member of the Steunenberg administration and was indicted with Borah, has filed a plea of abatement, accompanied by an affidavit in which he makes sensational charges against District Attorney Ruick. He alleges that members of the grand jury which returned the indictment were forced to do so by the district attorney, and that they did not know how Borah and Martin were included in the charges.

Martin declares that members of the grand jury were addressed by Ruick while they were considering the case, and that Ruick in his speech asserted that President Roosevelt had commanded him to see that the indictments were found.

Intense interest in the trial is manifested by the people of Boise and Idaho, and the case will undoubtedly attract more local attention than the famous Haywood trial, to which it is, in effect, a sequel. Senator Borah is immensely popular and public sentiment is largely in his favor. His failure to secure the conviction of Haywood, after the state had spent large sums of moneye to attain that end, has slightly dimmed his fame however, and if the coming trial should result in Borah's conviction the senator's political career will probably come to an abrupt end.

FOUND $2,000 IN COUCH

AND UNDER THE COVER OF OLD CHAIR JUST BEFORE GIVING THEM AWAY.

PECULIAR OHIO OLD LADY'S WILL

Other Articles of Furniture Given to the Salvation Army, and It Is Likely Money Was Secreted in Them Also.

Dayton, O., Sept. 21.—George Kohler, stepson of Mrs. Frances Kohler, who died yesterday, found more than $2,000 secreted in a cluch and under the seat of an old chair, just before these articles were turned over to charitable institutions, as provided in her will.

Since the death of Mrs. Khler her stepsn has been quietly investigating, having learned that she withdrew quite a sum frm the bank a short time before her death.

He made a systematic search of her late home on Ludlow street, finally discovering the money in the cushions of the furniture.

Some of the furniture had been turned over to the Salvation Army, and it is possible that money was also concealed in the coverings of the piecese thus disposed of.

WON SUPPER FOR TEN

Ed Bennett Entertained Friends at Sumptuous Repast.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Ed Bennett, one of Washington township's best democrats, won a ten-dollar supper, or a supper with ten plates, from J. R. McAllister at the last state fair on a guess, the supper to be served at Pehl's when called to.

Last night Mr. Bennett came in with the following invited guests: Col. Mike Doherty, of Green Ridge, who acted as toastmaster; R. L. Hampton, J. R. Hampton, John Kroencke, C. L. Bruce, Councilman F. F. Hatton, John L. Sullivan, Lon Ware and a representative of the Democrat-Sentinel. The supper, one of Walch's best, was discussed from 8 to 10 o'clock and was served in courses, including fresh oysters, washed down with soft drinks.

Col. Doherty was assisted by Lon Ware, John Sullivan and Forrest Hatton in entertaining the guests and a most enjoyable evening was spent, with thanks to Mr. Bennett for his hospitality being extended by his guests.

THE LOYAL REBEKAHS

Celebrated the 56th Anniversary of Founding of Order.

Loyal Rebekah lodge No. 260, I. O. O. F., had a most enjoyable time Friday evening, the occasion being the fifty-sixth anniversary of the founding of the order.

The ceremony of the founding of the Rebekah degree was taken part in by the officers of the organization, after which an interesting program was rendered.

Mrs. T. J. Taylor, noble grand, and Mrs. B. H. Miller, vice grand, were in charge of the affair, which proved a most successful one in every particular.

A sumptuous repast was served, consisting of many delicacies, and was partaken of with much relish by all present.

The program as given follows:

Reading—Miss Daisy Vaughn.

Reading—Mrs. Nellie Eiseman.

Instrumental solo—Miss Daisy Vaughn.

Reading—Mrs. Jerome Moyer.

Violin solo—B. H. Miller.

Death of Mrs. Spiegel.

Mrs. Gotliep Spiegel, a former resident of Smithton, and a sister of Peter Mueller, of this city, died of pneumonia at Hunleyville, Cal., September 14th, aged 53 years. Deceased is survived by her husband, five children, three brothers and one sister.

THEIR SILVER JUBILEE

W. C. T. U. OF MISSOURI HELD SERVICE OF AN INTERESTING NATURE.

$321.35 SUM WAS CONTRIBUTED

The Diamond Medal Contest Was Held Friday Night, Mrs. G. A. Melton, of Mount Vernon, Mo., Being the Winner.

Before the close of the twenty fifth annual convention of the Missouri Woman's Christian Temperance Union in this city Friday, in addition to the regular proceedings previously published for that day, a local workers' conference was held, during which one minute talks were made by the district presidents of the various unions of the state. The speeches made were all bright and original, and fifty delegates made remarks, consuming about one hour's time. The line of talk was on "Good Things for the Old Year; New Things for the New Year."

At the conclusion of the conference a resolution endorsing the national prohibition party committee of the state for their action in extending an invitation for the holding of the next national convention of that political organization in Kansas City was read and adopted.

Another resolution was adopted, to the effect that the Union workers study carefully the laws now in vogue requiring druggists to file prescriptions filled by them for liquor with the clerk of the county court in the different counties, and to have the prosecuting attorneys in all counties examine them and enforce the law rigidly for any violations.

Each district president led her delegation in what was styled the "silver jubilee," in which all the delegates contributed for the good of the temperance cause, and with each donation Scripture or other quotations were given. Mrs. Eliza B. Ingalls, of St. Louis, was in charge and the sum of $321.35 was raised.

An invitation for the next convention from delegates representing Carthage was extended, and was turned over to the executive committee, who will select the place for the next convention and issue a call for it in due time.

Kansas City and Clinton delegations both desire the mid-year convention, to be held next March, and this also was put into the hands of the executive committee, to make a selection of the place.

Mrs. Eliza B. Ingalls was tendered a vote of thanks for her untiring work in assisting to make the convention the grand success that it proved to be, and after the closing thoughts and prayer by the state president, Mrs. Clara C. Hoffman, adjournment was taken.

The diamond medal contest given in the evening, bringing to a close the four days' meeting, was one of the most largely attended of any ever held by the organization. The program rendered was an excellent one, and aside from the regular contestants a number of Sedalia people took part, giving musical numbers.

Miss Chrissie Willoughby, of Springfield, the first contestant on the program, gave an essay, "The Ballot of the Bishop and the Brewer."

"The Court of the Last Appeal" an oration by L. H. Vincent, of Jasper City, followed, and then came an essay on that subject, "Christian Patriotism," by Mrs. G. A. Melton, of Mt. Vernon.

Miss Richmond, of Carthage, was the fourth and last contestant, her subject being, "Facing a Few Facts."

The judges in making the award of the medal were out some little time, during which Miss Permelia Mahan gave a reading.

Mrs. G. A. Melton, a daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Melton, of Sedalia, proved a winner, and tendered her thanks to the W. C. T. U. for the valuable gift.

An initiatory drill of the new temperance order being formed in Sedalia was given as the last number on the evening's program.

Death of L. W. Jennings.

L. W. Jennings, a former Sedalian, died of general debility, aged 80 years, at his home, ten miles northeast of town, at 8 o'clock Friday night. He leaves a wife and daughter. Funeral services were held at the residence by Rev. Jones at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and interment was in the family burying ground.

Child Has Diphtheria.

Norman White, the three-year old child of Henry White, of 315 Howard street is bedfast with diphtheria at its parents home.

Hill's Business College Notes.

Miss Carrie Murray, whom we have just placed in the office of the secretary of the state board of agriculture, is the fourth stenographer we have furnished this important office. This reminds us that we have a good many stenographers in various state offices, including Mr. H. L. Gilman, private secretary to the warden of the state penitentiary; Mr. Holmes Hall, private secretary and reporter for Hon. Henry Lamm, judge of the supreme court, and Miss Gertrude Pendleton, stenographer to the state superintendent of public instruction.

A letter from Mr. Edgar C. Nelson, who recently accepted a position as secretary to Mr. C. W. Hetherington, of the University of Missouri, at a salary of $75 per month to begin, writes that he is getting along nicely with his work and likes his position fine.

Mr. Bruce McArtor, of Lamonte, Mo., was placed as bookkeeper with the Buchanan Lumber company, of Texas, within three days after graduating from our commercial department. He begins with a salary of $60 per month.

Mr. Ernest Masterson, a graduate of our commercial department, has just left for Kansas City to accept a good position.

Miss Grace Roark has accepted a position as stenographer with H. L. Guerrant Grocer company, of Sedalia. This reminds us that not only here, but at the Beiler Grocer company, of Sedalia, we are furnishing the entire force of stenographers.

Miss Lulu Newkirk, secretary of the Alumni society of the college, has just resigned as bookkeeper and stenographer for F. F. Combs Real Estate and Insurance company, of this city, to accept a position in Kansas City at an advance in salary.

Mr. F. B. Clark, president of the H. B. C. club at St. Louis, informs us that the H. B. C. club expects to hold a picnic at one of the parks in St. Louis on September 29th, and invites the attendance of the president and faculty of Hill's Business college. The club numbers nearly a hundred members and its members are holding leading positions in railroad and commercial circles.

The number of students in our correspondence department is being steadily increased by the enrollment of those who cannot enter school at once. Anyone purchasing a scholarship is entitled to free instruction by mail until able to enter school. This means a saving of from $15 to $30 on such scholarship, the amount of board, room and incidental expenses for the time saved. The work done by correspondence is identical with the work done in the school and enables students to complete the course in from four weeks to two months less than the average time.

Clerk Has Resumed Duties.

EARLY DAYS AT TIPTON

L. A. Hood Tells How the Town Derived Its Name.

Another old and honored pioneer is the person of L. A. Hood, who resided a few miles north of this city, made this office a pleasant call Monday morning, says the Tipton Times. Mr. Hood called our attention to an error in the date when the first steam engine made its appearance in Tipton. Our type made us say 1853, when it should have been 1858.

Mr. Hood said: "It was in 185 when I left my old Kentucky home. We came to St. Louis, where we secured passage on a freight train that came west as far as Jefferson City at that time. The Missouri Pacific railroad was in course of construction westward, but the first train did not reach Tipton until 1858.

"I recall that the first lot sales in Tipton was in 1858. At that time there was but two houses and one store building in Tipton.

"W. Tipton Seeley, from whom Tipton derived its name, was operating a store about three miles north of here. He at that time owned a large portion of the land on which the town now stands, and donated several town lots as an inducement to sell others and to establish a town hence, the name Tipton was selected as the name of the new Greater Tipton."

GOT ON WRONG TRAIN

Landed at Warsaw, Mo., Instead of Warsaw, Ill.

Tuesday, after the arrival of the morning train, a genteel man went to Clark's grocery store and asked where Mr. Burkhardt lived, says the Warsaw Enterprise. Mr. Clark did not know of a Mr. Burkhardt.

The man asked, "This is Warsaw, Illinois, isn't it?" Mr. Clark told him that it was Warsaw, Missouri. The man said that he lived in Fort Worth, Texas. Monday night, when at the Union station, St. Louis, he asked for and paid for a ticket to Warsaw, Ill., and supposed he was going the right direction to the Warsaw where his wife was visiting.

He took the afternoon train for the right Warsaw. He said that he feared that he would have to pay a fine in St. Louis.

S.S.S. A CERTAIN SAFE TREATMENT

Even if mercury and potash could cure Contagious Blood Poison the condition in which these strong minerals leave the system would make the "cure worse than the disease." But they cannot cure the vile disorder; they can only cover up the symptoms for awhile or mask the disease in the system, but as soon as the treatment is left off the hideous symptoms return. Mercury and potash eat out the delicate lining of the stomach and bowels, produce chronic dyspepsia by drying up the gastric juices, cause the teeth to decay, and often completely break down the constitution, and where they are used in large quantities, the bones become affected, while the disease for which one has so long taken this destructive treatment has not been cured. Contagious Blood Poison is a disease it will not do to trifle with. It is a vile, dangerous and destructive disorder. When the blood becomes infected with its virus the mouth and throat ulcerate, hair and eyebrows come out, glands in the neck and groin swell, copper-colored spots appear on the flesh, and in severe cases sores break out on the body, the finger nails drop off and the sufferer is diseased from head to foot. S. S. S. is the only known antidote for Contagious Blood Poison—the one remedy that is able to get to the root of the disease and force out every particle of the poison so that there are never any signs of its return. It is purely vegetable, made entirely from roots, herbs and barks of known curative value. Instead of leaving bad after-effects as some medicines do, S. S. S. tones up every part of the system and puts every part of the body in perfect health. It will also remove any lingering effects of former mineral treatment while eradicating the poison from the circulation. Special book on the home treatment of this disease and any medical advice desired furnished free to all who write.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA GA.

SIMS STOLE $100,000

Served His Sentence and Will Be Released Tomorrow.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 21.—Hallam Sims, the young Atlanta banker and society man who was sentenced to the United States prison in April, 1903, for embezzlement of $100,000 from the Capital City National bank, causing the suspension of that institution, will conclude his term of imprisonment tomorrow.

Sims was sentenced to serve six years behind the bars, but his excellent conduct has given him the benefit of the full reduction allowed by law for good behavior.

Sims' arrest and conviction caused a great sensation at the time, as he was one of the leaders in the younger set of Atlanta society and a welcome visitor in every home in the capital.

Although his defalcation caused the bank to suspend, it paid dollar for dollar to its depositors, and something above par to its stockholders but retired from business as a result of the stain which had been put upon it by the act of Sims.

WENT TO FLAT CREEK

And Ate Clams Served By Klu Klux Klam Klub Sunday.

Fifty members of the Klu Klux Klam Klub enjoyed an old-fashioned Rhode Island clam bake given Sunday at Thatcher's ford, on Flat Creek.

The bake was put on in elegant style by a corps of experts at preparing the clams, and when served was partaken of with much relish by the entire assemblage.

The Klam Klub had a similar bake on Labor day, and this proved so popular that the members planned for other live events to be given from time to time so long as the weather will permit

Pitching horseshoes and other popular amusements were indulged in by the party enjoying the outing, and no one regretted that they were among the merrymakers.

HOURS IN HIGH SCHOOL

The Cause of a Bitter Fight at Joplin, Missouri.

Joplin, Mo., Sept. 23.—With Supt. E.J. Vert, of the Joplin public schools, stoutly maintaining that his students cannot be excused during study hours for the purpose of taking music lessons, or for any other reason except of great importance, and with the citizens of Joplin, in great numbers, signing petitions requesting the school board to cause the school restrictions to be less rigid, it appears that exciting times are in store for all parties concerned.

At the head of the movement to bring about a change in Prof. Vert's decision is Clay Gregory, secretary of the Joplin Commercial club. He states that the wishes of the majority of citizens should be observed.

Supt. Vert comes from El Paso, Texas, this being his first year in Joplin. He brought with him numerous ideas of his own and in almost every instance he has been successful in influencing the school board to his way of thinking.

Vert maintained that the High school hours of last year, namely from 8:30 a. m. to 1 p. m., with a short intermission for recess, were absurd, and succeeded in bringing about a radical change, the hours this year at the High school being from 8:30 a. m. to 3 p. m., with an intermission in the morning for recess and a long noon interval of almost two hours.

WALKS OUT OF WINDOW

Farmer While Intoxicated Falls Three Stories to the Street.

Milan, Mo., Sept. 24.—Paris Lewis, a farmer, aged 50 years, walked through a window in the third story of a hotel here at 5 o'clock Sunday morning and, falling to the street below, sustained injuries from which he died a few moments later. Lewis' skull was fractured, both arms were broken and he sustained internal injuries.

It is said that Lewis, who came to town Saturday afternoon, became intoxicated and was put to bed in the hotel by town officers about 1 a. m. He retired without undressing, and, it is supposed, arose in the morning and thinking the window a door, walked out.

Lewis lived near Green City, Mo., where a wife and six children survive him.

WERE JOYOUS NUPTIALS

WEDDING OF MISS JOSEPHINE KNIGHT TO MR. WAREHAM BALDWIN LAST NIGHT.

CEREMONY WAS VERY BEAUTIFUL

Reception at Residence of Bride's Parents Was Attended by Seventy Five Guests—Happy Couple Depart for Eastern Trip.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Many pretty weddings have been celebrated among Sedalia society folk in recent years, but few, if any of them, were of as much interest as that of Mr. Wareham Strong Baldwin and Miss Josephine Breaux Knight, celebrated at 8 o'clock last evening at the Broadway Presbyterian church.

Beautifully decorated in golden rod, intermingled with palms and ferns, the interior of the edifice presented an attractive and most pleasing effect. Added to this was the decorating of the special pews with yellow and blue ribbons, the colors of Ann Arbor university, the alma mater of the groom.

Preceding the ceremony a musical program of much sweetness and melody was rendered by a trio composed of Mesdames E. F. Yancey, Emmett Hurley and J. H. Rodes. Mr. L. M. Farris was the organist, and the numbers given were: "The Bridal Wreath," "Maytime," "Your Lips Have Said You Love Me," and "Last Night."

Messrs. John W. Byng, C. Poet Brown, David Thomson and G. L. Gold were the ushers, and after the guests had been seated, proceeded to the altar, Messrs. Brown and Thomson together, and with the bridesmaids, Misses Mildred Latimer and Besse Doyle, having Mr. Byng and Mr. Gold as escorts, the gentlemen attendants and the maids going by different aisles toward the altar. Mrs. Horace Knight, matron of honor, approached the altar, followed by the bride, who was escorted by her father, Mr. Harry White Knight. Attended by his best man, Mr. Harry Hawkins, the groom received the bride, and the ceremony embodying the Episcopal ritual, was read by the Rev. Dudley M. Clagett, pastor of the church.

The bride wore a beautiful creation of white satin, elaborately trimmed, lace being used which trimmed the bridal gown of her mother. The veil worn was made fast with pins, which were made of buttons used on her mother's wedding trousseau. Bride's roses were carried, being tied with white satin ribbon.

Mrs. Knight, matron of honor, carried a shower bouquet of golden rod, tied with blue ribbon, and the maids baskets of golden rod, decorated with ribbons in that color.

After the ceremony the bridal party were tendered a reception at the Knight residence, 709 West Fifth street, the guest list numbering seventy-five. Golden rod, ferns, palms, asters and orange trees prevailed as decorations on the lower floor, and the background, where the receiving party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Knight, jr., and Mrs. Lyman Baldwin, mother of the groom, welcomed the guests, was decorated with ferns, palms, asters and orange trees.

The ladies of the receiving line were all handsomely gowned, and during the evening Brandt's orchestra rendered an excellent musical program.

Under the direction of Mrs. H. W. Harris, ices, punch, cake and bon bons were served, and the guests upon leaving were each presented with a box of wedding cake tied with white ribbon.

The immediate bridal party were served with an elegant luncheon immediately after the departure of the reception guests, the table being decorated profusely in golden rod, smilax and yellow candles under yellow shades. The menu consisted at the supper of lobster cutlets, chicken salad, sandwiches, olives, coffee, yellow bon bons, salted almonds and other dainties.

The newly wedded couple departed last midnight for St. Louis and from there will go to Detroit, the former home of the groom, where a number of entertainments will be given in their honor. Before returning to Sedalia they will also make a visit in Cleveland, Ohio, as the guests of Miss Trask.

Mr. Baldwin and his bride are among the best known and most highly cultured young people in the city, and were the recipients of wedding presents from relatives and frieneds both at home and elsewhere, consisting of valuable silver, cut glass, hand paintings, china, and other articles of considerable worth.

On returning from their honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs Baldwin will reside in the D. T. Abell residence, on West Broadway.

A NEGRO WAS LYNCHED

THUNDER PEALS DROWN CRIES OF BLACK MAN AND MOB'S PISTOL SHOTS.

WOMAN'S ASSAULT WAS CHARGED

Business Men Lead Kuklux Klan Executioners Near Whistler, Alabama—Family Slept During Lynching.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 23.—Peals of thunder and the beating of rain drowning his screams, and the pistol shots of mob executioners, Mike Dossett, a one-legged negro, was lynched at the stroke of midnight within a few feet of his family, sleeping, unwarned, through the barbaric death ordeal, near Whistler, Ala.

The summary vengeance meted out by the mounted posse which quietly dragged Dossett from his bed followed a brutal attack on Mrs. Mary Beeder, aged 82.

Dossett pleaded for mercy, protesting his innocence as a rope was placed about his neck, as he was dragged from his doorway by a masked organization resembling the famous Kuklux Klan, officered by prominent business men.

His bullet-riddled body was dragged into the air within fifty feet of the spot where two negroes paid a like penalty for assault on women last September.

TOM LAWSON THREATENS

H. M. Whitney Warned to Withdraw From Gubernatorial Race.

Boston, Sept. 21.—Thomas W. Lawson has issued a letter addressed to the democrats of the state saying he will stump the state with stories of H. M. Whitney's business affairs if Mr. Whitney gets the democratic nomination for governor. Mr. Lawson calls upon Mr. Whitney to withdraw.

Returns from democratic caucuses in 100 towns and twenty-two cities from election of delegates to the state convention show that Mr. Whitney is leading his opponent, Gen. Charles H. Bartlett.

Henry M. Whitney is a brother of the late Secretary Whitney. He is one of the richest men in Massachusetts and came into national prominence in 1905 when he was accused by President Roosevelt of misrepresentation. The president said he was misquoted by Mr. Whitney and in reply to a letter from the latter asking for a second interview the president replied:

"You either haven't the ability to or will not understand my statements."

FAIR BOARD COMMITTEE

Met Monday Night and Disposed of Considerable Business.

The executive committee of the state fair board met Monday night, and, after going over the entries in the speed ring, decided that the different classes were complete in their entirety.

The committee found the gate arrangements in an imperfect condition, and numerous appointments were made, subject to revision between now and the meeting of the fair board October 3.

The subject of issuing complimentary tickets to residents of Sedalia and vicinity was taken up. The supply of free admissions over that of last year was diminished, and only those who are really entitled by reason of their occupations or business connection with the fair management, will get through the gates without paying for tickets.

A GIRL KNIFED A TRAMP

SHE IS THE DAUGHTER OF A SECTION MAN ON THE M., K. & T. RAILWAY.

IT OCCURRED IN WARREN COUNTY

Judging From Blood Upon the Ground Assailant Was Wounded—May Be a Lynching in Event He Is Captured.

Jefferson City, Sept. 23.—Miss Sophia Swoer, daughter of a section foreman on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway at Bernheimer, in Warren county, sixty-five miles east of Jefferson City, was assaulted at that place Friday night by a tramp. She is a young woman with both pluck and strength and while she was screaming loudly for help, managed to draw a knife from her pocket and slashed her assailant so severely that he was forced to seek safety in flight.

After drawing a revolver and firing one shot that flew wide of the mark at the girl, the tramp vanished in the woods. In the road where the struggle occurred were pools of blood, indicating the severity of the wounds inflicted by the knife in the hands of the girl.

The whole countryside was aroused in a short time, and all night the fields and woods in the vicinity were beaten by searching parties without effect.

The farmers and the few people of the little town were wrought up to a frenzy of excitement that would have resulted in a lynching had the miscreant been caught.

News of the assault was telegraphed to all points along the line of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, and a close watch is being kept. It is believed, however, that the fugitive was so badly hurt that he would not get far away.

Bernheimer is but a flag station on the road, but it is in the midst of a rich and thickly populated agricultural district.

The latest information from there is to the effect that the hunt for the tramp is being vigorously prosecuted by a large body of men and that it will go hard with him if caught.

MAY FREE QUAIL HUNTER

Efforts Being Made to Secure Liberty of Alleged Train Robber.

Springfield, Mo., Sept. 23.—Jack Kennedy, of Kansas City, the so-called "Quail Hunter," now serving a twenty-five year term in the state penitentiary for holding up a St. Louis and San Francisco train at Macomb, Mo., seven years ago, will soon be free if the efforts of his friends succeed.

J. T. Neville, circuit judge, State Senator F. M. McDavid and Dr. C. B. Elkins went to Jefferson City last night to appeal to the governor to pardon Kennedy. They will, it is stated, claim that Kennedy is innocent, according to new evidence that will be produced.

THE HARVESTER TRUST.

The harvester trust makes the bulk of the agricultural machinery of the country, practically all the harvesters. It has many factories in different parts of the country, having organized them under one company. The trust, however, fixes the prices on the output of every factory, and, it is charged, pursues the same tactics that are charged against the Standard Oil—undersold independent manufacturers and forced them out of business. It is also charged that in addition to absolutely choking off competition, the trust sells its products in foreign countries, after paying steamship charges, at lower prices than in the United States.

The legal machinery of the department of justice has been at work for months collecting information against the trust, and the information has been put in such shape and secured in such quantity as to warrant proceedings.

The government in its suit will attempt to prove that the International Harvester company controls at least 70 per cent of the output of reapers, mowers and other agricultural implements in the United States and that it is violating the Sherman anti-trust law.

That many farm implements have been sold in South America and even in Africa at less than the price paid by the home buyer at the factory door has been many times proven. Since the harvester combination was formed there is an almost complete lack of that brisk competition for American business which was at one time a notable feature of the implement trade. It is believed that the government should be easily able to prove that this trust is a flagrant offender against the laws.

SEDALIA DID WELL

In Entertaining Federation of Labor Delegates.

The citizens of Sedalia did themselves proud in the manner in which they entertained the delegates to the Federation of Labor convention, says the Hannibal Journal.

The meetings were held in the court house, which was nicely decorated in honor of the occasion. The social features of the meeting included a trolley ride to the Katy and Missouri Pacific shops and an inspection of the state fair grounds on Monday afternoon.

On Wednesfday evening a smoker was given, at which the Second Regiment band was in attendance and furnished music. It was one of the most enjoyable "sessions" of the convention.

IS JAILED FOR KISSING

Caresses School Girl and Draws a Thirty-Day Sentense.

Sac City, Iowa, Sept. 24.—Because he kissed and hugged an 11-year-old school girl, Ed Stratton, a boy of 18 years of age, is serving a sentence of thirty days in the county jail.

Stratton was driving from Lake View to Odebolt and on his way overtook a school girl. He asked her to ride and she did so. He began kissing her and she started to cry and begged to be let out of the buggy. It is said that he drove her past the school house.

Farmers hearing the cries of the girl, started in pursuit of the young man, caught him and took him to Wall Lake before County Attorney A. B. Barclay. The young man pleaded guilty and was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail in Sac City.

THOSE WHO RE-ENGAGED

A NEW RULE ON FOR CATHOLICS CONTEMPLATING MARRIAGE NOW.

IT IS OF DEEP INTEREST LOCALLY

Beginning Easter Sunday Church Will Require Two Witnesses to Contract for Future Weddings—Order From Pope Pius X.

After next Easter Roman Catholics will have to sign contracts when they engage to marry, says today's Kansas City Times. This is a part of the new matrimonial regulations that Pope Pius X has ordered enforced in America, as they have been in Catholic countries since the council of Trent in the sixteenth century.

At present Catholic churches "publish the bans" several Sundays before a wedding. This consists in an announcement from the pulpit by the priest that the persons are to be married on a certain day. The new marriage regulations require a young man and woman who are engaged to marry to sign a written agreement to that effect in the presence of two witnesses. Then the engagement is binding and is "published in church."

The young people must marry unless they can show the bishop of the diocese in which the agreement was signed a real reason why it should be broken. The bishop may then issue a dispensation and an agreement to break the engagement must be signed by both young people in the presence of two witnesses.

The age for marriage is fixed at 12 years for girls and 18 for boys. This will have little effect in the United States, however, as it was a provision made centuries ago for the benefit of Latin countries in the south of Europe.

"These laws regarding matrimony have been in force in the Catholic countries of Europe and Asia since their publication in the sixteenth century," said Rev. Anton Kuhls, of St. Mary's church, on the west side, last night. Father Kuhls has been studying the marriage regulations and will give a series of Sunday night lectures on them, beginning Oct. 6, in order that his parishioners may understand every detail.

"This country was an unknown wilderness when the council of Trent held its sessions," said Rev. Kuhls. "As the regulations were never published here they have never been enforced. Now the pope desires that the regulations be enforced in the new world and among all Catholics. Easter, 1908, is the date set for the regulations to go into effect."

Other priests said last night that they would also deliver lectures on the marriage regulations.

Girls Hanging Around Saloons.

The police complain of the large number of young girls of this city who recently have acquired the habit of frequenting the rear end of Main street saloons. To quote an officer, over ten girls, ranging in years from 14 to 18 years, can be seen every night hanging around saloons on Main street.

J. T. Albertson, painter, of 611 West Seventh street, Sedalia, Mo., says: "I had kidney trouble off and on for several years. I think there are very few painters who don't have kidney ailment more or less, on account of the fumes of turpentine and other materials used in paints and the positions assumed in reaching and climbing also affect the back and kidneys. There was an almost constant pain in my back and I often felt like lying down and not getting up again. The kidney secretions were too frequent and often painful. Sometimes while on the street I would stagger like a man intoxicated. Having read about Doan's Kidney Pills curing others I got a box of them at W. E. Bard Drug Co.'s store. I never before used a medicine that acted so promptly and effectively. I intend to keep Doan's Kidney Pills on hand all the time to have in case of need should there be a return of my old trouble."

TO UPHOLD 8-HOUR LAW

MISSOURI FEDERATION OF LABOR MAKES APPEAL TO THAT END.

COURT HITS THE NEW ACT A BLOW

Judge Bradley Holds Telegraphers' Measure Unconstitutional—Class Legislation Is the Ground for the Decision.

Jefferson City, Mo., Sept. 21.—Following the decision of Judge Bradley, at Harrisonville, in which he declared the telegraphers' eight-hour law unconstitutional, Edward McGarry, Charles W. Fear and Elmer Johnson, a committee from the State Federation of Labor, which has just closed a convention at Sedalia, called on Acting Governor McKinley Friday afternoon and urged him to take additional action to bring about an enforcement of the law.

Governor McKinley suggested to the men that in cases where the law is being violated the matter should be by them called to the attention of the prosecuting attorney, and if that official refuses or declines to act, the derelict officials' law should be applied to him.

The committee made no specific charges of the law's violation, but took the position that it was generally ignored.

The gentlemen remained over today to have a conference with Attorney General Hadley, who was not in the city yesterday, and will also call on Governor McKinley again, when some plan of action may be devised.

Organized Labor Stirred.

Harrisonville, Mo., Sept. 21.—The decision of Circuit Judge Bradley declaring the eight-hour telegraphers' law unconstitutional, on the ground that it is class legislation, has stirred organized labor throughout the state. A large number of similar cases have been filed in different parts of the state under the law as passed, and it is probable this decision will affect all of them.

The eight-hour telegraphers' law was passed at the last session of the general assembly. The charge is made that it is being generally ignored.

A. J. Alexander, superintendent of the Sedalia division of the Missouri Pacific, was arrested on the charge of having violated the law in permitting a telegraph operator at Pleasant Hill to work more than eight hours in a single day of twenty-four hours.

The case came up here Thursday and Alexander was aided in his fight by the railroad company. A motion was made to quash the information and discharge the defendant, on the ground that the law is unconstitutional and class legislation. Judge Bradley sustained the motion.

Judge Bradley's decision sustaining the motion to quash the information was based on the ground that the legislature in 1905 passed an act placing train dispatchers and operators, together with all other employes operating trains, in a special class, and that consequently the law of 1907 was unconstitutional, in as much as it singled out the train dispatchers and operators from the other train-operating employes. The new law neither repealed nor amended the act of 1905.

Miss Schumacher is under arrest on a charge of obtaining money on false pretenses.

A HUGHESVILLE SENSATION

Citizen Who Is Too Attentive to Other Men's Wives.

Hughesville, the usually quiet little village twelve miles up the Lexington branch road, is all excitement over the reported happenings in a home of the town some days since.

A well known business man dropped into his wife's room and found another well known man there in company with his better half. The intruder was led to the door, told to get out and never show his face on the premises again, under penalty of death.

What passed between husband and wife is unknown to the outer world, but it is supposed a reconciliation took place.

A few days thereafter the wife of another prominent citizen went to the depot and purchased a ticket to a distant city.

Shortly after this the same business man who was bounced from the other home dropped into the depot and purchased a ticket for the same point the lady did.

When the lady's husband discovered the incident of both parties buying tickets for the same point he gently took his wife by the arm and told her to go home and stay there, which she did.

BOGUS EARNINGS SHOWN

ILLINOIS CENTRAL'S FORMER PRESIDENT MAKES SERIOUS CHARGES.

THE HARRIMAN FIGHT IS TO GO ON

Appeal Made for Proxies to Defeat Union Pacific Interests—Annual Meeting to Be Held October 16.

New York, Sept. 24.—Stuyvesant Fish, former president of the Illinois Central, made public yesterday a circular addressed to the stockholders of the Illinois Central, in which he asks for proxies to be used at the annual stockholders' meeting, to be held in Chicago on Wednesday, October 16.

At this meeting four directors are to be chosen, three of them to succeed Messrs. John Jacob Astor, Stuyvesant Fish and E. H. Harriman, and one to fill a vacancy for a term of one year. Coming down to recent history, Mr. Fish says:

"The methods pursued by those of your board of directors who act in the interest of the Union Pacific, have been so high-handed as to become the subject of comment. At a recent meeting of the board I offered a resolution of inquiry into subject matters which should properly be disclosed to every shareholder.

"While in the act of reading my resolution, Mr. Peabody, representing Union Pacific interests, moved to adjourn, and J. T. Harahan, who was presiding, summarily closed the session. Later, through the power given by the by-laws, the minority, who truly represent the interests of the Illinois Central shareholders, called a special meeting, whereas I offered a resolution of inquiry into the evident padding of the accounts. Such inquiry was necessary.

"To all important duties so ably discharged by the late J. C. Welling, who for fifteen years, as vice president and director, had exercised a close supervision over the accounting department, had been, on his death in November last, delegated by J. T. Harahan to his own immediate assistant, to be performed as incidental to his other work.

"It appears from the annual report of the Illinois Central company for the year ending June 30, 1907, that there was an extraordinary increase in the net receipts of the corporation during the last four months, which increase is wholly inexplicable and obviously inconsistent with the facts upon any proper accounting, and clearly made for the purpose of producing a favorable but fictitious showing.

"The first third of the year showed an increase in net receipts of $666,070, then came the change in the presidency, and in the next third of the year the net receipts decreased by $572,786. Finally, in the last four months, they were suddenly increased by $1,253,889, of which increase 604,751 is reported as made in the single month of June.

"This palpable misstatement was further emphasized by the fact that, although neither the mileage nor the operating conditions had changed in the slightest degree, the succeeding month of July showing a falling off of $35,098 in net revenue, as against the reported gain of $604,098 in June. Yet my resolution of inquiry was referred for report to the president, the very officer who had brought the accounting directly under his own control, and, of course, it's whole purpose was defeated.

"Up to this time I have not asked for a single proxy, nor would I do so now were it not for the extraordinary efforts the present management are putting forth with the evident intention of electing E. H. Harriman and such persons as he may select, backed by the holdings of the Union Pacific company, which constitute a practical balance of power. It is for you to determine whether holding of about 30 per cent of the stock is to name the directors of the Illinois Central Railroad company without the consent and to the detriment of the remaining 70 per cent.

"Do you wish your property to be managed as heretofore in the interest of the whole body of stockholders, or to be dominated by the Union Pacific, which, if thus put in control for four years, will, in that time, cause such permanent traffic contracts and engagements to be made as will deprive the Illinois Central of the proper enlargement of its advantages and prevent it securing its legitimate revenue for all time to come?

"The repeated requests of large numbers of stockholders that I not only represent their holdings at the meetings, but also address the stockholders at large in advance thereof, is a sufficient excuse for this letter, as well as for the inclosure herewith of a form of proxy running to two of my colleagues on the board, Charles M. Beach and James Dew Cutting, and myself."

Third Time James Hennessy Has Disappeared, All Because He Disliked to Be Kissed and Caressed.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 21.—Prayers and supplications of 300 women were said yesterday to secure the return to his loving, sorrowing wife of James Hennessy, whose marital experiences have furnished much food for conversation and are peculiar, in that he has on three occasions fled home because his wife loved him too much.

The Hennessys came from Joplin, Mo.—that is, Mrs. Hennessy did—several months ago, searching for James, who, tired of unalloyed sweetness, had left her.

An advertisement finally rounded James up, but the joy of the wife led her to a display of love which proved too much for the prosaic James, who again disappeared.

Now Mrs. Hennessy announces that if he will only return she will be a better and less loving wife to him. She called in the neighbors and a chorus of 300 continuous prayers was the unusual outcome. She had also appealed to the police.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. (Continued From Page 1.)

Christ. His Gospel is as meaningly today as it was when He stood on the sandy beach by the sea of Galilee, beneath the towering mountains and said to His few disciples, 'All power is given to me in heaven and earth.'

"His commands to preach His word and make known His truths to the uttermost parts are as binding as they were nineteen centuries ago, and the mighty promises made then must be fulfilled as they have been fulfilled in every age.

"Christianity's lessons are as needful in this enlightened age as they were when pagan Rome was mighty mistress of the land and sea, as they were when the mighty hordes from the fastness of the forest bowed before the head of the church and accepted the civilization offered.

"The wholesome assistance to be imparted at the present time is to recall the principles which revived society in the days of infant Christianity and caused men to give up their passions and evil inclinations which were sanctioned by custom and public opinion."

The address was one that commanded the keenest attention of every person in the audience, and frequently during the talk the auditors were so entranced with the speaker that the noise of a falling pin could be heard in the auditorium.

Several hundred people heard the address, and at its close the most profuse compliments were showered on the reverend bishop who had entertained the audience so pleasantly.

IOWANS HAVE MAN HUNT

Suspected Murderer Proves to Be Wandering Veteran.

Omaha, Sept. 24.—With an organization of seventy-five farmers, directed by Deputy Sheriff Woolman and City Detective Callaghan, of Council Bluffs, and Sheriff Rock, of Harrison county, a man hunt was conducted all day Saturday in the vicinity of Beebetown, at the point where the bloodhounds lost the trail of the murderer of Detective Wilson, of Council Bluffs, two months ago. It was started on the belief that the man sought might be the murderer.

Since August 1 the Council Bluffs police department has been advised of the presence of a man in hiding in that vicinity, whose general description fitted that of the murderer.

The hunt resulted in the capture of the stranger, who proved to be an old soldier, giving the name of John Green, 60 years old, and was found to have wandered away from the soldiers' home at Marshalltown several months ago.

Green was taken to the Harrison county jail. The man was thoroughly wild and showed the cunning of a wild animal in hiding and evading detection.

EXPECT 150 AUTOMOBILES TO BE HERE SEDALIA DAY OF STATE FAIR.

A BIG PURSE IS THE ATTRACTION

Dr. A. H. Heaton, Who is Superintendent of Arrangements, Says There is Wide Interest in Coming Contest.

Dr. A. H. Heaton, who is superintendent of arrangements for the $1,000 10-mile automobile race to be run at the Missouri state fair on "Sedalia Day," Tuesday, October 8, is liable to have to engage an assistant to take care of his practice.

From every city and town throughout the country he is receiving requests for information and applications for entry blanks, all due to his having vigorously exploited the event through the automobile journals in the large cities.

Judging from assurances already received, he expects 150 machines to be here on that day, either as visitors or participants.

The weather permiting, the plan is to have all visiting machines make an "endurance run" to Sedalia on Monday, then on the next day—"Sedalia Day"—to parade the principal streets in procession and out to the fair grounds before the hour for starting the race.

So far in the history of this country it is doubtful whether so many automobiles were ever brought together—not even at the big speed tournaments—as will be here on that occasion, and the parade will be a sight worth seeing, likewise the race.

It will be more exciting than the Montana "cow girl" relay races of last year, which up to that time were considered the limit.

"BILLY" ROACH LOST

Kid McCoy Was Given Fight at Parsons on a Foul.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Parsons, Kas., Sept. 21.—"Billy" Roach, the Sedalia pugilist, lost last night's fight with "Kid" McCoy on a foul in the second round.

The first round was as pretty an exhibition of fighting as was ever pulled off in the ring, but McCoy, who had the longer reach, had the best of it. The Sedalia boy was clever, but his blows did not have the force behind them that did McCoy's.

In the middle of the first round McCoy knocked Roach down, but he was on his feet quickly and fought gamely until "time" was called.

In the second round the two men clinched and went to the ropes in McCoy's corner. In the wrestle that followed McCoy went down, and laid there five or six seconds, taking advantage of an opportunity to rest himself.

While down, Roach deliberately kicked McCoy on the left temple, the act being pronounced most brutal.

McCoy quickly arose and started after Roach, who jumped the ropes and did not return to the ring. The fight was then given to McCoy on a foul.

The general belief is that Roach realized that he had no chance against McCoy, so deliberately fouled him, preferring to lose on a foul to a knockout.

'TWAS NOT IN SEDALIA

Possibly it Was in Jefferson City Instead.

A young lady organist in Sedalia was anxious to make a good impression on a visiting clergyman one Sunday, says the Boonville Democrat. Her organ was pumped by a self-willed old sexton, who had his own ideas as to how long an organ voluntary should last, and so "shut off the wind" when he thought fit.

On this particular Sunday the organist thought she would forestall any such accident by writing an appeal in the early part of the service and giving it to the sexton. The old man received the note and supposed it was for the minister. In spite of her frantic beckonings, he went straight to the pulpit with the note, and the astonished preacher read this message:

"Oblige me this morning by blowing away till I give you the signal to stop."

Will Remove to Sedalia.

Attorney C. C. Kelly spent Saturday at Knobnoster in attendance at a sale held by his father, S. G. Kelly, in that city. The senior Mr. Kelly is preparing to remove to Sedalia to make his future home.

Suit to Recover Land.

Reece Haggard and Charles McLaughlin, through Attorney C. D. Corum, of Boonville, Saturday filed suit in the Pettis county circuit court against James H. Chambers to recover a certain tract of land in this county, alleged to be illegally retained by defendant, also for $250 for unlawful retaining of same and for $40 for rent.

Circuit Clerk Heard From.

Deputy Circuit Clerk Carpenter received a letter Friday from Circuit Clerk C. W. Daugherty, and wife, sent from Toronto, Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Daugherty are having a delightful time, and from Toronto go to Montreal.

DO NOT LIKE MR. BRYAN

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS HAVE A PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE AGAIN.

TAMMANY SAID TO BE BACK OF HIM

So is William Randolph Hearst, of the Hearst Newspapers, Who is Sore Because Mr. Bryan Supported Parker.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

New York, Sept. 21.—The announcement by the Hon. T. D. Sullivan, former congressman, and the political right arm of Charles F. Murphy, the leader of Tammany hall, that the democratic organization of the state of New York would be a unit in its support of Lieutenant-Governor Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler for the democratic nomination for the presidency, is the political sensation of the week.

This announcement, as may be imagined, was not made without due consideration of what it would mean to the country at large. In the first place it seems to dispose of the candidacy of Mr. Hearst. The newspaper editor has wearied of being a candidate and must have communicated that fact to Mr. Murphy, otherwise Tammany would never have taken the decided stand it has in this matter. Tammany supported Hearst for governor and stood ready to go behind him again but for Hearst's positive refusal to allow his name to be considered.

It is believed here that Mr. Hearst suggested to the democratic organization, through Mr. Murphy, that it get behind Governor Chanler. Evidently Mr. Hearst would rather help make a democratic candidate than be one. This attitude on the part of Mr. Hearst has puzzled the politicians, but those close to Mr. Hearst see in it a very clever hit at William J. Bryan.

It is generally known that when Bryan took the Parker end of the democratic fight in the last national convention he parted company with Hearst, political and social, for all time.

Even Bryan's friends had to admit that, after all Mr. Hearst and his papers did for the Commoner in 1896-1900, the least the Nebraskan could do was to stand neutral.

Mr. Hearst's friends go further and say Bryan should have supported Hearst—if it were the last act of his life. Mr. Hearst knows that in the Bryan political lexicon there is no such word as gratitude.

His notion in pushing Lieutenant-Governor Chanler to the front is not without a sense of grim Hearst humor. It will let democrats throughout the country know, without Mr. Hearst saying so, that he will have none of Bryan.

As all there was to Bryan in his two campaigns was Hearst, it will not require much mental exercise on the part of the next democratic national convention to figure out that Bryan with Hearst would be a doubtful proposition, and without him he would be worse than a "dead one."

This notion is beginning to gradually filter through the Bryan mind, and he has notified his friends here to stop pushing his candidacy. It has occurred to Mr. Bryan that a man who was twice beaten in a fight for the presidency would hardly cut a dignified figure before the public clamoring for a third nomination. This accounts for the sudden eclipse of the Bryan press bureau in the east.

Grocery Store Sold.

Rev. C. H. Ayers Saturday sold his grocery store, stock of goods and house adjoining the store, together with the land on which the building stands, to the R. C. Dolph Grocery company, the consideration being $8,000. Mr. Dolph will assume charge Tuesday.

HERMIT NEAR COLUMBIA

HE HAS WITHDRAWN FROM THE WORLD TO MAKE STUDY OF PARASITES.

E. E. TYLER IS A UNIVERSITY MAN

Bought Fourteen Acres of Land Near the Town—Improving His Home, and Will Erect a Handsome Residence Soon.

A hermit lives the simple life within the sound of the bell of Missouri University, says the Columbia Herald of the 20th.

E. E. Tyler, a graduate of three universities and a teacher in four states, has erected a rude home in the midst of the woods on the hills of Hinkson creek, just outside of Columbia. Away from the public highway and secluded from the world, this man of science has withdrawn from the vanities of man to study nature as Thoreau did at Walden. Here he is making an extensive study of the internal and external parasites of animals.

Mr. Tyler is a scholar. He graduated years ago at Kansas University with the degree of bachelor of science. Possessed with love of learning, he entered Nebraska University and completed the course in civil engineering that led to the degrees, bachelor and master of science. He then decided to pursue pure science further, and, accordingly, entered the University of Missouri. His devotion to study and his set manner of living at Missouri won for him the nickname of "Grandma." The students of only a few years back knew "Grandma" Tyler well. He took his master's degree here in 1902. Mr. Tyler did not pursue one continuous course while attending the various unversities. He was about 35 years old when he took his last degree. Between his university courses he taught in the public schools, and obtained for this use life certificates in Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and Illinois.

In his zoological work he became especially interested in the life and habits of parasites. The work of Cobbold, the great English scientist, fell into his hands about eleven years ago. To his amazement he found that no scientist had pursued this work exhaustively. He made investigations at odd times, until three years ago, he decided to study in earnest. To prevent the outside world from infringing on his time, he purchased 14.7 acres of land for about $200, in the heart of the woods, just south of town. He built what he pleased to call his shop on a high rocky hill. This shop is a box house, built of pine boards, with a flat tar-paper roof. It is 25 feet long and 10 feet wide and did not cost over $25, for he did all the work himself.

He has divided this house into two rooms. In one of them he placed a large case filled with books of science and of abstract reasoning. Beside it he has constructed some shelves for files of magazine clippings, hundreds of which he has arranged systematically. A large round oak stove that furnishes heat in the winter is in the center of the room. Its pipe runs straight up through the roof. The bed is a cheap one. He does not sleep on an Ostermoor or an air mattress. One table serves many purposes. His few dishes are on one corner of it. On it are his double compound microscope and his complete set of dissecting instruments. Some use is made of every cranny and nook. A jar containing a worm, a bottle of chemical compound or a piece of bread may be found most anywhere. But it is in this shop, den or cell, that E. E. Tyler each day adds something to the world's store of knowledge. He has already classified and described 300 parasites.

With all of his degrees, Mr. Tyler feels that he is still ignorant. He said: "I don't know anything. I wish I did. Life is so short and I have so much to do that I haven't the hopes of ever accomplishing much. I never expect to finish my work on parasites. It will have to be published after I am dead. Then it will contain only about the size of a school history of the United States. My field is one that a professor in a fine laboratory can not work upon with clean hands and talk a lot about. I have gone into specimens when I had to prepare a tub of water to jump into immediately after I had finished. I have visited the city holdovers and taken virmin from the inmates. I have gotten a number of dead dogs, cats, hogs, sheep, cows and horses for examination since I have been here. Some of them were in a bad shape, but I have done the work gladly. If I can only open up the way in the study of parasites I will be satisfied."

Mr. Tyler takes great pride in his little farm, and has an artist's eye for its improvement. He has carefully surveyed each hill and hollow and determined for what each portion is best suited. He has begun the building of a substantial roadway up to his house. The route winds around the hills in such a manner that he is able to secure a grade of one foot in ten, although the hills are rather precipitous. The roaad is being made by blasting the rock out of the hill and building a retaining wall on the lower side. To cross the branch, he has constructed a stone wall to keep back the water and will bridge the gulch later. He is trimming up the native forest trees so that his avenue will always be cool and shady.

Mr. Tyler, however, has to make a living while he pursues science. This he does by rasing chickens and vegetables. Thoroughbred White Rock chickens are his specialty and he has about 750 of them. They will eat out of his hand and fly upon his hand anywhere. His garden is filled with corn, tobacco, beans, squashes, asparagus, cabbages, turnips, celery, cucumbers and cantaloupes, all well cultivated and free from insects. He finds ready market for the surplus of garden and hennery at fancy prices among the professors of the the town.

Mr. Tyler takes no recreation and cares little for his personal appearance. The creek washes the foot of his hill, but he never has time for fishing. Once or twice a day he takes a swim when he goes to bring the water for his chickens. He does this when the water would be too cold for the average man. His clothes are of the meanest sort. His felt hat is old, greasy and full of holes. He wears a coarse shirt and overalls. He wears neither stockings nor underclothing. The rocks, however, make shoes a necessity with him. when the winter winds begin to blow he makes only such additions to his clothing as are absolutely necessary. Strangely enough, he shaves regularly. He buys distilled water to drink and then heats it when ready to drink. He has no use for ice. His food is simple, but the best. It is principally a vegetable diet. On it he works for months without a rest. His only physical ailment is weakness of the heart, but that is constitutional. He attributes his good health to abstinence from tobacco, wine and women.

Mr. Tyler is not only an engineer, he is also an architect. He has drawn plans for a ten room house that he expects to build on the summit of his highest hill. He will blast out the native stone to use in his basement, and then use the same in the erection of the walls. His purpose is to then finish it with hard wood, all make the house of rubble work and hand made trimmings. One room of his shop is filled with hard wood that he is preparing for this house, that will not be completed for years to come. From the veranda of this house this hermit will be able to look across Hinkson creek to the southwest and see the most picturesque scenery in this part of the state. It has a changing beauty with the changing seasons, but ever pretty. Just what a man with ascetic tastes wants with such a home can not be told. It may be that he wants to have a storeroom for a museum of zoological specimens that he is fast collecting.

While Mr. Tyler is living the life of a recluse, he is posted on the doings of the world. He claims to be independent in politics, and votes for his choice of men. Last election Roosevelt and Folk received his support. He says that Folk has disappointed him in some ways, but he thinks the governor has been the creature of circumstances whenever he has erred.

In religion, he is something of a Universalist. He believes all except those who curse God will go to heaven. A present his membership is in the Presbyterian church, but he is more of a Methodist. He says he goes to church to be entertained, and there likes a preacher who can tell him something. When asked why he didn't become a preacher, he said:

"I haven't patience enough, I am not deceitful enough. I would tell those who wanted to, to go to heaven and the others I would tell to go to hell and be damned."

He regards Sunday as any other day, and when visited recently by a former schoolmate, he was found hard at work painting his chicken coops with a vermin compound. He is 40 years old and has no idea of ever marrying. He said:

"No, I shall never marry. None of these women around here have any attraction for me. They are not 'butterflies,' for the butterfly is an interesting creature. I call them 'flutterflies.' I have been in love up to my ears," said he to the direct question, "I was assistant in a laboratory where a girl worked a microscope right along with me. She had some sense. But she died, and I have never been attracted to any woman since. If she had lived we would have been married long ago."

Mr. Tyler is a recluse, but he is not entirely unsocial. He likes to converse with men of science if they don't interfere with his work. Tyler himself never has time to make a callor to continue acquaintances. He places his work above everything else."

Letters Were Refused.

Probate Judge Kennedy Saturday refused letters of administration on the estate of William P. Wilson, of Green Ridge, owing to an insufficiency of property.

MISSOURI MELONS ARE BEST

But the Cantaloupe Season is Passing, a Dealer Says.

"The sweetest, most luscious cantaloupes grown in the United States this year are products of Missouri. They are larger than the Rocky Fords and sweeter. This is one time when Missouri melons beat the world."

A market dealer was talking this morning, says the Kansas City Star. He knocked the cover from a crate and held up one of the larger melons.

"The meat of this cantaloupe is yellow," he said. "The meat of all Rocky Ford melons is that color. The meat of the home grown melons is of a light green tint from the rind nearly to the center. The center is usually of a soft yellow color. This rule seldom varies and it is a very good way to distinguish melons. The home grown melons are rapidly passing. The best of them are already gone. Within another week the season will be over."

Kansas City merchants have lost money on the Colorado melons. It became known that the home grown were the best and the Rocky Fords found scant sale. Even when offered at $1.50 a crate the sale was light.

SWEET SPRINGS NEWS

HAPPENINGS IN THE CITY OF HEALTH DURING THE WEEK JUST PASSED.

HAD MANY SOCIAL FUNCTIONS

Edward T. Orear to Remove His Family to Kansas City—"Bob" Prigmore Back From Europe—A New Methodist Divine.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Sweet Springs, Mo., Sept. 21.—R. Sam Hays spent Thursday in Kansas City.

Mrs. J. E. Hocker went to St. Louis Monday morning for a two weeks' visit.

Miss Myrtle Smith, of Dunksburg, is spending the week with Kansas City friends.

H. A. Longan and wife, of Houstonia, were here Thursday, and purchased a handsome piano at Renken's.

Miss Elizabeth Goggin went to Kansas City Saturday morning to attend a house party.

Mrs. G. L. Daniel and son returned Saturday from a short visit with Sedalia friends.

Miss Odie Berry will spend next week with friends in Kansas City and Independence.

John Orear went to Lexington Wednesday, where he will enter upon his second year's work at Wentworth Military academy.

Mrs. J. T. Wilson is at home, after a delightful visit at her former home in Harrisonville.

Miss Lulu Stallings went to Sedalia Wednesday to attend the wedding of a friend.

Marvin Davis will go to Kansas City Monday, where Mrs. Davis is a guest of friends.

Mrs. Sam Davis and daughter went to Warrensburg Wednesday for a visit with Mrs. Davis' parents.

Mrs. Ella Smith is in Lincoln for a short visit with her sister, Mrs. J. H. Dooley.

Rev. S. H. Carter and wife returned Friday from a short visit at Blackwater, where they attended a Baptist reunion.

J. T. Lewis is in St. Louis this week buying goods for his mercantile establishment in this city.

Mesdames C. E. Ferguson and Chris Vogy came down from Kansas City to attend the Ferguson millinery opening last Saturday.

Miss Anna Davis spent last week with Blackburn friends, returning on Friday. She has charge of the music during the piano sale at Renken's.

Mrs. Ed Beatty returned Sunday night from Marshall, Mo., where she was called by the death of a relative.

Walter Stallings and wife returned Monday from a ten days' fishing excursion in Benton county.

Mrs. Hattie Parsons returned Sunday from Higginsville, where she visited the Misses Bulkley.

E. T. Orear came down from Kansas City Friday night and will make preparations to remove his family to Kansas City next week. There has never been a more popular family in Sweet Springs than this, and it is with genuine regret that their friends here learn of their decision to make Kansas City their home.

Advices from R. W. Prigmore and wife, who have been abroad, state that they sailed for home the 13th, and would soon pass through here on their return to their home in Seattle, Wash.

Rev. S. G. Welborn and wife will go to Lamonte Tuesday, where Rev. Welborn will have charge of the Methodist churches there and at Dresden. Rev. J. C. Digs will take up the work here immeditely.

A. B. Hoy and wife, of Marshall, are being congrautulated over the birth of a son Monday, Sept. 16. Mrs. Hoy will be remembered by a host of Sweet Springs friends as Miss Mattie Yantis.

Rev. Rodgers, of Lexington, pastor of the Baptist church in that city, will hold the regular church services on the fifth Sunday instead of the fourth, owing to the work he has incident to his connection with the Baptist college in Lexington.

The members of the Whist club were delightfully entertained by Mrs Ed Berry Friday afternoon at her pretty home in the Springs grounds. Progressive whist was the diversion, and at the close of the game Miss Birdie Elsner was found to have scored highest. Dainty refreshments were served, and the entertainment was in every way typical of the grace and charm of the hostess. A number of guests were present in addition to the regular club members, those from out of town being Mrs. T. A. Smith, Mrs. J. C. Longan and Miss Tracy Berry, of Houstonia, and Mrs. R. W. Burkhart, of Louisville, Ky.

COWS FROM GRASS TO HAY.

Prof. A. L. Haecker, Nebraska, Tells How Change Should Be Made.

Cows are generally taken off pasture some time during the late fall when a big storm is in progress and it becomes necessary to house them. This method, while very natural, is not to be recommended, as the chances are the barn will not be in condition to receive the animals, and such little matters as bedding, feed, stalls, etc., will hardly be in shape for this new condition.

The best method, in my experience, to change stock from pasture to winter feed without causing a shrinkage in the milk flow or a loss in body weight of the animal, is to make such change gradually. A week, at least, should be taken to shift the animal from grass to dry feed or from pasture to winter. Very often during the season of the year when cows are changed the pasture is rather short and sometimes tough and dry, though if fall rains have been plentiful the grass may be in fairly good condition, but somewhat frosty. The cows if allowed access to a rack well filled with hay will begin eating the hay, even while the pasture is good. They will in this way become accustomed to the change gradually and will not suffer as a result of the new ration.

One of the best foods to give immediately after removing from pasture is roots. Beets, turnips or mangles may be fed at this season to the very best advantage. Beets are, as a rule, in the best shape at this season of the year, and may be fed in large rations, as silage or hay would be. A beet ration to a cow on full milk can be made from 15 to 30 pounds daily from four to ten pounds of grain, according to the amount of milk the animal is producing, and its capacity.

When forage or hay is given, it should be to the best quality at this time of the year, for the animal must be tempted with rations of the most palatable kind. If there is some spoiled hay in stack or barn do not feed it at this time, for it will come in much better during the cold winter months, when the animal has naturally a good appetite and is well accustomed to dry food. Keep the cows out of doors as much as possible, that is, stable only when necessary. If the general custom is to stable nights, see to it that the windows and doors are left open, for the season is generally mild during the late fall and early winter and animals will suffer more from close confinement than too much ventilation. Remember that a cow requires as much fresh air as ten people. Then if you are stabling 20 cows in a barn, consider what 200 people could stand in the way of confinement. Tuberculosis would be unknown if this were duly considered and made allowance for.

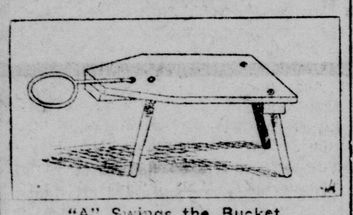

Several years ago we made a little test to ascertain the effect of stabling as compared with allowing the animal access to the open yard with sheds adjoining. The test was carried on during November, when the nights were cold and frosty. We found in this short test that in every instance where the cows were compelled to sleep in the barn in stalls they did not give as large a yield of milk as when allowed the open air. We were quite surprised about this for the nights were quite cold, though dry. The barn was well ventilated and the animals had plenty of good, dry bedding and were in clean stalls. Nevertheless, a stall is not as comfortable for an animal as the ground, providing it is not muddy or disagreeable.

We make it a practice, when changing from grass to dry feed, of allowing the cows as much liberty as possible in yards or paddocks about the barn; also to put them in the barn only when the weather is bad or at milking time, until they are well accustomed to the new condition. While cows are on pasture they naturally take considerable exercise. In grazing they walk many miles. The change from this condition to a narrow stall is naturally rather severe, and due consideration should be made in allowing the cow at this time as much freedom and open air as possible.—Orange Judd Farmer.

ANTI-SPILL MILK STOOL.

A Contrivance Which May Prove of Value to Some Milker.

"B" is made of lumber 1x10 inches and 16 inches long, with a piece of 2x4 for legs to go through nailed on the under side, the back piece going crossways and the front one lengthways.

"A" Swings the Bucket.

Bore holes for legs so they will stand well apart at the bottom. "A" is a bail for holding milk pail and is made from tooth of an old rake. It is bolted on just far enough away from stool so the pail will not strike when swinging either way. When cow goes to step, says the Missouri Valley Farmer, just swing pail out of the way and save the milk and your temper.

Milk Preservation.

The secret of milk preservation may be traced to two things. First, cleanliness; second, low temperature. If it is impossible to provide both, stay out of the milk and butter business.

MANY ENTRIES ARE MADE

IN THE HARNESS RACES AT THE STATE FAIR, FROM OCTOBER 5 TO 11.

OUGHT TO BREAK TRACK RECORDS

Different Classes and Purses Are Presented, Together Dith the Names of Horses and Owners in This Section.

Judging from the number of entries received in the different speed events for the Missouri state fair, which opens Saturday, October 5, the racing program this year will be the best that has been arranged in the past three years.

In previous years it has been the custom of the fair board to close all entries in the speed department as early in the season as July, and entries made at that time, often fifteen to twenty in each class, would by fair time bring out only two or three horses for each race, many of the horses either being disabled or taken off the circuit long before the state fair.

This year the entries closed September 18, and all the horses entered are now in racing form, and it is almost certain that they will be here, with but few exceptions.

Racing admirers in the city feel sure that some of the fastest and most closely contested races ever pulled off on the fair grounds track will be the result of the entries closing two weeks preceding the fair.

Many horses entered will come here direct from the interstate fair to be held in Kansas City.

Aside from the excellent racing program, the live stock exhibit will be the most extensive ever brought here, and an overflow in this department is looked for, as the entries have been coming in with such rapidity that it gives every assurance of the best showing ever made. Especially will the different breeds of cattle be extensively represented.

In the speed events in the different classes the following horses have entered from Sedalia and towns in this immediate vicinity:

2:25 trot, for a purse of $600—Luson, sorrel gelding, R. M. Burns, owner, Sedalia; Belbar, Lee Carpenter, owner, Sedalia. There are thirteen entries in this class.

2:30 pace, for a purse of $600—Jasper J., L. W. James, owner, Leeton; Lulu B., Monsees & Martin, owners, Smithton; Sis Hopkins, Larry Ginter, owner, Sedalia; Woodford B., S. P. Callison, owner, Windsor; Guy Mannering, Colvin & Butcher, owners, Sedalia. There are a total of eighteen entries in this class.

2:19 trot, for a purse of $1,000.—Tokomo, J. R. McAllister, owner, Sedalia; Miss Neta, Joe O'Rourke, owner, Columbia. A total of twenty-one horses are entered in this class.

2:10 pace, for a purse of $600.—Bobby Good, Bel Bliss, owner, Marshall; Looking On, Joe O'Rourke, owner, Columbia. There is a total of sixteen entries in this class.

2:20 pace, for a purse of $600.—Virginia, J. R. McAllister, owner, Sedalia; Hammett, A. M. Holmes, owner, Marshall; English Walnut, William Houx, owner, Pilot Grove. Fourteen is the total of entries in this class.

2:24 pace, for a purse of $1,000—Sis Hopkins, L. C. Ginter, owner, Sedalia; Guy Mannering, Colvin & Butcher, owners, Sedalia; Jasper J., L. W. James, owner, Leeton; Jim Holland, John Holland, owner, Sweet Springs. There is a total of twenty-three entries in this class.

2:16 trot, for a purse of $600.—Miss Neta, Joe O'Rourke, owner, Columbia. Sventeen entries have been made in this class.

2:24 trot, for a purse of $600—Shawnee Boy, Joe Porter, owner, Sweet Springs; Tokomo, J. R. McAllister, owner, Sedalia. A total of seventeen horses are entered in this class.

2:30 trot, for a purse of $1,000—Luzon, R. M. Burns, owner, Sedalia; Belbar, Lee Carpenter, owner, Sedalia. Fifteen entries have been made in this class.

2:16 pace, for a purse of $600—Virginia, J. R. McAllister, owner, Sedalia; Calhoun Girl, J. P. Callison, owner, Windsor; Sissy Walnut, T. R. Bradley, owner, Warrensburg. A total of twenty-two entries is made in this class.

Free for all pace, for a purse of $1,000—Napton Boy, James Houchin, owner, Jefferson City. In this class ten entries have been made.

Free for all trot, for a purse of $600—Eleven entries have been made in this class, all horses being owned by people living long distances from Sedalia.

The Knights of Columbus.

Cards announing the class initiation of Sedalia council No. 831, Knights of Columbus, to be held next Sunday, were issued by Financial Secretary Zoernig Sunday. An unusual large attendance is expected for the occasion.

Burial of Miss Dittmer.

Funeral services over the remains of Martha Dittmer, daughter of H. H. Dittmer, of Lake Creek, who died Saturday night, were held at the M. E. church at Lake Creek at 1:30 p. m. Sunday, interment being made there.

ROARK-WEEKS NUPTIALS

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE WILL BE MARRIED HERE THIS AFTERNOON.

THE REV. J. M. RUDY TO OFFICIATE

Miss Louise Meuschke Will Play the Wedding March—Bridal Couple to Go West to Spend Their Honeymoon.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

This afternoon at 2 o'clock at the First Christian church the marriage of Mr. C. L. Roark and Miss Maude Weeks will be celebrated, the Rev. J. M. Rudy to tie the nuptial knot.

Seventy-five invitations have been sent out for the event, and it is expected that nearly all of the invited guests will be present to witness the ceremony.

Miss Louise Meuschke will play the wedding march, and the church will be decorated in golden rod and autumn leaves, Mrs. Eugene Galbraith to be in charge of the decorating.

The bride-to-be will be gowned in her traveling tailored suit of brown, in harmony with the decorations. There will be no attendants.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal couple will leave the city, taking their departure on Missouri Pacific train No. 1 for a western trip. Their honeymoon will be spent in visiting relatives in Kansas and Colorado and after an absence of two weeks they will return to Sedalia to make their future home.

Miss Weeks is indeed a very popular and loveable young girl, a member of the Ladies' Musical club, and her number of admiring friends is only limited to those who have had the pleasure of meeting her. She is the daughter of Mr. Freemont Weeks, one of Sedalia's best known citizens.

Mr. Roark is a young man of sterling worth, industrious, reliable and stands high in the estimation not only of his employers, the Germo Manufacturing company, but with all he has had business relations with. He came to Sedalia three years ago from Eldon, Mo.

In anticipation of the happy event the Democrat-Sentinel extends congratulations.

DIPHTHERIA CAUSES ALARM

Young Boy Dies at Home in Lamonte From That Disease Saturday.

Considerable alarm has been caused in Lamonte during the past week by reason of a case of diphtheria in that city, and although a close quarantine has been kept on the place where the patient was being cared for, the attendance in the public schools was curtailed to a great extent.

Saturday afternoon the young boy afflicted with the disease, Clifford Shaw, 12-year-old son of Mrs. Richaard Shaw, died. Besides his mother, a young sister survive him.

The funeral arrangements were not perfected last night, but they will probably be held some time today.

WILL RUN SPECIAL TRAINS

For the Accommodation of Visitors to the State Fair.

The Missouri Pacific will run special trains on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, October 8, 9 and 10, from Jefferson City, Pleasant Hill, Warsaw and Lexington, and the agents at those and intermediate points have been notified.

The Katy will furnish special service from Moberly, Nevada, Columbia and on the High line, and all who wish to attend the fair will be furnished with ample transportation service.

MISSOURI DAY AT FAIR

GOVERNOR FOLK DELIVERED AN ADDRESS AT JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION.

THE WEATHER WAS PERFECT

The Feature of the Executive's Speech Was in Relation to the States and Federal Government—Takes Democratic View.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 21.—Today was Missouri day at the Jamestown fair. Governor Folk and his staff were present in the Missouri building, which attracted more than usual visitors. Governor Folk delivered an address in which he said, in part:

In the fight against the privilege of lawlessness there have arisen questions between the federal and state governments as to the construction of the powers of each. Under our form of government the states are sovereign as to all matters except those delegated to the general government. The federal government derives its authority wholly from the people of the states, and beyond this express grant of authority and that necessarily implied from it, it cannot justly go.

To deny the state the right to enforce their laws until they have been found to be good is to deny them to that extent the right of self-government. In the attempt to centralize greater power in the federal government, which has been given such an impetus of late, there is danger to our institutions and the ideas of government crystalized in the formation of the republic. It is now proposed that the federal government take charge of large corporations, especially railroads. When the constitution as being framed by our forefathers the proposition was made in the convention that the national government issue charters of corporations; but so jealous were they of the rights of the state that little attention was paid to the suggestion.

Railroads obtain their charters from the states; they are given the right of eminent domain by the states; they live by virtue of state laws. Yet they seem unwilling to trust the people of the state and create an unnecessary antagonism by their efforts to obtain all of the benefits of state laws that may confer privileges upon them, and refusing obedience to state laws regulating their conduct within the state. I believe that the people of the states may be safely depended upon to treat railroads and all other interests fairly.

The states create these corporations; shall they be denied control of their creatures? The regulation of interstate commerce must necessarily be by the federal government; but as to commerce within the states it is the right and duty of the states to regulate it.

The danger to the integrity of the states can best be checked by the states exercising their rights of self-government in the enactment of good laws, and enforcement of those laws.

"This is the greatest nation in the world, but it is no greater than the states that compose it. It is great because it is a nation of self-governing states. Let us keep it so for its decline will commence when the self-government of the states, the fountain of its strength, is taken away."

The weather today was ideal. Assembled in the large audience hall of the Auditorium, where the formal exercises were held, were several hundred men from all parts of the country, who remained over following the adjournment of the League of American Municipalities yesterday to hear Governor Folk's address. Henry T. Kent, of St. Louis, president of the Missouri Jamestown commission, presided. Addresses of welcome by President Tucker, of the exposition, and Lieutenant Governor Ellison, of Virginia, preceded the address of Governor Folk.

Governor Folk held a public reception at the close of his speech, and after an official luncheon reviewed a military parade.

Rist Was Discharged.

Owing to the fact that the testimony was conflicting, Charles Rist, charged with taking improper liberties with two little girls, was discharged in Justice Clark's court Monday afternoon, at the request of Prosecuting Attorney Dow, who desired to give the defendant the benefit of the doubt.

An Exchange of Property.

G. N. Boutell has exchanged his home property, 902 West Seventh street, for the Leo Bloess property, 516 West Third street.

BITTER ROT OF APPLES.

Suggestions as to How the Disease Can Be Controlled.

The control of bitter rot of apples receives attention in circular 112 lately issued from the Illinois experiment station and prepared by Prof. J. C. Blair. The author takes advantage of the opportunity to repeat the conclusions that have been reached at Urbana by the authorities. Here they are:

1. Bordeaux mixture properly made and applied will save over 90 per cent. of the fruit liable to attack by bitter rot.

2. Fruit sprayed in such a manner as to be thoroughly coated with Bordeaux mixture when the first infection of the disease appears will be injured least by bitter rot.

3. Spraying with Bordeaux mixture until the fruit is completely coated as soon as the first infection of bitter rot is discovered is of considerable value, but is much less effective than treatment mentioned in No. 2.

4. Spraying with Bordeaux mixture until the fruit is thoroughly coated after bitter rot has become well established may control the disease to a considerable extent in some seasons. In other seasons its effect as a remedy is very slight.

5. Bordeaux mixture applied in the liquid form and made up according to the 4—4—50 formula is the most effective spraying material for the control of apple bitter rot.

6. Dust spray is absolutely ineffective in preventing bitter rot.

7. Pure solutions of copper sulphate failed to chick the disease and caused injury to the foliage.

8. To coat the fruit thoroughly with the mixture it is necessary to make at least three applications of the spray material.

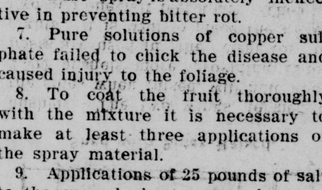

9. Applications of 25 pounds of salt to the ground about a tree have no value in checking the disease.

10. The conditions most favorable for the development of bitter rot are (1) a period of hot weather accompanied by frequent rains and heavy dews at a period when the apple crop is approaching maturity, i. e., from the second week in July to the end of August; (2) numerous sources of infection, i. e., cankers on the limbs and mummied fruits left hanging upon the trees.

CURING AND STORING ONIONS.

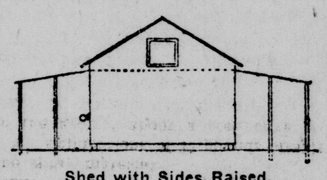

Care Must Be Taken to Prevent Spoiling of Crop.

Many an onion crop has been spoiled by improper curing. Old, experienced growers know how important it is to harvest, store and properly cure an onion crop. Of the various methods in use, one of the most satisfactory we know is to put the crop in a shed built for that purpose. The size of the shed will depend upon the extent of the crop. The accompanying sketches suggest a new idea shed.

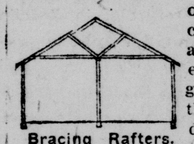

Onion Curing Shed.

The house is 22 feet wide and 36 feet long. It will hold about 2,500 bushels. The two wings, formed by the sides when raised, will hold about 2,500 bushels more, providing 12-foot posts are used in the clear for uprights. It is well to place the rafters two and one-half feet apart. They are made of 2x6-inch stuff, and are 14 feet long. The accompanying sketch explains how to brace the roof.

Shed with Sides Raised.

These sheds are very handy, especially for those who are using an onion topping machine, says Orange Judd Farmer. Often some growers place their toppers under the shed, and top during rainy weather. The shed also provides storage for farm machinery. Stringers, not less than eight inches high, should be placed on the ground lengthwise of the building, on which to set crates. This will allow plenty of fresh air to pass under the body of onions. This is very necessary when a large quantity is stored in one building.

Bracing Rafters.

For the Family.

Fruits and vegetables of all kinds should be raised on the farm for the happiness of the family. This should be an unnecessary suggestion for the American farmer, but it is still the truth that on many of our farms little fruit of any kind is to be found. The whole attention of the farmer is given up to crops that he looks upon as money bringing crops. But the crops of small fruits where raised are just as much money-bringing crops. They also help to keep the doctor from the door and save money in that way. The children especially should have all the fruit they can eat, especially at meal time, when the fruit goes to lighten up the general mass of food and assist in the digestion of all.

PLANS FOR POSTOFFICE

WERE RECEIVED FROM DEPARTMENT AT WASHINGTON SATURDAY.

THE BUILDING IS TO BE REMODELED

Suggestions of Postmaster Codding Were Acted Upon, and Structure Will Soon Be Improved and Enlarged.

Postmaster E. E. Codding Saturday received a copy of the plans for the entire rearrangement of the local postoffice, and as soon as satisfactory bids are received for the work the remodeling of the building will be begun.

The plans received are those prepared by Mr. Codding several weeks ago, when a government official of buildings was here, and, together with Mr. Codding, made an inspection of the building and then prepared for the rearrangement according to the postmaster's views.

The plans of the official, also Mr. Codding's plans, were forwarded to Washington, and Saturday the reply came that the latter's plans had been accepted.

According to specifications, the working room of the postoffice will be enlarged twenty-one feet square. The lobby, or corridor, which passes directly through the postoffice from the Lamine street entrance to the Second street entrance, separating the internal revenue office from the other part of the postoffice, will, under the new arrangement, encircle the postoffice.

The two entrances will be the same as at present. The stairway leading to the second floor will be rearranged, so as to make the entrance to the stairs on the west side of the interior of the building.

Under the new plans, the postmaster's office will be where the corridor in the north side of the building is now. A new door will be annexed to this room.

Adjacent to the postmaster's room will be the money order room and registered letters' room. To the west of these will be the stamp room and vault, in the direct northwest corner of the building.

The internal revenue room, now in the northwest corner of the building, will be established on the seoand floor.

The general delivery room, under the new plans, will be where the money order room is now situated.

The new plans also provide for an entire rearrangement of the basement and second floor of the postoffice.

On the latter floor will be the internal revenue office, railway mail service office and office of postoffice inspector and civil service examiner. In the basement will be the carriers' swing room.

The plans are carefully prepared, and show the skill of an expert architect, and when the work is completed the local postoffice will afford the best accomodations of any in this part of the state, thanks to the untiring efforts of Mr. Codding.

Bids for the work will be received by Postmaster Codding up to 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Oct. 5.

O. M. BARNETT WINS TROPHY

Final Match Played Saturday on the Links of the Country Club.

The final match in the golf tournament was played off Saturday afternoon by Messrs. James T. Montgomery and O. M. Barnett, on the links of the Country club. On account of Friday night's rain, the greens were a little slower than they had been, and not so favorable to good scores. A good sized gallery witnessed the match.

Mr. Barnett won the first hole and kept his lead until the tenth, when he took another. He won the thirteenth and sixteenth, making the match four up and two to play.

His victory entitles him to the C. H. Bard cup, and the title of local champion for the coming year.

Mr. Montgomery can, however, console himself with the reflection that he is the first person who ever "bogeyed" the course, that is played the nine holes in forty strokes. A good many good golfers have played upon the links, but never until last Thursday has such a record been made. The directorss of the club will probably vote a cup to Mr. Montgomery for this performance.

Won the Bankers' Medal.

At the competitive drill of the Sedalia Rifles Monday night the Bankers' gold medal was won by Sergeant Edward L. Hardin.
